TEAM CANADA SHAMES PENFIELD

MONTREAL (UPI) — In a letter published today by a Montreal newspaper, noted Montreal neurosurgeon Dr. Wilder Penfield said he was so "shamed" by the behavior of Team Canada in Moscow last week he had cancelled a trip to the Soviet Union.

Dr. Penfield was to have attended the Soviet Academy of Science's jubilee session in November, but said he would be "embarrassed" to do so now.

After praising the fast skating and teamwork of Team Canada and Paul Henderson's winning goal in the dying moments of the third period, Dr. Penfield continued:

PENFIELD

"But I was saddened and shamed by the behavior of our team on the ice in the first and last games, when the players were defeated and when they won. Some of them were childish, unsportsmanlike and unmannerly. They have done a good deal of harm to the image of Canada throughout the world."

CANADIANS PAY—AMERICANS CONTROL

Lewis Blasts North Pipeline

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed natural gas pipeline from Canada's North would cost Canadian taxpayers more than $1 billion but leave the project in control of a United States-dominated consortium of 16 companies, David Lewis, national New Democratic Party leader, said Monday night.

Mr. Lewis said he was opening the second phase of his campaign for the Oct. 30 federal election by concentrating on foreign control of the economy. Previously he dealt with Canada's tax system.

Mr. Lewis, speaking at a nomination meeting, said the Mackenzie River pipeline project, to bring natural gas from Canada's North, is a "mammoth plan to exploit Canada's resources on a scale that boggles the mind."

"It involves our economic and political independence, the ecology of our fragile North and Canada's entire future," he said.

Mr. Lewis said the pipeline project is made up of the Gas Arctic-Northwest Project Study Group, which consists almost entirely of leading oil and gas businessmen and financiers.

He said the chairman of the group is Vernon L. Horte, who is president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., a company that he said had net earnings of $368 million between 1966 and 1971 and did not pay any income taxes.

START DATE 1975

Mr. Lewis said he has documents in his possession from the project group and government officers which show a proposed construction starting time for the pipeline of 1975.

Donald Macdonald, federal energy minister, said today it is not inevitable the pipeline would be under foreign financial control.

He promised the government would set up a study group that would establish guidelines assuring Canadian control over half the equity in the project.

He said Mr. Lewis was being "gloomy" over Canadian ability to obtain financial control of the project.

The NDP leader, on a three-day visit to Toronto, said the project is so huge that "even mobilizing the entire capacity of the North American money markets would not provide the necessary capital."

He predicted the Canadian government soon will be asked to find more than $1 billion for the consortium, which he said is made up of 16 corporations, 12 of which are American-controlled.

"And since the Canadian companies are like pygmies compared to these giants, the project will be almost completely in the hands of American multi-national corporations," Mr. Lewis said.

"In addition to giving control of our precious natural gas reserves to outside interests, we now are preparing to build the pipeline so it can be pumped out of the country," he said.

Mr. Lewis said any claims that the project will create jobs is "hogwash." He said there would be several thousand jobs during the four or five years of construction, but then only 400 people will run the whole operation.

"Even worse, most of the pipe will be manufactured in Japan and once again Canadians will be deprived of jobs and the benefits of their own resources," he said.

He demanded that negotiations to build the pipeline be stopped immediately, suggesting Canada does not need it now and there should be five to 10 years spent studying the implications of the project.

As a partial solution to foreign control of the economy, Mr. Lewis said Canada must end direct grants to foreign corporations and introduce an effective screening agency to end foreign take-overs.

Danes Join ECM

Times News Services

COPENHAGEN — The Danish people voted nearly two to one Monday to join the European Economic Community — the Common Market — and set off a boom on the Copenhagen stock market. But Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag coupled a victory speech in parliament with his resignation.

The favorable vote came just a week after neighboring Norwegians voted to stay out of the market.

The move by Krag was a surprise. He said his minority Social Democratic government would remain in power and that his resignation as prime minister was "a personal decision."

Authorities followed up the decision early today by lowering the bank discount rate to seven from eight per cent to provide easier credit and stimulate industrial activity in anticipation of market entry in January.

The rate had been boosted eight per cent on June 28 to ease speculative pressure on the Danish kroner after the British pound was floated.

Final results of the referendum were announced even as youthful opponents of market membership roamed the streets of Copenhagen, burned Danish flags on the steps of parliament and hurled rocks and bottles through the windows.

Hordes of chanting young people displayed their chagrin through the night. Described by police as disappointed leftists, they shouted commands in a mock German, pretend-

Dock Emergency 'Is Lack of Jobs'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Longshoremen demonstrated outside the British Columbia maritime employers association hiring hall Monday and said the only national emergency on the Vancouver waterfront is a lack of jobs.

"The only reason Trudeau ordered us back to work was to pick up a few votes on the Prairies," a demonstrator said. "Go in and look at the board yourself. It will tell you how much an emergency there is."

The hiring board read: "Grain. 5 p.m. Nil."

Longshoremen say this has been the case for most of the past month, ever since they were legislated back to work by Parliament, which was re-called by Prime Minister Trudeau after the dock workers went on strike in August.

They say there is no work for casual workers and only a day or two a week for union members who are being hired at the hall.

UIC Deficit Tops $500M: Mackasey

Times News Services

MONTREAL — Bryce Mackasey, federal manpower minister, said Monday the Unemployment Insurance Commission's defict stands at about $544 million but he intends to defend the government's handling of the program to the hilt in the election campaign.

"I'm going to defend it because I think it is a tragedy to have it become part of the election campaign," he said in an interview.

He called the deficit a "drop in the bucket" from national revenues and attributed it to increased benefits now being offered by the UIC.

He also released a report from the Unemployment Insurance Commission which showed steps are being taken to tighten the checks on illegitimate claims.

There were 742,000 claims disallowed in the 12 months ended July this year compared with 392,000 in the previous 12 months.

The number of claims rose to nearly 1.98 million from under 1.93 million in the earlier period.

The commission is also adding 80 more claims investigators to bring its investigation staff to 307 by mid-November.

Mackasey criticized people who stress abuses of the insurance scheme. These people "create awful consequences," he said.

The people who get unemployment insurance have a right to it, because they have worked and contributed to it.

This isn't a welfare plan. It's insurance against loss of income by being out of work."

The number who abuse the plan is minute, the minister said.

The minister said he has put a "bit of a ban" on officials of his department talking about the issue "because reporters won't take an objective look at the whole question of unemployment insurance."

He said he did not know the amount of deficit to "the exact dollar" but offered a file headed "costs to date" which indicated the plan paid out $1,164 million for the first seven months this year — $544 million more than the same period last year.

In another interview, Mackasey said the government will announce Wednesday a year-round, $80-million local initiative program and he hinted it will place greater emphasis on taking people off unemployment insurance.

The $100-million LIP plan was first introduced last winter to combat high seasonal unemployment. It expired in May but was prolonged until September 30 with another $30 million.

PUBLIC CABLE TV PLANNED IN SASK.

REGINA (CP) — The provincial government will install a cable television system to be operated as a public utility through Sask Tel, Government Services Minister John Brockelbank said today.

While details of its operation still are to be worked out, the system will take advantage of facilities owned by Sask. Tel, the provincially-owned tele-communications system.

Initially, the service will be provided in Regina and Saskatoon and should be operative in a "couple of years," Mr. Brockelband said.

The reason for the province's entry into the cable television field, he said, is to ensure the service is not confined only to larger centres.

"Privately owned cable operators would have taken excessive profits in Regina and Saskatoon and would not have extended cable television services or systems to the smaller centres."

The system will cost "millions of dollars" but an exact figure won't be known until possibly the end of this year.

"Cabling has been going on in Regina for the last while in anticipation of a cable television system," Mr. Brockelbank said.

"It should be completed in two years but actual programming could start before that."

Mr. Brockelbank said he sees no reason why the CRTC would refuse a licence if the applicants meet regulations, because the CRTC "has indicated in the past it is in favor of this sort of service run by non-profit groups."

NEWS BRIEFS

Meany Restrained

DENVER (AP) — A federal judge has issued a preliminary injunction preventing AFL-CIO President George Meany from taking over control of the Colorado Labor Council. The injunction was sought by CLC President Herrick Roth when Meany announced he was suspending the charter of the state organization and its officers for refusing to withdraw its endorsement of Senator George McGovern in the 1972 presidential race.

Fighting Stops

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hostilities between North and South Yemen came to an end today when the latter's forces withdrew from a border town they had captured, a North Yemen military spokesman said.

Red Plane Crashes

MOSCOW (Reuter) — A Soviet Ilyushin-18 airliner has crashed on an internal flight from Sochi to Moscow, killing everyone on board.

TOURISTS SKIRMISH

VANDERHOOF (CP) — Canadians and American tourists clashed on the main street of this town early Saturday, apparently after some Canadians taunted the Americans.

RCMP in the town 60 miles west of Prince George said 40 to 50 persons were involved in the clash.

Police moved in before there was serious injury or damage.

One Vanderhoof man was taken to hospital with leg injuries and several others received minor cuts and bruises. Police are preparing charges in the incident, the first of its kind here where many Americans own land.

Police said the clash developed after two groups came out of a cabaret at 2:30 a.m.

Nixon Gov't 'Corrupt'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator George McGovern is escalating allegations of White House corruption, saying government scandals of the past were "child's play compared to what's going on in this administration."

The Democratic presidential nominee evidently has decided to make that a major theme in what he said will be an all-out campaign against President Nixon during the five weeks until election day, Nov. 7.

McGovern asserted that, while the president talks of law and order, "I submit the permissiveness toward a breakdown of high moral standards in this country begins right with Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew."

McGovern, pressed that as his issue Monday in Washington, Lyndhurst, N.J., and at a $500-a-plate fund-raising dinner at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"The Nixon administration is the most morally bankrupt administration in the entire history of our country," he told the fund-raising-dinner crowd estimated at more than 1,000 Monday night. He also said it is the worst administration.

"At no time in the history of our land has corruption been so deep, so pervasive as it is today. . . .

"The influence of big money is corrupting the integrity of government on a scale never seen before."

The chief components of McGovern's corruption charges are those he has been raising for weeks—the justice department settlement of the International Telephone and Telegraph anti-trust case; "This smelly wheat deal" with the Soviet Union, and campaign contributions to Nixon from anonymous donors, which the Democratic candidate said may total $20 million.

BORDER DEAL 'RUBBISH'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Official sources today described as "rubbish" a newspaper report abroad that the Soviet Union and China had reached a border settlement.

According to the report in a weekly London newspaper, the Sino-Soviet border negotiations which have been deadlocked at Peking for about three years are to be concluded shortly with a far-reaching agreement.

Barrett Reveals $70M Surplus

Premier Barrett revealed Monday that his government will have a cash surplus of about $70 million at the end of the 1972-73 fiscal year.

The surplus, which doesn't include the $25 million the government intends to spend on increased benefits to old age pensioners, is the result of a 12 per cent increase in revenues over last year and will exist despite the fact that the Social Credit government overspent its estimates by $65 million.

In estimating $25 million as the cost for implementing the increased benefits to the elderly, Barrett said he is counting on getting the first cheques out by December.

He added that about 100,000 will have their incomes increased to $200 a month, a promise made by the NDP during the election campaign.

Barrett said overspending by the Social Credit government in the amount of about $65 million must be deducted from this increased revenue, about $35 million of it by the department of highways alone.

The premier said the Social Credit government was "notorious" for spending large amounts of money on highways during an election year.

"This is commonly known in the political profession as yellow fever on the highways," he said. "They get out every truck and every bulldozer and every black-topper they can.

"They put paving on top of paving."

Bryson named other areas of overspending as: Hospital insurance — about $6 million; attorney-general's department — $1 or $2 million; rehabilitation department — as much as $15 million; elderly citizens' renters grants, not figured into the 1972-73 budget — $2.5 million; advances to various harbors boards — $1.5 million; and special warrants for other overexpenditures — about $5 million.

Barrett, who had Bryson answering reporters' questions over a conference telephone in his office, said the NDP government "will not make a run on the treasury" to spend the $70 million surplus.

"We are going to be prudent, as I said during the election campaign. We are going to meet the most pressing priorities as we go along."

Revenue is expected to be in the area of $1.61 billion and

Coal Power Cleaner Than Nuclear: Prof

"Nuclear technology is still developing — let the United States make the mistakes first. Coal power can last another 100 years."

Prof. Earl Cook, Texas A and M University dean of geography and geology and guest lecturer in a University of Victoria energy crisis forum, said in an interview today that he favored a cautious approach to nuclear power generation.

But when B.C. does build a nuclear power plant, this province is ideally suited to locating one underground, Cook said.

"Even if we develop an efficient breeder (a plant which makes maximum use of uranium resources) there are still chronic waste hazards to be dealt with," Cook said.

Meanwhile, the technology of burning coal cleanly and efficiently to generate power, or of transforming the coal into gas or liquid form ("synthetic fuel") is "coming along real fast," said the Bellingham-born mining engineer.

"I would make a guess that electricity in the U.S. next century will be about half nuclear-generated and half coal-based."

Innovations in coal technology such as unit trains, power generation at source, conversion into synthetics, slurry pipelines and cryogenic undergound electricity pipelines carrying electricity at low temperatures with high efficiency, all make coal a viable fuel, he said.

Main problem with nuclear power generation, apart from the fact that an efficient breeder which can reduce generation costs has yet to be developed, is the straggering hazards involved in waste treatment, and in the absence of current treatment technology, of "perpetual surveillance".

Huge amounts of highly radioactive liquids wastes have been stored underground in the U.S. for 20 years and will have to stay there for a further 600 years unless revolutionary new methods of de-activation are discovered, Cook said.

"In addition, I would wonder about the economy scale for a nuclear power plant here," Cook commented.

He said a rush into nuclear power generation occurred as a result of energetic government sponsorship in the U.S. following the Second World War. "Unfortunately both the sponsorship and public protective roles were given to one body (the Atomic Energy Commission) and — they're only human — the sponsorship role always seemed to win out.

"Today nuclear power neither looks as cheap or as safe as it was first dreamt to be," he said.

"When and if there is a decision to build a nuclear power plant in B.C. you are ideally located for building one underground. I don't believe one more above-ground nuclear plant should be built. Six to 8 per cent can cover the extra cost,'" he said.

. . . LEWIS

"If we permit foreign control of Canada's resources to go on, we will soon find a country that cannot shape its own destiny," he said.

Lewis was under attack Monday from Finance Minister John Turner and also W. O. Twaits, chairman of Imperial Oil Ltd.

Turner accused Lewis of "sloganeering" in his campaign against "corporate welfare bums."

"I don't like slick phrases," Turner said at a nomination meeting which chose Russell Honey as Liberal candidate for Northumberland-Durham.

He said that tax incentives and grants to corporations, which Lewis has criticized, are designed to help the expansion of the economy which creates more jobs.

"The basic purpose is not corporate welfare, but human welfare," said Turner.

Twaits, without specifically mentioning Lewis, has sent a letter to employees accusing him of publicly besmirching the company's good name.

Twaits wrote that he could not "let pass statements that imply, quite strongly, that we are tax evaders and are not paying a fair share of government revenues."

The letter said. Imperial paid 58 per cent of net income before taxes to the government in 1971, "a long, long way from the figure of 19 per cent which, in the current debate, has been quoted as Imperial's tax rate'."

Meteorologist Sues on Rain

MONTREAL (CP) — A suit claiming $95 million has been filed against the United States government by a Montreal meteorologist who claims a cloudseeding device he invented is being used to produce rain over the Ho Chi Minh trail in Vietnam.

Bernard Power, president of the Weather Engineering Corp. of Canada Ltd. and the Weather Engineering Corp. of America, said in an interview today the suit was filed Sept. 8 in the U.S. court of claims in Washington, D.C.

The suit centres on alleged use of a rain-making device called Weathercord which Mr. Power invented about 10 years ago and patented in Canada, the U.S. and 25 other countries.

The device is an exploding three-pound canister containing silver iodide crystals which is dropped into clouds from an aircraft to produce rain.

Mr. Power said he has patents on all methods and apparatus which employ explosives dropped from aircraft to seed clouds. He estimates $95-million worth of the canisters, priced at about $50 each, have been used by American forces to extend monsoon rains over the Ho Chi Minh trail.

"I felt it was something they should know about. It could shorten the war and save lives on both sides.

"We showed a model of the apparatus to a White House and showed them the rest of the information we had gathered on the cloud-seeding method.

"What they have done since, we don't know. They didn't say anything."

Mr. Power said the U.S. government had the right to use his patent.

"Any government has the right to use a patent with or without permission but eventually they have to compensate you. That's why we've gone to court."

. . . ELECTION

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Trudeau assailed the Conservatives as the party pledged to "the politics of fear" during a one-day touch-and-takeoff tour Monday of New Brunswick and Newfoundland.

The opposition party, he said, is made up of "gloomsters . . . gloomy people who don't believe in the future of the country." That party promoted fear about the number of French-speaking Canadians, fear about unemployment and welfare programs, fear about drugs and "fear about a prime minister who's a Communist and who knows what else," because he makes diplomatic and trade advances with Russia and China.

During the early-morning open line show at radio station CJON in St. John's, Trudeau said there is "a serious distinction" between his party and the Conservatives.

THE DIFFERENCE

"Liberal means confidence and freedom and liberty of the individual. Conservative means let's go slowly, let's be careful, let's be conservative."

The current campaign for the Oct. 30 federal election is a good example of the difference, he said. "On one side you have a party that is exploiting the fear of the people . . . on the other hand a party that says look, obvioulsy nothing is perfect, but you have to have confidence."

Progressive Conservative Party Leader Robert Stanfield did no active campaigning Monday but fired off a press release in Ottawa saying he was shocked to learn of discussions between the Canadian and West German governments concerning West German-designed ships to move iron ore from Baffin Island to Europe.

He said a Conservative government would give Canadian shipyards and shipping engineers first crack at developing ice-breaking freighters needed to transport raw materials from the Canadian North.

Social Credit Leader Real Caouette was in western Quebec where he said that Social Credit economic policies were the answer to what ails the country.

STRATEGY

Key Liberal organizers from across Canada have been summoned to a closed-door strategy meeting in Ottawa today by Robert Andras, Liberal campaign chairman for English Canada, to assess the party's campaign at the half-way mark.

The campaign so far has been flat, according to most political observers and the strategists want to figure out some way to give it a much-needed lift.

The special group reported on the impact — or lack of it — of Trudeau's efforts during his tour in the first phase of the campaign. Decisions were to be made on how best to improve the vote appeal for the second and final phases leading up to polling day on Oct. 30.

NATIONAL SCANDAL

And in Manitoba, former Liberal cabinet minister Paul Hellyer said Monday the handling of the Unemployment Insurance Commission by the Trudeau government has become a national scandal.

Hellyer told a Progressive Conservative Party fund-raising dinner in Selkirk constituency the laws and regulations controlling the administration of unemployment insurance are so "generous" that they are very easy to abuse.

. . . SURPLUS

expenditures — counting in the $65 million overexpenditure by the Socreds and the estimated $25 million for increased pension benefits — are expected to total $1.54 billion.

The premier maintained that the figuring of the budgetary surplus is "a very conservative extimate . . . non-political conservative."

And he took the opportunity to flay the former government for having that much money and never spending it on the people who needed it most.

"This money is there and the fact that the previous government didn't spend it is proof enough of why it should have been thrown out of office," he said.

"Can anybody in this province tell me why the old age pensioners have had to suffer all these months just so the previous administration could build up a surplus?

"So he could play tiddelywinks with the figures and say how smart he was.

"It was the old shell game and we intend to end that.

Those people are going to get the kind of money they need to buy the food they deserve."

Barrett said the necessary measures will be brought before the house in the special session due to start Oct. 17.

"I hope they have their first cheques by Christmas," he said.

Barrett also said married couples will get the equivalent of $200 per month each, not a lesser amount as was the case under the Social Credit government.

Other uses for some of the surplus money, he said, will include increased allowable spending for school boards. Such increases will not figure as much in the 1972-73 financial picture as they will in the 1973-74 situation, he said.

ing that Denmark in the Common Market was headed for a second Nazi occupation.

Anonymous bomb threats were received by the prime minister's office and radio and television stations but no bombs were found.

In a policy speech today opening the fall session of the Folketing (parliament), Krag urged Danes to seize the opportunities offered by EEC membership to restore Denmark's ailing economy.

The prime minister also pledged his government will make Denmark the first non-Communist nation to introduce "economic democracy" by law.

"The wage-earner, too, must have his share of capital growth," he said outlining a system which would give employees a voice in management and a share of ownership as well as profit.

The Social Democratic government earlier supported a plan worked out by the labor unions which calls for the workers' share of profits to go into special, union-controlled investment funds rather than directly into workers' pockets.

The outcome means Denmark, Britain and Ireland next January will become full-fledged members of EEC in the first major expansion since the six-national trading bloc was formed in 1957. France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg are the original six.

the weather

A Pacific cold front pushed southeastward out of the province overnight and the rapidly building ridge of high pressure behind the system produced clearing skies over the province but strong gusty northwest winds along the coast. Temperatures will be on the cool side today and Wednesday but as the high pressure area broadens across the province the strong winds will abate. The next Pacific disturbance will spread cloud to the northern B.C. coast late Wednesday afternoon with rain in the evening.

Government Gave Gaglardi Three Cars, Says Levi

Former Social Credit rehabilitation minister Phil Gaglardi had three government vehicles at his disposal — one each in Victoria, Vancouver and Kamloops.

The disclosure was made Monday by Rehabilitation Minister Norman Levi, who said he "looked at the files" and found it out.

Asked what he thought of it, Levi said: "I think it's horrible. I think it's a total misuse of public funds. A cabinet minister doesn't need three cars."

Gaglardi, contacted later in Vancouver, denied the cars were for his exclusive personal use.

"They were never for my exclusive use at any time," he said. "They were not alloted to me as minister."

He said the Levi accusation was an attempt to draw attention away from his (Gaglardi's) success as rehabilitation minister.

BCTF to Seek Closed Shop

The B.C. Teachers Federation plans to ask the provincial government to once again make membership in the BCTF compulsory for every school teacher in the province.

BCTF President Adam Robertson said today the group intends to present the request to Education Minister Eileen Dailly, but no date has yet been set for a meeting with the minister to discuss the matter.

Asked about it today, Dailly said she has not yet received any such request from the BCTF but that she would be "interested" to hear about it from Robertson. The minister said she will not comment on it until that time.

Robertson said the request grew out of a meeting last week of the BCTF's representative assembly, a body composed of local teachers' spokesmen from around the province.

Membership in the BCTF has been compulsory for many years, up until 1971, when the Social Credit government introduced amendments to the public schools act doing away with the compulsory membership requirement. Since that time, membership has been around the 95 per cent level.

Robertson said the BCTF wants compulsory membership for two reasons: So that the teachers can police their own members in terms of professional conduct; and so the body will have income security and will know how much money and how many members it will have each year.

Robertson said the BCTF executive will be meeting soon to discuss their priorities and he thinks the issue of compulsory membership will end up "high on the list".

On another subject, the education minister said today she is not sure how many school districts in the province will be requiring immediate aid, as she has promised they will get.

Dailly said three school boards have come to her to talk about their problems after she sent her first letter to all school boards.

She had since sent a second letter out, asking that any school boards which require emergency assistance write her and specify their problems.

New Courtroom To Ease Crush

A new courtroom may soon ease the crush of cases in the criminal court section of Victoria provincial court.

Planned for early 1973, the courtroom will do away with the current need to remand cases sometimes as long as 10 weeks.

Judge William Ostler said more than a year ago an extra courtroom was needed to ease the backlog of cases in the criminal and trafic sections of the court.

The city engineer's department is studying tenders for alterations and additions to the court building at 633 Fisgard.

Low bidder for the job was H. E. Fowler and Sons Ltd. at $71,952. Others were Dalziel Construction Ltd. at $72,464; Dura Construction Ltd. $75,760; W. Campbell Ltd. at $77,246; and K. C. Johnson Construction Ltd., $79,159.

The bids were opened last week at a city council meeting but a decision is not expected before the end of the month.

The bids will be sent to the public works committee Oct. 17 with a recommendation from the engineer, and the committee's decision will go to council Oct. 26 unless a special meeting is called earlier.

B.C. GROWING FASTEST

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's population July 1 has been estimated at 21,854,000, up 1.2 per cent from July 1 last year, Statistics Canada reported Monday.

The bureau said British Columbia had the fastest growth rate in the year, up 2.9 per cent. Saskatchewan was the only province to show a decline in population.

Population estimates for July 1, 1972, followed by 1971 figures: Newfoundland 533,000, 523,000; Prince Edward Island 113,000, 112,000; Nova Scotia 795,000, 790,000; New Brunswick 643,000, 635,000; Quebec 6,060,000, 6,032,000; Ontario 7,838,000, 7,717,000; Manitoba 992,000, 989,000; Saskatchewan 917,000, 927,000; Alberta 1,656,000, 1,629,000; British Columbia 2,252,000, 2,188,000; Yukon 19,000, 18,000; Northwest Territories, 36,000, 35,000

Campbell River District Still 'In Dispute'

BCTF president Adam Robertson said today he has not heard of any motion asking the BCTF executive to rescind its decision to place the Campbell River district "in dispute".

Robertson said there have been some protests from teachers in the province, but no formal motion has yet been received from any local association or individual.

Robertson said there is an executive meeting scheduled for Oct. 14 and 15 and that the matter will likely be discussed at that time.

The decision by the executive to place the Campbell River district "in dispute" — that is, to keep any BCTF member from filling any teaching position in the district at the risk of losing his BCTF membership — was a "split decision" and was made after 12 hours of debate, Robertson said.

First Blasts Of Winter

Winter woollens made an early appearance in Victoria last month as the city suffered its coldest September since 1933.

The month's minimum temperature of 37.8 was the lowest since 1911 and three new low maximum temperature records were set on Sept. 22, 25 and 28.

It was generally cooler, wetter, duller and windier than normal with the season's first ground frost occurring on the 27th.

Winds of gale force strength were registered on the 20th at 38 m.p.h. with the peak gusts up to 53 m.p.h.

Grit Taxes 'Flop'

Victoria NDP candidate Flemming Hansen told an open house Monday night the Liberal government's tax system has been a failure when judged by any of the four basic principles of taxation.

Speaking to a crowd of 75 at NDP's Blanshard Street headquarters, Hansen said the four criteria of taxation are one's ability to pay, all types of income being taxed the same, redistribution of income and a means of providing public goods.

Tax- exemption ceilings, he said, remain considerably lower than the poverty levels established by the Economic Council of Canada, thus ensuring that people below the poverty line still pay taxes.

It is the wage and salary earner who pay the maximum, he added, while an investor in corporate equities pays the minimum.

U.S. Takes Asians

Washington (WP) — The United States will speed up entry procedures and admit 1,000 stateless Ugandan Asians, the state department announced Monday.

Fewer Firms Opening

The rate of companies registering to do business in British Columbia cooled off during September, the first reading on business reaction to the Aug. 30 election victory of the New Democratic Party in B.C.

During September 51 companies regisered to do business in B.C., down from 68 during August.

In 1971 the rate held almost constant in the two months with 42 companies registering in August and 40 in September.

There were 693 new British Columbia companies incorporated during September, also down from the 748 incorporated in the province during August.

In 1971 the rate of new incorporations increased from 639 in August to 670 in September.

Incorporation of provincial companies and registration of companies from outside the province are considered to be major indicators of provincial economic growth.

The over-all trend during September was a higher rate of growth than in 1971 but not as strong an increase as had been experienced during August.

There were 34 new societies formed in British Columbia during September compared with 32 last September but down from 47 in August.

A total of 131 new partnerships were formed in the province during September compared with 135 last September and down from 188 in August.

The major indicator to watch during October and November could be the registration of companies from outside the province. The fall is usually a busy time for companies incorporated in eastern Canada or outside the country to seek permission to do business here.

British Columbia so far has been unusually active in terms of business growth, trailing only Ontario and Quebec in the numbers of new business started up or attracted from elsewhere each month.

In many months, more new companies have started up in British Columbia than in all three prairie provinces combined.

One area of significant growth during September in British Columbia was co-operatives, with seven new ones formed during the month, compared with two last September.

Figures for incorporations and registrations are tabulated at the office of the registrar of companies.

Seagram's Ups Price

A minor increase in the price of a single brand of liquor was announced today by William Bruce, chairman of the liquor control board.

Bruce said Seagram's has raised the price for a 25-ounce bottle between 10 and 15 cents, varying with the quality of the liquor.

Bruce gave no reason for the increase and said it is the only change in listed prices for liquor in B.C.

The Figures Tell the Story

One of the most effective answers so far offered to the accusations of Mr. Stanfield and Mr. Lewis that the federal government has not tried hard to counteract unemployment was offered by Finance Minister John Turner in a recent Ontario speech. Mr. Turner, like all the government members, admits that unemployment in Canada is high, particularly in certain areas where the current economic imbalance has been most evident. But it is one thing for an opposition to charge that a situation exists; it is quite another to extend that charge to the point of laying blame.

When an opposition member blames the government for a situation, the implication is that the member's party could have done better if it had been in power. Neither Mr. Stanfield nor Mr. Lewis has shown in any clear way how he would have coped with the Canadian unemployment problem to ensure any better results or avoid worse conditions. When pressed, they seek protection in generalities and principles, and overlook the fact that Canada is only one of a number of countries that have suffered from unusually high unemployment and inflation rates.

For platform purposes, they also overlook the fact that the Canadian experience has been much better than that of many of its colleague nations. The government has not solved these problems, but it has initiated programs that have helped to some extent to ease the effects of unemployment, and they have been more generous programs than many found elsewhere.

Mr. Turner raised the startling fact that in the six-year period from 1965 to 1970, Canada had 1,440,000 persons added to the labor market. These were men and women looking for jobs — an addition of more than 20 per cent. This total was 100,000 more than the total of people added to the labor forces of all the 15 major industrial nations of Europe — Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Sweden were among them. Yet the combined population of those 15 countries is 13.5 times that of Canada.

This was a staggering addition of people looking for work, yet the comparison with Europe was not noticed until Mr. Turner gave it some publicity. To meet the situation, Canada created 1,300,000 new jobs during the six-year period — this was 400,000 more than all the new jobs found by the 15 countries of Europe. A country that can do that is basically sound, even if not all the job-seekers can be accommodated as they appear.

As Mr. Turner put it: "Employment in Canada increased 57 per cent faster than in the United States, twice as fast as in Japan, 7.5 times as fast as in Germany and 27 times as fast as in those 15 European nations taken together."

Even at that rate, of course, it was not enough. The Canadian economy could not absorb workers as quickly as they appeared on the market. But the comparison is pertinent. And just how Mr. Stanfield or Mr. Lewis would have raised the record total even higher has not yet been made clear.

". . . but I don't have to sell pencils . . . I'm selling you . . ."

PAUL WHITELAW

An Uphill Road for Marchand

QUEBEC — Jean Marchand is facing a tough, uphill fight for re-election in the working-class Quebec City riding of Langelier.

The controversial minister of regional economic expansion is waging his third electoral campaign in this district, which he has represented in the Commons since 1965, but his re-election is far from a certainty.

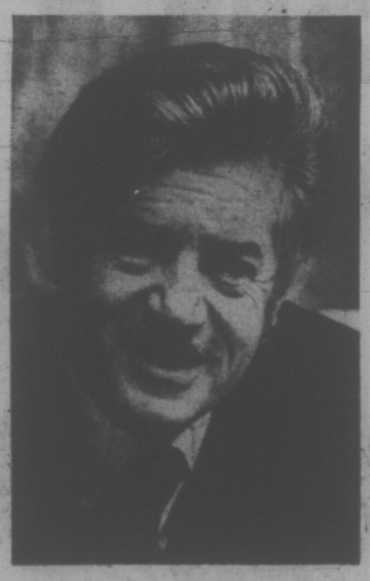
In both 1965, when the constituency was known as Quebec-West, and in 1968, the total number of votes for the Conservative and Social Credit candidates exceeded the number of ballots cast for Mr. Marchand. This time around, the Conservatives have nominated an unknown municipal employee to contest the riding, and it's being read in some quarters as an attempt not to split the opposition vote — thereby helping to defeat Mr. Marchand.

Political Unknown

Conservative organizers in Langelier deny that they picked a lame-duck candidate. They say Albert Lemoine is a popular man in the riding — although few people seemed to have heard of him before last month. He was chosen over such aspirants as a city councillor in the Civic Progress Party of Quebec City, Mayor Gilles Lamontagne.

The Social Credit candidate is Wilfrid Dufresne, a former Conservative MP from 1953 to 1957. His nomination last month was also unexpected. Mr. Dufresne, whose candidacy was supported by provincial Creditiste leader Armand Bois, was chosen over Guy Jean, who polled 8,770 votes as the Creditiste candidate in Langelier four years ago. Mr. Jean, a well-known and popular man in the riding, had been supported by Camil Samson, the former provincial Creditiste leader who was deposed earlier this year by Mr. Bois.

With a virtually unknown Conservative candidate in the running, Socred Wilfrid Dufresne may be able to corner enough opposition votes to unseat Mr. Marchand.



JEAN MARCHAND
. . . uphill fight

However, the showing of all three parties in 1968 was certainly close enough to make any betting on the outcome this year highly risky. Mr. Marchand obtained 11,439 votes, while Socred Guy Jean polled 8,770, and a Conservative candidate drew 8,150. The total Socred and Conservative vote in Langelier was 5,481 greater than the number of ballots cast for the Liberal's star cabinet minister in Quebec.

In 1965 the total opposition vote was 14,496. while Mr. Marchand received 10,669 votes. The vote for the Creditiste candidate that year was 9,820.

Working against Mr. Marchand in the current campaign is high unemployment in the riding, such issues as the rising cost of living, and the fact that his duties as a senior cabinet minister allow him to spend little time in his constituency.

Financial Sweeteners

However, Mr. Marchand may be able to overcome these disadvantages — thanks largely to all the federal money he has channelled into his riding and the entire Quebec City area. Raymond Tuiverge, Mr. Marchand's campaign manager, points out that the minister has been responsible for new development of the Port of Quebec, a major restoration program for the city's historic buildings, grants to local industries, and numerous other examples of public spending.

At his nominating convention last month, Mr. Marchand also stressed the importance of having a strong French-Canadian team in Ottawa with Prime Minister Trudeau. He pointed out that Quebecers have found the secret of power in the federal capital and are using it effectively for the benefit of the province.

There was speculation earlier this year that Mr. Marchand might give up Langelier riding for a safer seat. Many Liberals thought their party's most prominent and controversial Quebec cabinet minister should not run the risk of a humiliating, personal defeat. But he decided to stay — even though the wisdom of that decision won't be certain until the votes are counted Oct. 30.

A Constituency of Convenience

Kelowna Capital News

Surely the South Okanagan has served as a constituency of convenience long enough.

The people of this riding have provided the province of British Columbia with a premier for two decades, not without considerable sacrifice in terms of forfeited direct representation for which our compensation was reflected glory of questionable value.

Now, our MLA has announced — or so we learn from a Vancouver news report — that he'll be stepping down as Opposition Leader and as the member for South Okanagan and he would like to see former attorney-general Leslie Peterson take over the seat and the leadership.

And Mr. Derril Warren, who reneged on a pre-election promise to step down as Conservative leader if he failed to win personal election, has indicated he'd just love to do battle for South Okanagan in the legislature, now that a convenient byelection is in the offing.

It's a jolly good thing Liberal leader David Anderson was successful in winning personal election or we'd probably face television spectacles showing him scraping his toes along Hot Sands Beach and putting off hordes of Okanagan kiddies shouting "Uncle David, Uncle David" as he laments the lot of the old duffers.

We don't presume to voice the thoughts of the South Okanagan electorate at large but, in our own view, this potential parachuting of political poohbahs from Vancouver sticks in our craw more than somewhat.

Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, as premier and as an MLA for this area for close to 30 years, managed to poll just 50 per cent of the vote here Aug. 30 when no one suspected that Social Credit was to be so thoroughly devastated. This means South Okanagan will be an attainable target for any candidate in the coming byelection and we'd hate to see a candidate win who would simply be using us as a constituency of convenience.

South Okanagan deserves vigorous representation after years in which there was little direct contact with its member, other than at annual garden teas. As we stated in our post-election editorial, any one of the three candidates who opposed Mr. Bennett in the recent campaign would have made a creditable MLA. Barring any genuine personal reasons, we cannot see why Conservative Jim Doak, New Democrat Frank Snowsell or Liberal Roger Tait should not receive their respective party's nod in the byelection. They earned it, taking on the province's toughest politician.

And if Social Credit is so bankrupt in this area that it cannot produce a local candidate of substance and stature, then it deserves to fade into political obscurity.

We were surprised at Mr. Bennett's announcement he will not return to the legislature. As we stated here three weeks ago, we anticipated that being a man of considerable pride, he would face his victors in the legislature and help rally the devastated ranks of Socred members in the opposition benches. As well as surprised, we are disappointed that he did not make the announcement in the consitiuency which has so consistently supported him in his political endeavors.

So be it. Let us now make the most of the opportunity by electing a member who will provide South Okanagan with vigorous, responsible representation, regardless of his political stripe, and, above all, a member who will be accessible and responsive.

To those who would continue our role as a constituency of convenience. we say: "Thanks, but no thanks,"

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Democracy

Re the youth who blended their blood upon the battlefields of Europe during two world wars, "for the preservation of what they believed, and honestly hoped would come — i.e., that the great democratic privilege would become universal." Dr. Preston Bradley once claimed that these soldiers sometimes seem to speak to his heart and say in substance: "What have you done with the democracy for which we died?"

What have we done with it? Have we cherished this precious gem which, as the wise of ancient Greece discovered, is the nearest to being perfect of any governmental system? No!

Those in favor of socialism apparently think their country owes them a livelihood, forgetting that "it's not what our country does for us that counts, but what we do for our country." They would have governments hand out benefits (as they are already doing in the United States, England and Canada) to the extent that the healthful incentive to save up for the higher-education fees of their children and for their old age, etc., is lost.

Communism is an idea with which people are supposedly so inspired that their first consideration is the state; a system wherein the proletariat rules and the intelligentsia is oppressed; a system which permits only one candidate to run for election.

Governments, movements come and go. But when all's said and done, true democracy — namely a democracy whose government, desiring votes, does not promise staggering sums of money (so-called social securities) to voters already pampered, and whose citizens do not debase it by strikes, belligerent demonstrations, a disregard for law and order, a mistaking of liberty for license — is definitely the best manner of living.

It must be. Why? Because it is through this manner that individuals strive to better themselves, that self-expression and free enterprise can have full sway, that persons have real equality — which is the equality of opportunity to make the most of one's talents — and liberty. How far we have drifted away from true democracy! Farewell, dear Democracy. — Democrat.

Jobs

Your reprint of the Globe and Mail editorial: Soft Landing for Losers, was like rubbing salt in a raw wound. Politicians, by and large, in my book are just members of the human race in whom the inherent aggressiveness of homo sapiens has acquired a more subtle form.

Mr. Trudeau makes a big deal out of the fact that Canadians have become much more selective in the type of jobs they are willing to accept, to the point where some jobs just are not getting done. Now if a senior citizen takes one of these jobs that no one else will do, either because it is dirty, or just part time, or for any other reason, and has the misfortune to make over $1,500 per year, he will find that his Canada pension plan payments will cease.

As the poet says, "Ah consistency, thou art a jewel." — W. E. Bennett, 2915 Colquitz Ave.

Unethical

It is indeed tragic that Victoria General Hospital is planning to permit unborn children to be killed in its hospital starting October 13. To justify their action the hospital makes a most sophisticated remark, that they are being ethical in permitting abortions to be carried out in the premises. It would be a good idea if persons who misuse the word "ethical" would look that word up in the dictionary.

To kill a defenseless unborn child is a most unethical act. The law permitting this violates the Canadian Bill of Rights, and, I am informed by several pro-life groups in Canada, this tragic law is soon to be tested in the highest courts in this land in the light of the Bill of Rights which grants to everyone the right to life, among other things.

Tre Canadian Bill of Rights must not be violated or disregarded by any other law, Of all the 7,000 abortions carried out in B.C. last year, not one of the unborn children, if allowed to be born, would have caused the death of its mother or affected her in any way. This shows that the law as it now is, is a complete farce; i.e., abortion is not done to improve the health of the woman at all, but to fill the pockets of greedy doctors and to drag human life into the area of economics.

It took a terrible blood bath to prove to Hitler he was wrong when he instituted abortions in Germany in 1927. Are we to copy him in Canada, until we, too, are forced to learn his lesson?— P. Henry.

'Diplomacy'

Your article "Panama Bucks Yanquis," by Valerie Ferguson mentions "the ten-mile strip of the Canal Zone handed to the United States by a treaty of doubtful validity in 1902 . . . ."

At the time that treaty was signed the Republic of Panama had just been created under the auspices of the United States. Teddy Roosevelt, who was then president of the U.S., was dealing with the Colombian Government in Bogota, as at the time Panama was a province of the Republic of Colombia. However, as he could not come to terms with the Colombian Government a revolution was fostered in Panama and when Panama declared its independence Colombian troops were dispatched by Bogota to put down the rebellion.

Ten-Mile Strip

The United States had already recognized the new government of Panama and the U.S. Navy refused to allow Colombian troops to land in Panama. Of course, Mr. Roosevelt obtained the terms he wanted from the new republic. Consequently the treaty is truly of doubtful validity.

I lived in Colombia and so I know something of how the Colombians feel about this page in their history.—M. P. B. Wrixon, 1680 Poplar Ave.

Study Group

Sooner or later the jet-setters at City Hall had to find an excuse to be off to Europe again, expenses no doubt partially paid for by the public.

Judging from the Mayor's comments, the whole trip is the result of an off-the-cuff suggestion.

Perhaps there is a reasonable explanation to this question, but why go to Europe to study "bold, modern planning?" Doesn't any city in Canada have such a thing? And is it really necessary for twenty-five people to go on this little junket?

It could be that someone in City Hall has been sitting on his brains and came up with perfect hindsight (so to speak).

Who knows — the next targets for "study" will be the bold modern planning by the Sydney Opera House in Sydney, Australia. or the buildings and streets of the city of Brasilia, Brazil! — Austin Peckham, No. 3-314 Cook St. Otter Point Road.

Machine Talk

I can surely sympathize with all the fuss about unemployment insurance as I have had much trouble with my own lately. I have grown tired of explaining to the staff down there so I'm going right to the top.

Computer No. 789670, Honeywell,
PO Box 2100 Vancouver
(Unemployment Insurance Commission.)
Dear No. 789670:

We have corresponded so much lately that I feel we are more than just acquaintances. May I call you commy, or perhaps Honey, if you are female, that is to say.

Now I have been down to the local office here about that $35 you owe me but can get very little action from people. They seem so cold and emotionless, unable to handle abstract ideas.

I realize the problem and delay are caused by the questions on the form with a simple yes or no.

That one in particular: "If you are not claiming a dependant explain why."

Would a simple NO not suffice? Obviously I have no dependant.

I really do not know how much detail you wish concerning this state of affairs and merely assumed that you would be pleased and heartened by the fact that my allowance is therefore very low, as I have no dependant.

Is it your wish that I obtain one, so that the form might be properly utilized in each space?

I admire, in that case, your sense of design and balance, perhaps that is why I feel closer to you than those strange people at your office. But you must realize this may take as much as nine months, and one never knows — I may have a job by then.

Please don't take this as personal criticism. With so many out of work, your load must be heavy. I notice your punch-out cards seem a little grey and wan lately, and the cheques, too. Some merchants will not even cash them. Perhaps it is the long drawn-out, four-day journey they make from Vancouver to Victoria.

Is it a secret or can you tell me what route they go? Does the mail really all go to Ottawa first to be personally examined by a battery of people?

Forgive the joke, please, the unemployed have so much time to think, which leads to delusions.

And I know you are only mechanical. Sincerely, 713-071-371. — John Gaul, 1276 Rudlin Rd.

Hot Seat

Why does any person, especially local neighbors, think they can buy a widow's home where she is living? Real estate salesmen — local and U.S. speculators — offer less than half of the market price, often suggesting that widows can move into an apartment. Some offer rooms in their own homes, a chance to make more profit for themselves. I sincerely hope there is a specially hot seat below for all smart-alecs. Even a 20-year guarantee on work done is useless. — Mrs. A. Kelsey, 224 Superior St.

60 YEARS AGO

From the Times of October 3, 1912:

Now that the shipment of grain to the United Kingdom has started there will be a steady stream of windhammers arriving at Puget Sound and Columbia river ports. Portland will send out more grain than any other port on the coast and an average of one sailer a day is expected to arrive there. A little news of windjammers that have just arrived and are due at Portland in the next few days has been received here.

Joey Finds Paradise in China

By JOHN BURNS
The Globe and Mail

PEKING — He barrels across the hotel lobby, pumps you arm as though you were his long-lost friend and announces in tones of utter certainty that he has just returned from paradise.

Paradise? "Why certainly, that's what I said," says Joey Smallwood, Mao badge glinting on his shirtfront. "I swear it was the very Garden of Eden."

A stranger's first thought is that this must be another panegyric to Mr. Smallwood's beloved Newfoundland — but no, Joey hasn't set foot in his native province for months, having been on the road almost continuously since he turned over the government of Newfoundland nearly a year ago.

Where, then, is paradise? Along the banks of the Yangtze River outside the city of Nanking, that's where, and Joey considers the day that he has just spent there — on the Tungching people's commune — as the highlight so far of his two-week journey through China. It is a trip he has been planning for at least five years, since President Richard Nixon first suggested it to him on their return together from a jaunt to Moscow, and it is evident from the moment he starts talking that it has been one of the superlative experiences of his life.

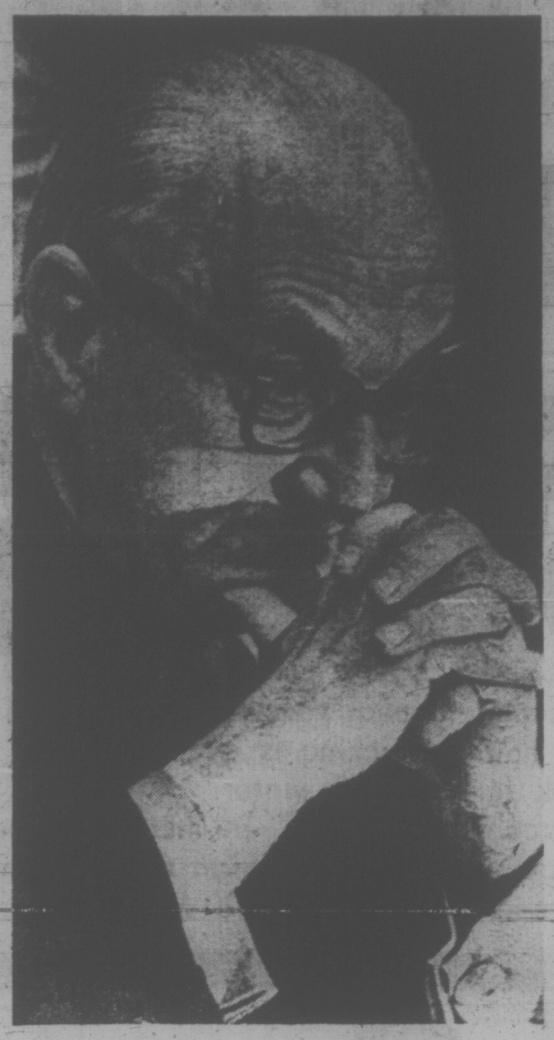
"By God, this country's fantastic, utterly fantastic," he says, whipping out a little black notebook and riffling through its pages for particulars of some of the more miraculous things he has seen and heard.

The words are spoken with the same evangelistic fervor that was Mr. Smallwood's political hallmark in Canada, but as the evening wears on it becomes apparent that behind them lies a quite unevangelical appreciation of Chinese communism and the kind of society it is building.

Pacing back and forth across my living room, gesturing grandly as he used to on the stump in the small villages of Newfoundland, the 71-year-old dynamo discourses enthusiastically about the life that communism has fashioned for the hundreds of millions of people who work in the factories and on the communes.

"I've seen the future, and it works," he says, quoting Lincoln Steffen's remark about life under Communism in the Soviet Union. "Quite frankly" — this an observation of his own — "I am more certain than ever now that capitalism as we know it hasn't a chance in hell of surviving."

Not, he hastens to add, that his experience here has made him a candidate for membership in the Canadian Communist party — "I don't want this done in Canada, and I don't think it can be done in Canada, but I want it done in India and I think it probably will be done in India and probably all over southeast Asia."



SMALLWOOD
. . . 'capitalism hasn't a chance'

Are these not uncharacteristic comments from an embodiment of the individualist ethic? Not so, says Mr. Smallwood, who claims to have embraced socialism at the age of 12, "when I hardly knew how to spell the word."

If the former premier sublimated his socialist leanings somewhat during the years of his stewardship in Newfoundland, they have burst forth again in Smallwood the tourist as he has moved through a busy schedule of visits in Canton, Hangchow, Shanghai, Nanking and Peking.

For the most part, the things that have impressed him about China have been the things that impress most visitors — the health and apparent happiness of the people, their common resolve to build a new and classless society and the remarkable progress they have made in almost every field of endeavor.

He is delighted with the Chinese practice of sending bureaucrats down to the country every now and then for a spell of manual labor alongside the peasants.

It is, he feels, an excellent practice, and one which would do the bulk of civil servants in Canada — and certainly those in Newfoundland — a world of good.

"It puts the devil in me, it does," he says, "to see how civil servants behave towards the people who pay their salaries. First they start bossing the public around then the politicians, and pretty soon you've got yourself a new ruling class.

"I say send every one of them out among the peasants to till the rice paddies or the wheat fields or whatever. It would do most of them in Canada no end of good."

▣

Just as he has admired proletarian principles at work in the bureaucracy, so has he approved them at work in the ranks of the People's Liberation Army, whose soldiers spend a half or more of their time doing so-called mass work — helping peasants in the fields, growing crops of their own and generally involving themselves in the life of the community around them.

In Mr. Smallwood's eyes the Canadian armed forces, with their emphasis on military training and their habit of living apart from the community, have a lot to learn from the PLA.

"Let's face it, most of our military people live a secure and idle life, consuming instead of producing, and guarding against a war that nobody believes will ever come.

"I say they'd be better soldiers and better Canadians if they did as soldiers do in China."

Does Anyone Still Care?

By ANTHONY LEWIS
New York Times

When a minor official of the Truman Administration was found to have taken a deep freeze from a favor-seeker, or his wife a fur coat, the country rang with cries of scandal and corruption.

In the Nixon administration, the assistant attorney-general in charge of the justice department's criminal division — the man meant to be one of the country's main watchdogs against corruption and crime — was found to have taken a $30,000 loan from a figure in a Texas bank scandal. His resignation caused hardly a ripple.

★ ★ ★

When an over-zealous FBI agent awoke a newspaper reporter at night in the Kennedy administration's investigation of steel price increases, the incident was treated in some quarters like a storm troopers' raid.

In this administration a Harvard Law School professor who had looked into the records of three possible nominees to the Supreme court was questioned three times by FBI agents. How many Americans have even heard of that episode?

Arthur Krock wrote years ago of what he termed "the superior articulation of the left." The phrase expressed the feeling of conservatives at the time that their viewpoint was not getting adequate expression, at least in some parts of the press. Old-fashioned liberals feel a similar frustration now as they see Nixon sail smoothly on through scandals that would have sunk a Democratic presidency.

Just imagine a Democratic justice department settling a great antitrust suit after the defendant corporation made an enormous contribution to the party convention. Imagine the department being evasive when asked questions, and a principal official giving contradictory explanations, and then the whole affair blowing quietly away . . . but it is unimaginable.

It is not just the case of the International Telephone and Telegraph Crop. It is the change in official milk price policy after political gifts. It is the slippery handling of the Soviet grain deal. It is the burglary and bugging of Democratic headquarters, the payment of those who did that dirty work with Republican campaign money that had been "laundered" through a Mexican bank.

Perhaps the average citizen can focus his outrage more easily on some great piece of corporate finagling. Perhaps Americans historically are just more suspicious of politicians than of businessmen and tend to put Democrats in the professional politician category.

But there is more than that in the present public indifference to curruption of authority and of democracy. There is something very strange and disturbing in the country: a deadened quality, and end to caring.

People talk about it all over, and leaders write letters: A United States Senator feels even on Capitol Hill an ebbing of energy and concern. A woman who has been abroad for some time writes of the emptiness she finds on her return, the resignation; even the time of student disturbances was better, she says.

★ ★ ★

In Newsweek, Stewart Alsop writes of The Watergate affair, the bugging and burglary of Democratic headquarters. It reached into the White House, he says: "It was just about the scariest and nastiest thing that has happened in Washington since Joe McCarthy was in his heyday." Yet nobody seems to care; with concern, Alsop asks why. But he does not look at the deepest reason for cynicism among Americans and despair.

For nearly eight years now, the United States has been massively engaged in a war in Southeast Asia. One president got us into that war without ever telling the public that he was doing so, indeed while giving repeated assurances that the American role was not changing. Another president has assured us again and again that he was ending American involvement, even while intensifying the destruction of Indochina.

No people can survive eight years of such deceit without a mark on their collective psyche. Among millions of Americans, the hope of changing official policy has been crushed. Millions have become desensitized to the fact of death by our instruments in Indochina.

Vietnam may not be the only cause of the contemporary indifference. But when leaders teach that war is peace, it is not surprising to find a large measure of public cynicism generally.

SOME JAUNDICED REPORTING FROM MOSCOW

Team Canada: The Unmaking of Our Heroes

By DOUGLAS FISHER

MOSCOW — Usually the hero is a person other people would like to be. They dress him with qualities he may not have such as intelligence, honesty and an attractive personality. Further, they give him noble motives which may never have crossed his mind.

Hockey heroes come largest of all in Canada, through the decades from Cyclone Taylor through Howie Morenz to Howe, Hull, Beliveau or Orr. Fans cluster breathlessly around Bobby Orr in a Moscow hotel lobby to gander such mumbled gems as "My leg's coming along OK," and later they repeat this information with a reverence to this lad whom they think so modest and nice. Indeed, he may be. Certainly, when a hockey hero has integrity and personality (one thinks at once of Jean Beliveau) there are bonuses for the whole country in such a model for youth and adults.

It seems to me that two definite though rather formless readjustments will take place in Canada following the U.S.S.R.-NHL series. The first will be somewhat like what takes place in party politics after one party, particularly one in power, has suffered a stunning electoral reverse. This is attributed to inferior organization and campaigning methods. The compulsion is to imitate in order to outdo the other party which has won. Thus party organization is driven on to ever more complexity and costliness.

A second readjustment seems likely in a much more critical appraisal of our hockey stars and heroes as overall human beings.

An American sportswriter covering this series offered an opinion a few days ago.

He had followed play and players in four professional sports: basketball, football, baseball and hockey. He rated the players of these games in that order in terms of maturity, common sense and a good feeling for the real world beyond the stadium. It was clear that he thought the crudeness, the shenanigans on and off the ice, and the hyper kind of virility displayed by hockey players to be manifestations of both the game as played and the communities from which the players come.

It is apparent from stories drifting back from Canada to Stockholm and Moscow that the sports reporting of this series has become jaundiced over shortfalls in behavior and commitment of some of the players on Team Canada.

ORR
. . . mumbled gems

In political reporting there is a generally-accepted code that one does not zero in upon and report the frailities of politicians such as boozing, whoring and gambling. Partly, one feels, as "quid pro quo" for this journalistic delicacy, our politicians, or at least the few hellraisers, tend to be discreet in their improprieties. Not so with their parallels among hockey players.

They swing and curse and frolic as though the world is their stage. When this is seen and reported or, even worse, described without direct attribution of names and incidents, several unfortunate things ensue. Firstly, the scale of such roistering is exaggerated.

Secondly, its consequences upon the standards of play in the games is exaggerated. Finally, it leaves a nasty reputation over all the players, many of whom do not deserve it.

To the contrary, many of the players of Team Canada have earned an enormous respect from some of us who watched their play and deportment on and off the ice throughout the series. Players who have "put out," who have behaved well, who are moved by nationalism and their own self-respect as professional athletes.

One interesting point here — perhaps it has to do with the eclipse of fighting and high-sticking by international rules — is that so many of the top achievers in this series for Canada have been the lesser-known selection.

For example, when Gary Bergman and Jean-Paul Parise and Bill White were chosen for the team a lot of people wondered why. They weren't thought to be big stars. Nor were Ron Ellis, Bobby Clarke and Paul Henderson, all good journeymen but not the bigger names. Yet it has been these six players, plus Phil Esposito, the incredible over-achiever of this series, who have carried the team and made it competitive. These men and the goalies.

Now a notable feature of these men, with the exception of Phil Esposito, is that they are the polite, quieter members of the group. At least they demonstrate that a hockey hero doesn't have to be a pop-off, a showboat or a cut-up.

Phil Esposito, of course, is a man all his own. He reminds one of Babe Ruth and Charlie Conacher. On and off the ice he lives a rare tempo. He's argumentative, witty, clownish at times, full of appetites, crude folk wisdom, verbal belligerence and much of that Italian male panache.

Much of the criticism I have heard regarding the team, not all from the press, certainly some from NHL impresarios, is that these boys have been spoiled by their inordinately high salaries. Some go beyond this and say that their disadvantages vis-a-vis the Russians reflect the corruption of affluence in our society. Others go further and say that they'll only discipline themselves and go all out when they are making "really big money" for it.

Most of such criticism goes too far, in my opinion, simply because one can note the solid men in this group and say that none of it applies to them. In other words, the models, the genuine heroes, are present. We just need a few more of them and a better context for them to perform in.

From Torpor to Tedium

By JOHN NICHOL

Well we now have less than four weeks to go until election day and the public level of excitement has escalated from torpor to tedium. So far there are no signs of anyone setting fire to the country. Perhaps the wood is wet.

Unfortunately, ours has become a very complicated society and the effects and counter-effects of government policies are difficult to think through. In Ottawa, experts peer over the shoulders of other experts, rank upon rank. Disagreement is normal.

All such issues as unemployment, inflation, price and wage controls, immigration, dollar and credit management, and industrial expansion — to name a few — are ones which the average voter has little chance of understanding. Politicians understand this clearly, and therefore try to reach the voter either through oversimplification or hedging.

As an example of oversimplification, let's look at David Lewis, for a moment. He has reduced the complicated tax incentive programs to Canadian industrial employers to the belligerent phrase: "Corporate welfare bums." That has a lovely political ring to it, but Mr. Lewis really knows better. He is oversimplifying badly.

He then says that he would not hesitate to slap on price and wage controls to halt inflation. Again he is oversimplifying — hip shooting.

Mr. Stanfield — on the same issue — hedges. He says that he would "have the guts to impose temporary wage and price controls — if necessary." This statement has more hedges than a steeplechase.

Mr. Trudeau, knowing that all these issues are complicated and almost impossible to debate in an election — employs neither oversimplification nor hedging. Instead, he is "painting with a broad brush" as they say in the trade. He is calling out "the land is strong" — and leaping tall buildings at a simple bound.

STANFIELD
. . . too many hedges

Thus, the waves of propaganda coming from all the parties wash away all the issues which require some mental effort and, in the end we will be left with the two old favorites — the economic cycle and leadership. These are what the wordmongers of politics call the "gut issues." (Also known as vital issues, visceral issues and seminal issues.) They are the issues which the public can debate without doing any homework, and which therefore can be decided by "gut" reaction — rather than by any process of the mind.

The state of the economic cycle is the number one gut issue. Governments are re-elected on booms and defeated in slumps. Each voter knows whether he is a boom or a slump — and votes accordingly.

Leadership means many things. In the electioneering sense, it is the estimated capacity of a politician to solve problems which the voter either cannot understand, or is unable or unwilling to worry about himself. Each voter has a gut reaction about the kind of a man he wants to "lead" him.

That is why Mr. Lewis should strive for accuracy, why Mr. Stanfield should speak more briskly, why Mr. Trudeau should try not to swear.

PILOT'S BOOK HITS SAFETY REGULATIONS

By WALTER STOVALL

NEW YORK (AP) — A Mohawk Airlines twin-engine turboprop plane bucking turbulent winds and driving rain slammed into Pilot Knob Mountain near Glens Falls, N.Y., on the night of Nov. 19, 1969. The pilot, Captain Raymond Hourihan, and 13 others were killed.

Another Mohawk pilot, Brian Power-Waters, says he was so outraged by the crash that he dug out notes and other material he had amassed during his 18 years as an airline pilot and began putting them in order.

By early this year, writing in long hand, Power-Waters had produced a 264-page book denouncing the airline industry and the United States Federal Aviation Administration for maintaining what he regards as perilously inadequate safety standards and facilities. He called the book Safety Last and dedicated it to Hourihan.

"I was going to write the book anyway, but I was selfish," said Power-Waters, 50.

"Until this (Hourihan's death) happened I was just working to keep myself from getting killed."

Because he feared for his job, Power-Waters said he wrote the book under the nom de plume Captain X and went so far as to wear a mask in a dust-jacket photograph. Since publication, however, Mohawk has been taken over by Allegheny Airlines and he has unmasked himself.

The pilot's comments range from criticism that the airlines economize at the expense of safety to the charge that the FAA moves to correct airline and airport safety hazards only after accidents occur.

He says some pilots also contribute to unsafe air travel by often ignoring adverse weather conditions and mechanical defects in their aircraft to meet airline insistence that planes fly on schedule.

Power-Waters writes that the airlines have created practices that reduce the safety margin for commercial airplanes while saving money. He cites, as an example, their failure to put a third crew member aboard short-haul jets.

"The increased number of short segments in the flight crews' day accelerates the pace of cockpit duties and increases the exposure to other traffic in lower altitudes and around airports," he says.

He says 80 per cent of all jet airline accidents have occurred at low altitudes and near airports. And he adds that 87 per cent of the near-misses have been spotted by third officers.

Japan has just about reached the limit in terms of heavy industry expansion and the government is revising tax policies to encourage industries to move out of cities to new industrial parks.

The new industrial cities in areas of sparse population will be limited to 250,000 people. About 60 of these industrial cities are planned. One-third of the land area will be used for parks and greenbelts.

It is all part of Japan's battle against a severe air pollution problem.

Canadian life insurance companies return 44 cents in benefits for every dollar earned, according to figures released this week by the insurance industry.

Out of every dollar earned, 37 cents is invested, mostly in mortgages, loans to governments and purchases of real estate.

Operating expenses use up 16 cents and three cents go for taxes. Dividends to shareholders cost less than a penny of each insurance dollar spent.

Main income for life insurance companies comes in the form of premiums, which account for 67 cents out of each dollar received. The remaining 33 cents comes as profit from investments.

Total assets of all life insurance companies operating in Canada is $16.7 billion.

Of the $130 billion of life insurance taken out in Canada, 72 per cent was with Canadian-owned companies. Exactly 81 of the 180 companies operating in Canada are Canadian-owned.

Of the rest, 62 are American, 10 British and seven from other European countries.

Statistics are from Current Topics, a Toronto publication of the Canadian Life Insurance Association.

Mining Stock Doldrums End

The Vancouver Stock Exchange mining market snapped out of the doldrums Monday pushing the total volume out of the 2 million range up to 3.8 million shares for the day.

Trading was heavy again today.

Citex Mines led the trading Monday turning over 873,500 shares and gaining .09 to 43 cents.

Carlisle Douglas underwrote 200,000 shares at .25 with options on 200,000 at .25 due Dec. 1 and 200,000 at .30 due March 1, 1973.

The company will use funds from the first underwriting for work on its Kamloops property and, if subsequent options are exercised, the money will be used for work on its McLeese Lake property.

Gunn Mines, also exploring property in the McLeese Lake area, gained .27 at $1.27 on 347,300 shares.

Calta gained .05 at .78 on 209,550 shares. Canarim Investment Corp. excercised an option on 75,000 shares at .75. The rest of the option of 150,000 shares at .75 was to be acted on today but it was not known at press time if the options was exercised. A subsequent option on 150,000 shares at .85 is due Nov. 1.

In other mining news, Joy Mining was off .09 at .79. Canarim underwrote 150,000 shares at .65 with options on 150,000 at .65 due Dec. 1 and 150,000 at .75 due next March 1.

Joy and South Seas Mining have granted Bethlehem Copper Corp. the right to acquire a 75 per cent interest in their Princeton claims by doing exploration and development work on the claims.

Texal was up .08 at .36. Texal and Dalton Resources have each acquired from Gold River Mines the right to a 24 per cent interest in claims in the Similkameen mining area. They will also get shares of Gold River.

Northwind Mines will be called for trading on the interim board today with ticker symbol of NHD.

Reako gained .08 at .53 on 307,600 shares on the interim board.

Canarim underwrote 300,000 shares of Reako at .35 cent with no further options. Proceeds will be used for exploring the company's San Juan Point property near Port Renfrew, some 50 miles northwest of Victoria.

Chapperal was unchanged at .46 on the oil board. The company has acquired from Conlac Gas Ltd. a 40 per cent interest in a petroleum and natural gas permit in Alberta for $31,000 and will pay $17,394 for its share of drilling costs. Chapperal also paid $12,000 and 25,000 shares for a 12½ per cent interest in some Alberta leases.

Clarke Traffic Alters Name

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarke Traffic Services Ltd., one of Canada's surface transportation companies, announced today it is changing its name to Clarke Transportation Canada Ltd.

The family-owned company, Known as Clarke Steamship Co. when it was founded in 1921, is involved in rail, truck and steamship transportation and container services.

Oil Find Hinted On Grand Banks

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—An indication of gas and oil in unknown quantities has been found on the Grand Banks off Newfoundland, Harold Quellhorst, local manager of Amoco Canada Petroleum Co. Ltd. said today in a statement.

Quellhorst said a "hydrocarbon show" had been found in well A1, one of several exploratory holes being drilled in the sea bottom by the company in an area of the banks about 250 miles southeast of here.

He said indications also had been found in two other holes in the same general area.

Quellhorst said no further information would be available until an assessment and evaluation was completed.

Foreign Reserves At Record

OTTAWA (CP) — Foreign exchange reserves rose $21.7 million during September to reach a record of $6.22 billion at the end of the month, the finance department reported Tuesday.

The increase in U.S. dollars and other currencies and in International Monetary Fund credits came after a two-month drop from the previous record holdings of nearly $6.22 billion at the end of June.

As usual, the announcement did not elaborate on the reason for the increase. The government has been buying and selling U.S. dollars to moderate day-to-day swings in the foreign exchange value of the Canadian dollar in the open market.

U.S. dollar holdings at the end of September totalled $4.53 billion, up from $4.52 billion at the end of August.

DAVID GROOS — WORK AND WAGES

DAVID GROOS

When more than half a million Canadians are out of work in the summertime no one can claim there is no unemployment problem. But no one is trying to say that, least of all the Liberal Government. What we are saying is that at least we should be given some credit for creating over 800,000 new jobs for Canadians over the past four years. And it wasn't easy because you know we compete for exports (and exports mean jobs) in the cut-throat world market-place.

Our principal trading partner, the United States, trying to deal with its own unemployment problems has made it very tough for us to sell there. Amongst other things they devalued their currency by about ten per cent. This is great for those who go to the U.S. for a holiday and for those who buy U.S. goods but it makes it just that much harder for us to sell our products in the U.S. It also gives U.S. goods a ten per cent edge over Canadian goods in competition abroad.

However no one can deny that Canada has created those 800,000 jobs and we are trying our best to create more. I believe we are succeeding. We must succeed because we have the fastest growing work force in the world and statistics show it will continue this way for the next few years.

For those who are without work we have tried to cushion the effect on families. We have instituted incentive programs for industries, retraining programs, increased unemployment insurance coverage and financed work and skill-oriented programs for all age groups.

These are helping us over the hump and I think they are the sort of humane things modern society and the Canadian people want done.

We may not have achieved all we would like but we are trying.

Your vote will let us get on with the job. There is more to be done. We're having an informal meeting on Thursday, Oct. 5, at the Leonardo da Vinci Hall, 195 Bay St. Please drop in between 7:30 and 9:00 p.m. to discuss this or any other issue.

Wall St. Brokers In Red

Washington Post

NEW YORK — About 40 per cent of the member firms of the New York Stock Exchange lost money on their operations in September, according to well-informed Wall Street sources.

The red ink — the result of a 20 per cent decline in trading volume for the month — increased the street's growing fear of a renewed financial crunch such as the one that forced more than 100 brokerage firms out of business in 1969 and 1970. As one source put it, "if things don't pick up in October, they (the brokers) are going to be in trouble."

During September, the average daily trading volume on the NYSE was 12.3 million shares, down from an average of 15.5 million a day in August and 14.4 million in July. During both of the earlier months, 30 per cent of the firms reported losing money, sources said.

Until about two years ago, the NYSE computed the break-even point, in terms of daily volume, that the brokers needed to pay the costs of operation. The practice was discontinued because the exchange felt that brokers had diversified into so many non-brokerage fields, such as real estate and tax-sheltered investments, that the figure was no longer significant. Some industry executives, however, estimate the current break-even point at close to 15 million shares a day.

The decline in volume, along with previously reported earnings declines for several major brokerage firms, have spawned a wealth of rumors about impending mergers and layoffs of personnel. Two NYSE member firms, both small houses, have recently given up their memberships, on the grounds that the brokerage business is not profitable.

In addition to the closings, Wall Street rumor mills have been busy trimming the size of some large firms. A spokesman for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., has been busy for the past couple of weeks denying reports of impending layoffs. "We have 19,258 employees now and we had 19,244 at the end of 1971," he says. "There aren't any layoffs in there."

The slack volume in the markets has caused severe profit drops for several large firms. For the first half of this year, Bache and Co., Inc., reported a net of $5 million, down 39 per cent from the same period in 1971. Reynolds Securities and Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis, Inc., also posted sharp profit declines.

While most brokerage firms are considered able to live with lower profits — and even absorb some losses, if necessary — there is widespread concern that less solidly based firms could be forced into merger or dissolution if trading activity does not increase soon.

Fidel Rescuer Dies

HAVANA (Reuter) — An officer who probably saved Fidel Castro's life in 1953 by refusing to turn him over to army officers died Saturday at the age of 73. Capt. Pedro Sarria, then a second lieutenant, captured Castro and other young revolutionaries July 30, 1953, four days after they had attacked the Moncada barracks in Santiago. Rather than hand his prisoners over to officers, who wanted to kill them on the spot, he took them to police headquarters. They were jailed and later tired.

Pill Deductible?

CASTLEGAR (CP) — Tax deductions for birth-control pills and a guaranteed annual income to replace welfare were among recommendations passed at a two-day conference on the status of women at the weekend.

About 300 women from throughout the Kootenays discussed law, education and poverty as they apply to women, day-care centres and the psychology of women.

Japanese May Finance Plants in Alberta

CALGARY (CP) — Japanese investors are interested in establishing steel and petrochemical industries in Alberta, according to Fred Peacock, minister of trade and commerce.

During an Alberta economic mission Sept. 1 to 8 the "Japanese conceded that they cannot continue to use Canada as a source for raw material only."

"Major Japanese corporations have already, or will shortly, dispatch specific project-oriented task forces to Alberta to investigate the potential Alberta offers for joint-venture investments."

The minister said he also based his opitmism about future development on Japanese government urgings to industry to set up overseas plants.

PWA Seeks New Edmonton Run

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pacific Western Airlines Ltd. wants to introduce a new jet service that it says will take a bite out of Air Canada and CP Air business but will be a convenience to travellers in Vancouver, Kelowna and Edmonton.

The regional airline that serves British Columbia, Alberta and the Northwest Territories has applied to the Canadian Transport Commission for permission to start a twice-daily service between Vancouver and Edmonton with a stop at Kelowna.

The flights would end at Edmonton Industrial Airport, which is downtown, in contrast to mainline carrier flights to Edmonton International, 20 miles from the city centre.

James M. Robins, PWA director of corporate planning, said Friday he can see the link providing a one-plane service from Vancouver, or even ultimately from Seattle, into the Canadian north.

Robins said 200,000 passengers rode on the Vancouver-Edmonton segment of the mainline carriers' Trans-Canada route in 1971 and the growth is forecast at 15 per cent a year.

"If all of this happens, then the little bite we're going to take out with two flights and 226 seats a day is going to be a small fraction," he said.

PWA's plan has the backing of Kelowna city council. Kelowna would get more direct service to Edmonton for passengers between the Okanagan Valley and Edmonton, who numbered 6,500 in 1971. With the new service, said Robins, PWA would expect to double this.

Is Bus Coming? Check TV

WINNIPEG (CP) — Those sometimes-long waits at the bus stop near home and the uncertainty about whether there will be a seat on the bus may be eliminated some day.

Instead, the person at home may call a telephone number and get a picture on his living room TV screen saying how far away and how full is the bus he wants.

And if prospects aren't good, the person at home then may phone Dial-A-Bus, to bring a small bus to his doorstep that will connect him with a main line route.

"That may be blue-sky," Neal Irwin of Toronto told the Roads and Transport Association of Canada Monday. "But this kind of information could be provided."

Irwin, partner in a firm that helped design Regina's Telebus system, said there is a trend to a bus service that is more in touch with the rider's demands.

Co-ordination Poor

EDMONTON (CP) — Mental health systems in Canada are badly co-ordinated, Walter Coombs, executive director of the Canadian Mental Health Association, said.

Coombs told about 150 delegates at the association's annual meeting there is a wasteful and inefficient relationship between federal and provincial levels responsible for research in mental health.

Costlier Than Gold

EDMONTON (CP) — Heroin has become "infinitely more valuable than gold" because recent seizures of the drug in the city have forced the price to $35 a capsule, a police morality squad officer said Monday.

He said the normal price for the illicit drug ranges between $15 and $25, depending on availability.

Censorship to Go?

EDMONTON (CP) — Classification of films likely will replace censorship in Alberta, the chairman of a special legislative committee studying censorship said today.

Ernie Jamison, Progressive Conservative MLA for St. Alberta, said more than 150 briefs have been received by the committee which will hold public hearings Oct. 11 and 12 in Edmonton and Calgary before making recommendations to the legislature.

Rustler Caught

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — A Montana school teacher, who rustled cattle during his summer vacations, pleaded guilty to 14 charges of possession of stolen cattle today.

Wayne Hyland, 27, of East Glacier, Mont., was arrested by city police Sept. 12 during a routine traffic check. The police found Hyland was transporting 12 cattle belonging to two Montana ranchers. Court was told Hyland admitted stealing the animals.

"YOUR SPORTS CAR HEADQUARTERS" AT

PLIMLEY

ON YATES 382-9121

In true Avis tradition, we announce the end of the mileage charge.

In line with the Avis tradition of trying harder, we proudly announce that we've cleaned up the rent a car rate jungle.

As of Monday, October 2, we're abolishing the annoying, confusing, chaos of rent a car rates. Instead, Avis has one single daily rate with three important advantages.

1. You can drive all the miles you want with no mileage charge—no matter how far you go.

2. It's much easier to calculate how much you're going to spend—before you spend it. All you pay is the straightforward daily rate, plus the gas you use.

3. You enjoy traditional Avis we try harder service and, in most cases, real savings we invite you to discover.

How about the Avis 20% discount? Simple. It no longer applies because the new daily rates have all been adjusted to compensate.

Avis. A tradition you'll want to experience.

Car	Daily rate
Economy (Colt, etc.)	$12.00
Compact (Valiant, Duster, etc.)	$13.00
Intermediate (Satellite, Coronet, etc.)	$14.00
Full size (Fury III, Polara Custom, etc.)	$15.00

Avis no-mileage-charge rates available across Canada except in some smaller centres. Other models such as sports cars, convertibles, wagons, luxury cars, etc. available at higher daily rates—still no mileage charge.

We try harder.

Avis rents all makes of fine cars, features Plymouth and Dodge.

Red Sox Can't Afford to Slip Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRIESS

Luis Tiant carries the fate of Boston Red Sox in baseball's American League East showdown with him tonight when he pitches "the most important game of my life," against Detroit Tigers.

The Sox hope he doesn't slip.

It was a disastrous slip by usually sure-footed Luis Aparicio that short-circuited a Boston rally Monday night and enabled Detroit to whip the Sox 4-1.

One more Detroit victory, either tonight or Wednesday, will give the Tigers the title.

While Detroit was getting the jump on Boston in their head-to-head confrontation for the AL East flag, Montreal Expos' Bill Stoneman stole some of the spotlight with the second no-hitter of his major league career, defeating New York Mets 7-0 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. The Mets won the second game, 2-1.

Elsewhere on an abbreviated schedule Monday, Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in the National League, Milwaukee Brewers took New York Yankees 6-1 and Chicago White Sox tripped Minnesota Twins 6-4 in the American League.

Mickey Lolich struck out 15 batters and limited Boston to six hits while Aurelio Rodriguez drove in three runs for the Tigers with a homer and two singles. Al Kaline also had a homer and two other hits.

The Sox seemed to be getting to Lolich in the third. Tommy Harper singled and raced to third on Aparicio's hit. Then Carl Yastrzemski boomed a 420-foot drive that scored Harper—to tie the game 1-1—and sent Aparicio around third, headed for home.

"I had to wait around second base to make sure that the ball wouldn't be caught," said Aparicio, "and then I turned on the speed.

"I started to round third, but hit the bag on top. I stumbled and tried to keep going. Instead, I slipped on the grass, and had to scramble back to the bag."

There he met Yastrzemski and the Tigers tagged Yaz for the second out of the inning. Then Lolich struck out Reggie Smith to end the threat.

After that, the ball game belonged to Lolich, Kaline and Rodriguez. In the fifth, Rodriguez homered. In the sixth, Kaline singled and came around to score on a hit by Rodriguez. In the eighth, Kaline singled again and again the Tigers scored on a two-out single by Rodriguez.

The three hits gave Kaline 20 hits in his last 40 at bat.

The Detroit-Boston showdown was supposed to be the only significant game Monday but Stoneman added some meaning to the Montreal-New York twi-night doubleheader with his no-hitter.

The veteran right-hander struck out nine but had to fight off frequent sieges of wildness that led to seven bases on balls.

Stoneman's two kid brothers, Jimmy, 15, and John, 11, were on hand for the classic, visiting from Los Angeles.

A small but vocal Montreal crowd, sitting in 53-degree overcast weather, cheered Stoneman's every pitch as he closed in on his classic.

Boots Day supported Stoneman with good catches on the two plays in centre field and drove in three runs with a bases-loaded triple.

In the nightcap, Ed Kranepool boomed a ninth-inning triple and trotted home on Dave Schneck's two-out single to score the deciding run for the Mets.

Fogged-Out Lions Miss Old Fog-and-Run Play

Nostalgia is generally defined as yesterday revisited. Yesterday was no exception.

This was the menu at lunch at the Red Lion, though not by choice.

The guests of honor from the B.C. Lions, line coach Ken McCullough, and offensive lineman Ken Sugarman, were victims of the vagaries of the weather syndrome.

When they elected to fly, they were grounded by heavy fog, and were no-shows.

But lunch went on regardless at the Touchdown Club, and the featured presentation was on film.

The title was "First and 10," you guessed it, the first 10 years of the history of the Lions. And no, they weren't winning much then either.

But on with the picture.

I suppose every Lion fan recalls that first season — a prior condition of 7,500 season tickets sold, and a guarantee to other clubs against financial loss because of the extra travel costs.

Frankly, the Lions weren't wanted. It was thought they might be a ball-and chain. A dismal bust.

Not so, as things have turned out, but back to '54.

Stuke? Oh, He's Big in Hockey

Annis Stukus was the coach then. He had been recruited at great expense from far-off-Toronto, and Edmonton, to sell the game, coach the team and kick the points-after-TDs.

He lasted two years. His first, in 1954, the team record was 1 and 15; in 1955, it was 5 and 11. In 1956 he was sacked, and Clem Crowe was given the job.

Stuke stayed on in town for a time as a resident football genius with a newspaper. Now he is in Winnipeg in a similar capacity with the J of the World Hockey Association. He is a hockey salesman luxe.

Then, after Crowe came Dan Edwards, Wayne Robinson, and Dave Skrien and that's only up until 1963.

The first banner year was 1959, when, under Robinson, the Lions complied a winning record, 9 and 7. Then of course everyone knows what happened in 1963. The Lions finished No. 1 in the West.

That came about because of several things and the whatevers that make up football. No. 22 on the roster was a quarterback named Joe Kapp, who had come down from Calgary with a couple of gimpy legs but a heart of iron. He helped make the Lions click, and his favorite target was Willie Fleming. Willie's number normally was 15 and I'd forgotten that when he first became a Lion it was 91.

That's another thing a film does — it jogs the memory, even it boggles the mind.

When Beamer Became a Steeler

Oh, there were some other quarterbacks of varying stature in those early, lean seasons — Johnny Mazur, Arnold Galiffa, Tony Teresa, Paul Cameron, George Herring . . .

Primo Villanueva was another who is doing much better now. He is operating a specialty restaurant.

Something special as well is that other fellow — Kapp.

Joe, you will recall, went from the Lions to Minnesota and the Super Bowl, then to Boston, and now is in restaurants, real estate, the movies, and a continuing lawsuit with the New England Patriots. He's busy.

Nub Beamer was a Lion of another era, and also a Steeler from Victoria's football history.

A dinner guest Monday remembered Beamer well.

"He played with us once," recalled Bob Coutts, "and when he asked how he was to know where to go on a particular pattern, the coach said:

" 'Don't worry about it, just follow Coutts.'

"He did, and talk about drive: "I've still got his nose marks in my back from when he followed me through the line."

Still, if the Lions had a troubled past in those first pesky years, they also had a murky one, one night.

That's when they used their famous "fog-and-run" play.

Len Meltzer, I believe it was, who took the ball in the end zone and ran it 115 yards for a TD.

It was difficult to tell, because right then the game ended because of a dense fog.

Yesterday, on the film, the touchdown didn't show. Then neither did the Lions. So they don't know what they didn't miss.

And that kiddies, is what sometimes, nostalgia and football luncheons are all about.

Deadlock Unbroken

Rebels Grey and Tigers remained in a tie for first place Sunday by coming up with one-sided victories over other Vancouver Island Men's Field Hockey League rivals.

Rebels Grey trounced University of Victoria Vikings 10-2 at UVic while Tigers mauled Castaways 7-1 at Lansdowne Park.

In the only match, Fossils edged Orangemen 5-4 at Windsor Park.

Scoring:

Rebels Grey (10) — Al Shaw 7, Brian Foley 2, Mike Thompson; UVic Vikings (2) — Roland Ek, Rick Ikona.

Fossils (5) — Doug Carrick 4, Sam Lin; Orangemen (4) — Bert Meek 2, Bob Raine, Gord Radcliffe.

Tigers (7) — Jaswant Samra 4, Pranajit Bains, Jeslit Brar; Castaways (1) — Mike Padget.

PRAISE FROM THE BRASS: Montreal Expos pitcher Bill Stoneman (centre) is congraulated by jubilant John McHale (left), president of the team, and general manager Jim Fanning after pitching a no-hitter to lead the Expos to a 7-0 victory over the New York Mets in the first game of a National League doubleheader last night. Stoneman's Second No-Hitter Shows Similarities to First MONTREAL (CP) — The coincidences were evident Monday night when Bill Stoneman pitched a no-hitter against New York Mets as Montreal Expos claimed a 7-0 victory in the first game of their National League doubleheader.

New York won the second game 2-1.

It was Stoneman's second no-hitter with Montreal and although he held the Mets hitless, he often found himself with men on base as a result of seven walks.

When the 28-year-old right-hander turned the trick in Philadelphia against the Phillies on Apr. 17, 1969, the final score was also 7-0. And he also walked seven batters in that contest.

The 7,184 fans did not make much noise until the sixth inning when they realized that their pitcher had a shot at a no-hitter.

From that inning on, every strike was vigorously applauded and every ball was heartily booed.

"It's nice too pitch one here," Stoneman said after the game. "They're the best people in baseball and they were behind me all the way."

Asked to compare this effort with his first no-hitter, Stoneman said there was a lot of difference.

"I'm a much better pitcher now; I feel I'm more mature than I was in the first game," he said.

"I didn't have a slider in that game and I had one today and I used it a lot."

Stoneman kept the Mets off stride with an assortment of curves, sliders and fastballs.

Most balls hit by New York players were at a Montreal player and only two, both hit to centre fielder Day in the ninth, had the fans crossing their fingers.

One, a towering fly ball to deep centre by Ed Kranepool brought a groan out of the stands but a cheer rose up again when Day camped under it.

Another questionable ball was a line drive by Dave Schneck which Day caught up to.

"Just another routine evening," Stoneman joked later in the clubhouse.

"No sweat."

Running Squads Repeat Victories

Mount Douglas and Claremont athletes appear determined to dominate divisions of the Greater Victoria high school cross country league.

They repeated last week's victories Monday in the second event of the eight-race series.

Mt. Douglas runners won the girls' section and Claremont topped the boys' division.

Under the reverse-scoring system, Mt. Douglas scored 16 points. Claremont was second with 29 while Mount View and Belmont tied for third with 62 points each.

Claremont boys topped their section with 37 points, Oak Bay was runner-up with 84 and Belmont placed third with 90.

Kathy Sapsford of Mt. Douglas won the one-mile-plus girls' event in a time of five minutes, 56 seconds. Claremont's Jill McLeod was runner-up, two seconds behind, and Kathy Bertoia of Mt. Douglas placed third.

Richard Kirkham of Oak Bay turned in a time of 15:06 while winning the three-mile-plus boys' race. Fraser Symes of Mt. Douglas trailed Kirkham by 52 seconds and another Mt. Douglas harrier, Mike Long, was third.

Elsewhere on the running scene, two great displays of stamina highlighted the annual Royal Canadian Legion cross-country meet near Elk and Beaver lakes on Sunday.

Both Ulla Hansen of Victoria Mercuries and Tom Griffin of Arbutus Junior High School came up with double wins with only one hour of rest in between.

Miss Hansen won the midget girls' race of 1.2 miles and then collected a victory in the 2.2-mile race for midgets. Griffin won both the 2.6-mile midget and 3.6-mile juvenile events.

Adrian Jones narrowly beat Charlie Thorne after a long duel between the unattached harrier over the six-mile open men's course.

Wendy Thompson, also unattached, outlasted Anne Langdale of Mercuries to win the 2.6-mile open women's race.

Mercuries and Colwood Elementary School each won three of 11 team titles at stake in the event.

Ebb Tide Waits for Wak Waks

Approximately 50 players from the Japanese Wak Wak rugby club, along with about 15 supporters, are expected to arrive in Victoria tonight in advance of an exhibition match against Victoria Ebb Tide on Thursday.

Both sides in the 7:30 p.m. contest at Royal Athletic Park will be composed of players over the age of 39 but the Canadian squad appears to have an edge on both youth and height.

Oldest member of the visiting side is 70-year-old Tsukasa Shirasaki, a five-foot-six, 110-pounder who plays a backfield position.

Seven other Wak Wak players are over the age of 60 and none are taller than five-foot-ten.

In contrast, the "oldster" on Ebb Tide is David MacKenzie, a sprightly, 55-year-old six-footer. Seven other players on the Victoria side are also six feet or over in height.

Out of deference to the elder players, the match will be played in three periods instead of the usual two "halves." The older members of the teams will perform in the 25-minute third period which follows two of 30 minutes each.

For the first two periods there will be no substitutions during play, even for injuries, but there will be unlimited substitutions allowed during the breaks.

Harry Turner was named captain of the Peter Clarke-coached Victorians while 65-year-old college professor Shigeo Hasegawa is the Japanese captain.

Premier Dave Barrett, who turns out occasionally for Ex-Brits in Vancouver, is expected to officiate at Thursday's opening kickoff but may take a more active role later. Barrett is listed as a fullback for the B.C. reps for a Saturday match against Wak Wak in Vancouver.

The Wak Wak club was formed in 1949, plays about two matches a month and is one of 10 similar clubs in Japan.

Ebb Tide roster:

Forwards: Tim Briggs, Ed Bryans, Jim Buchanan, Mel Davison, Peter Dixon, Howard Gerwing, Les Hempsall, Ross Irving, Jack Large, Ray Ramsay, Doug Stewart, Harry Turner.

Giants Stifle Eagle Owner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New York Giants quarterback Norm Snead, with a big assist from running back Ron Johnson, made Philadelphia Eagles and their owner, Leonard Tose, eat humble pie Monday night.

Snead rubbed it in with 12 of 19 pass completions for 164 yards and three touchdowns. He led the Giants to a 27-12 victory over the winless Eagles.

Johnson, the 205-pound running back who sat out most of last season with an injured knee, caught all three of Snead's touchdown passes, and ran the ball 36 times for 128 yards. It was the first victory for New York in three 1972 games.

Tose, the wealthy trucking firm owner, put his foot in his mouth early last week, when in defence of head coach Khayat, he "guaranteed" the Eagles would beat the Giants.

Tose has little respect for Snead as a quarterback. He led the move to trade Snead from the Eagles to Minnesota Vikings after the 1970 season.

Snead came back last year and was the quarterback as the Vikings blanked the Eagles 17-0. He was traded this year to New York, and Monday night he turned again on Tose, a man who had described Snead as a loser.

In the Eagles' dressing room, the red-faced Tose ripped his players.

"This team has no character," ranted the owner. "I'm very disappointed," he said.

"I came in at halftime and told the team their performance was disappointing."

Tose said he planned no changes in the coaching staff or front office as a result of the Eagles' third straight defeat.

FIRST GAMES IN NEW LOOP

Four clubs will hit the ice tonight at Juan de Fuca Arena to launch to the first season of the seven-team South Vancouver Island Junior "B" Hockey League.

Scheduled is a twin bill, which has Juan de Fuca Gulls going against Racquet Club Kings at 8 and Victoria Nixons facing Esquimalt A and W at 10.

Other clubs in the new loop are Fuller Lake Flyers, Saanich Braves and Cowichan Lake.

Title Challenger Stopped in Three

TOKYO (Reuter) — Koichi Wajima of Japan retained his world junior middleweight boxing title today when he knocked out Trinidad challenger Matt Donovan in the third round of their scheduled 15-round fight.

Donovan took a devastating series of left hooks to the head which sent him to the canvas for a full count after 53

Stockers Score Second Straight

The line of Les Bergman, Ken Waet and Gerry Cadwell checked in with four goals to power Stocker North Americans to their second straight Intermediate Hockey League victory Monday night at Memorial Arena.

Bergman scored a pair while his linemates each counted once as Stockers dropped Ingraham Buckaroos 6-2.

Don Resley and Errol Goulden also scored for the winners while Claire Voss and Ray Mounsey connected for the Bucks.

Ingraham drew all nine of the game's minor penalties and Stockers enjoyed a wide margin of play throughout, out-shooting the Bucks 53-27.

Goalkeeper Ron Griffis was a standout for the Bucks, turning away 47 Stocker shots.

Cougars Step Up Pace For Thursday's Opener

It's a stretch-spring pace for the Victoria Cougars these days.

With all exhibition committments fulfilled, coach Mitch Pechet and players returned Monday to twice-a-day workouts as the Cougars head for their Western Canada Junior Hockey League opener.

That comes Thursday when the Cougars face Ernie McLean's Bruins in New Westminster.

Until then, Cougars will practice twice a day.

Even general manager Eric Bishop is caught up in the hectic preparation pace. Bishop's urgency is contractual. All players must be signed before stepping on the ice Thursday.

Pechet, meanwhile, was hoping for one new face to show up at one or both of today's workouts. Goaltender Sam Clegg, acquired from Saskatoon Blades at the weekend, was scheduled to arrive today to fill one of Victoria's most prominent vacancies.

Pechet "isn't sure" if Clegg would be Cougars' starting goalie on Thursday.

"I'll want to see him work before I decide," said Pechet. If Clegg, who is motoring from Saskatchewan, is late in arriving, the starting assignment will undoubtedly go to Dan Rogers, the sparkling 15-year-old up from Saanich minor ranks.

Pechet also announced that winger Dale Cook has been selected as the Victoria team captain.

Cougars' home portion of the 68-game schedule will begin Saturday night with Calgary Centennials visiting Memorial Arena.

The Bruins, showing some of the muscle that characterized their play last season, dropped Vernon of the B.C. Junior League 6-2 in one of two Monday exhibitions involving WCHL teams.

At Winnipeg, ex-Cougars sparked Flin Flon Bombers to their seventh straight exhibition triumph — a 6-3 decision over the Jets.

Wayne Dye, with two, Vic Mercredi, Bob Bilodeau, Ron Greschner and Doug Abrahamson scored for the Bruins in the Vernon game marred by a late brawl.

At Winnipeg, recently-acquired Greg Robinson scored two goals and winger Wayne Bianchin — another former Victoria player — counted his 14th goal in seven games as the Bombers defeated the Jets.

TOP AMATEUR was Dale Shaw (above) playing in Portland Ladies' golf classic at weekend. Victoria champion carded 76-74-76—226 to finish in tie for 18th overall. Dale wound up 14 strokes behind Kathy Whitworth's winning total of 212, seven strokes under par for 54-hole event.

Two Aces in Tyees' Deck

It doesn't hurt to have a "leader" on hand, one who tends to point out the way to the top.

Victoria High appears to have a pair after their Tyees blanked Oak Bay 4-0 Friday to take over undisputed possession of first place in the Victoria Senior High School Soccer League.

Striker Steve Forslund and goalkeeper Danny Wilmhurst could be Tyees' men-in-charge. Forslund produced his second successive three-goal effort and Wilmhurst came through with his third shutout in four games as the Vics snapped a first-place tie with the Bays. Forslund also scored four goals in Tyees' opening game of the season.

Gary McLaren counted Tyees' other goal to provide Victoria with a 1-0 half-time lead.

Claremont Spartans, giving Reynolds Roadrunners a big assist, jumped into third place by counting a pair of unanswered goals in the second half to edge Belmont Braves 3-2.

Claremont thus swept past Mount View, victims of a 4-2 defeat at the hands of Reynolds. In another game on a busy Monday, Mt. Douglas dealt Esquimalt its sixth straight defeat by dumping the Dockers 2-0 at Esquimalt.

A pair of goals by Dave Moscrop helped the Braves to a 2-1 half-time lead but Claremont pulled out its important points on goals by Mike Costello and Bob Lee. Darryl Schumaker scored Spartans' opening goal.

Howie Kirk, Mark Stacey, Bill Beischer and George Sheard scored Reynolds' goals while the surprised Hornets managed replies only from Tom Hood and Kurt Robb.

At Esquimalt, Allan Grey scored on a breakaway and Dave Plimlott polished off a pretty, three-way play to power Mt. Doug.

HOCKEY TIPS

By Bobby Orr

The Canada-Russia Series put hockey on the front pages of newspapers in August and September. And after those memorable eight games, what can the National Hockey League do for an encore?

Harold Ballard, president of the Toronto Maple Leafs, summed it up best when he asked: "Will our fans be satisfied with the typical NHL early-season game after watching Team Canada and the Russians play?"

The series, I feel, has been great for hockey. It has shown us that condition and team play can be just about the most important items of a winning team.

The Soviet Selects can skate as a team better than any club in the National Hockey League. They have played so long together that they can pass the puck to a certain spot and know one of their mates will be there. And I have never seen players go all out without appearing to tire. They all were in mid-season condition.

Of course, for them this was their biggest series of the season. Their entire conditioning program was geared to being in top form by the first of September.

The advance scouting reports all gave us the opinion that the Russians would be in superb shape but were weak shooters and poor in goal.

If Russia's Vladislav Tretiak is an example of poor goaltending, then there a dozen teams in the NHL who could use a "poor" goalie. And the Russians can shoot!

Next time, though, I hope the series is arranged in mid-season. The present hockey season is long enough without adding another month.

Entry Bid Thwarted

Special to The Times

CALGARY — Simon Fraser University of Burnaby was foiled in its bid to enter the Canada West Athletic Association on the weekend.

SFU wanted to join the Canada West Association, embracing universities in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, but was told it would have to drop its football membership in the Evergreen Conference, which embraces colleges in the Pacific Northwest, and its swimming membership in the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association (U.S. small colleges).

Simon Fraser had hoped to enter the Canada West Association in six men's and four women's sports, including men's basketball. But because the school was unwilling to pull out of the Evergreen Conference and NIAA, it did not proceed with a formal application.

Certain items shown are optional at extra cost.

When you know what makes it quiet you know what makes it good.

The Galaxie 500 is one of the quietest Fords ever built. And the Galaxie is quiet not by accident, but by design. The quiet of this car is based on quality. Quality engineering.

Quiet is designed into the Ford Galaxie 500 with the use of advanced acoustical materials and soundproofing techniques. Fiberglass sound insulation has been inserted under the roof, under the hood, on the firewall, in the trunk and on the floor to help keep noise outside. A new door weatherstrip seals better and reduces wind noise to a new minimum.

A quiet car is a strong car. The Galaxie 500 rides on a 121 inch wheelbase and has a rugged new frame, with five strong crossmembers. The frame is isolated from the body by cushioning rubber body mounts that help to shield you from road vibrations. Power front disc brakes and power steering are standard. Another standard feature on the Galaxie 500 is the power ventilation that quietly freshens air even with the windows closed.

Chediak-Higashi: And Poor Chimo May Be Defenceless

Times Staff

An international team of experts carried out a medical examination at the Oak Bay Marina today that may prove the white killer whale, Chimo, is a victim of a little-known hereditary disease.

Here for the regular medical of Chimo and her male companion, Haida, were Dr. George Padgett of Moscow, Idaho, and Dr. Keith Farrell of Pullman, Wash.

Padgett is an authority on the disease — the chediak-higashi syndrome — which he explains is one of inherited susceptibility that makes those who have it defenceless against other diseases.

Padgett says that there are 300 children in the world suffering from this disease, which leaves them stripped of the defence mechanisms that other people have.

Chimo is suspected to have it because of her partial pigment. Albinos with a certain amount of pigment are highly susceptible to it.

Padgett says that most children with the disease die before they are 14.

"The only ones who have reached the age of 25 are four who were under the care of the National Institute of Health in Washintgon, D.C.," he reports.

Padgett says if Chimo has the disease, she will be one of five species found to be suffering from it.

He is also studying a herd of cattle that have it, sapphire mink and mice.

Their life expectancies — cattle, about 12 to 14 months; mink, just over a year, and mice, about eight months.

Today's blood and tissue samples taken from the two whales will be studied by Padgett. If Chimo is found to have the chediak-higashi syndrome she will provide scientists with the first experiment of fighting the disease in a marine mammal.

Farrell, who is also here for the probing tests, lectures at Washington State and is internationally known for his technique of freeze branding dolphins.

Among those to meet him at the medical examinations today was Michel Biggs of the Pacific Biological Station in Nanaimo.

Biggs, who has been in charge of the last two annual whale-counts carried out in Canadian waters, is hoping that Farrell's technique can be used on whales.

"This would help us plot their migration patterns," he says, "the freezing technique leaves a white patch on the dorsal fin that could be easily spotted in future counts."

Farrell is now working on a laser branding technique that could mean another scientific breakthrough.

Sealand president Bob Wright explains, "It would mean that instead of handling them we could pick them up on a grid and, within seconds, brand pods as they moved."

Wright was anxious today as he watched his veterinarian Dr. Alan Hoey and the others take the samples that could confirm Chimo to be the first known killer whale with the hereditary disease.

As the needles jabbed and the collection of filled phials grew, the least concerned in the watery laboratory were the whales themselves.

They proved passive patients, giving no hint of the tension around them.

Burning Boat Turns on Pair

By KIT COLLINS
Times Staff

No boat would ever do that to its captain.

That's what Mr. and Mrs. Jack Egeland thought when they set off on a month's fishing trip and found themselves adrift in a liferaft off the Oregon coast.

But there it was. Their own 79-foot schooner ablaze and when abandoned, it headed straight for them after the engine somehow started itself.

"I've never paddled so hard in my life," recalled Mrs. Egeland when she returned Monday.

Luckily the engine died about five minutes after it started and old MCM stopped in its tracks.

★ ★ ★

Egeland said he had switched off the controls and he and his wife had jumped clear of the boat after the windows in the cabin blew out.

He had noticed the smoke, he said, about noon Sunday.

"I went down to the engine room and it was just a wall of fire. I knew I couldn't stop her so I radioed the coast guard and they got a helicopter on its way.

★ ★ ★

The couple, alone on the boat, gathered a few belongings, a half-knit sweater, two suitcases and a radio without batteries, and boarded the raft.

"The heat of the fire must have melted the controls and the wires joined together and the boat started," the 34-year-old fisherman, who's been fishing since he was 14, said.

He said the sky was clear when the boat — priced at about $110,000 — caught fire but fog moved in and they stranded in the life raft for about one hour before the Astoria Coast Guard helicopter spotted them, 65 miles off the coast.

"They couldn't see us through the fog though, but they smelled the smoke and then spotted us."

The Egelands were taken to Astoria and flew home.

A coast guard spokesman said the burning vessel was reached by coast guard boats later in the afternoon but sank when they tried to tow it to Newport Sunday night.

"All we've got left now," says Egeland, "is the raft. And we couldn't take it with us in the helicopter so its somewhere adrift in the ocean."

THE EGELANDS . . . 'never paddled so hard'

Esquimalt Will Spend If Amalgamation Due

Amalgamation of Victoria's four core municpalities in the near future would "be great for everybody but us," according to Esquimalt's mayor Art Young.

If imminent amalgamtion as suggested by Premier David Barrett is a possibility, Young said Monday night, Esquimalt should start spending money.

Barrett said earlier Monday he is considering amalgamation of the capital region's four principal municpalities as an early priority.

After the Esquimalt council meeting Mayor Young said he wasn't suggesting a wild spending spree but in the event of amalgamation, "we lose."

"If we amalgamate, the fact we have no debt means we lose," he said.

If the province seemed to be about to seek amalgamation, Young said, he would urge a public referendum for financing of civic facilities the other three municipalities now have that Esquimalt does not enjoy.

"It's the only way we're going to get them," he told aldermen during the meeting.

Amalgamation of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt would presumably mean a pooling of their combined municipal debts — and Esquimalt would certainly be the loser.

It was the only one of the four which didn't register an increase in the tax rate in 1972, and it's the only one of the four which is in a position to put deferred public works projects for 1972 into the 1972 program.

Evidence — municipal treasurer Peter Cairns reported that certain projects, presented at budget time and deleted by council pending alternate financing, can be proceeded with, through savings in other departments.

Drainage projects worth $43,300; and sewer extension and upgrading to $34,000 can be undertaken, Cairns reported, because:

"In reviewing the 1972 budget I am pleased to report that the following appropriations will reflect a savings."

Those savings were: social assistance — $34,300; bank interest $8,000; and reduction of provision for uncollected taxes — $35,000.

"In view of this (the balance sheet)—we would recommend that the projects detailed above be proceeded with," Cairns concluded his report.

Aldermen were so confident in the budget they authorized Cairns to prepare a bylaw for the borrowing of $80,000 on a short-term basis to pay for reconstruction of the Craigflower-Tillicum intersection.

Cairns told council the loan as calculated by his department was on the basis of 6½ per cent per annum.

Municipal Affairs Minister James Lorimer said today he is not aware of any specific government policy on amalgamation of the Four Greater Victoria core Municipalities.

But Lorimer said he would favor such an amalgamation only if it kept one municipality from "sponging" on another one.

Lorimer said it should be up to the people of each separate municipality to decide for themselves whether they want to amalgamate with their neighbors.

"I don't think it should be done if municipalities are able to support themselves with their own parks and recreation areas," he said.

"But if one area is sponging on another one, then something has to be done. Either the boundaries have to be extended or something like that."

The minister said he does not believe this is the case with the four Greater Victoria municipalities — Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt. But he said there might be problems with such areas as Colwood, Langford and View Royal.

"I don't think there is any magic in bigness and I don't think it is that much cheaper," Lorimer said.

"It could be that individual municipalities are able to operate a tighter ship than if they were one," he said. "Amalgamation is not necessarily a beneficial thing."

BOYS MISSING IN SAANICH

Two 11-year-old Saanich boys are missing since they got out of school Monday afternoon, police said today.

The pair, who are friends, are Michael Wowchuk of 1936 Newton and Robert Munro of 2909 Richmond. They attend Richmond elementary school.

Police said the Wowchuk boy is tall and thin, is wearing brown jacket, pants and sweater and riding a red bicycle. The Munro boy is wearing a blue jacket and green pants, white running shoes and is riding a gold bike.

An officer said a pair matching the description was seen on the Saanich Peninsula Monday night.

Youth Will Gain From Windfall

By AB KENT
Times Staff

Skipper King's $5,000 windfall will be plowed back into the ground.

Children with an interest in nature are the beneficiaries in perpetuity because Skipper wants it that way.

Two weeks ago the 81-year-old naturalist was honored with a surprise birthday party at which he was given $5,000 subscribed by friends who insisted the money was his without strings attached, a reward for unpaid service to parks and wildlife.

In effect, he has given it back. Every last penny.

"It's for the use of the children who work at Francis Park," Skipper said today, trying to hide the glee in his voice and betrayed by the glitter in his eye.

"It's in the bank, a special fund, and I still control it," he said.

But the only way any part of it will be spent is if the junior naturalists need something for the park or its nature house and laboratory.

So much for misguided people who thought Skipper and his wife deserved a trip around the world after a life of unstinting concern for youngsters and nature.

But don't think the Kings are unappreciative; both were moved by the gesture of their many friends in thinking they deserved some tangible recognition for their life's labor.

"I was floored. For a minute they had me," Skipper recalled. "I want to thank all the people who had made that memorial evening for me. I'll never forget it."

The $5,000 is earning interest and the interest will be available for Francis Park projects, with Skipper making the decisions. Failing that, his wife or executor will control its use.

"My wife is 180 per cent behind it," Skipper declared. "We've been operating on a shoestring, mainly from donations" over the 11 years since a nature house was commenced in the park.

Between 500 and 600 children have been involved in nature study in the park through the junior section of Victoria Natural History Society, in which Skipper is closely involved.

What makes him especially pleased is the number who have chosen biology or zoology for a career.

"Some are married with families; some have their masters and PhDs, some are teachers or engineers. They're scattered all over the world."

Thanks to Skipper.

Sandringham Talks Set

Labor Minister William King said today the first meeting with Sandringham Private Hospital owner R. J. Shepherd of Vancouver to resolve the two-year-old hospital strike will be held in Victoria in about two weeks.

"I am pleased we are at last going to at least begin to resolve this problem," King said.

Twenty-eight women, mostly nurses aides, have been on strike seeking a first contract at the hospital.

On Monday Shepherd said he was too busy to come to Victoria and if the labor minister wished to see him King should come to Vancouver.

However, the labor minister telephoned Shepherd Monday afternoon and the two resolved to begin discussions in Victoria in about two weeks.

"We came to an understanding to at least begin to seek a solution," King said.

On Friday, King mailed a letter to Shepherd summoning him to Victoria this week to begin discussions on the strike stalemate.

King had told Shepherd in the letter he was unhappy that no progress had been made over two years in the dispute.

The 28 employees, seeking a first contract as members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, are seeking wages of $1.50 to $2 per hour, job security and fringe benefits.

Here's How It Should Look, Says Edwards

Rebuffed Designer Keeps Trying

Reid Project 'Mess' Hurts Edwards

Design consultant Allan Edwards believes it's never too late to change one's mind — and he is trying to persuade city council to do just that about the Reid Centre on Wharf Street.

Undeterred by earlier curt rebuffs from city hall, Edwards has submitted a sketch showing his ideas on how that part of the Inner Harbor could be developed.

★ ★ ★

His whole aim, Edwards said Monday, is to illustrate how the "beautiful old buildings" on the west side of Wharf could be complemented and enhanced by a structure that is not overpowering or out of keeping with the general character of the area.

Edwards, who is engaged on several major developments both in this country and in Europe, said he submitted the rendering to Mayor Peter Pollen three weeks ago but to date has received no acknowledgement.

"I'm not saying that this is the only solution, just that it's one alternative worth considering," he said. "No one I have spoken to so far seems to like what he (Vancouver developer J. A. Reid) wants to build there."

★ ★ ★

In Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal or other big cities the Reid project would be very compatible, but not in Victoria's harbor area with its "delightful European feeling."

In place of Reid's two curved towers separated by a circular plaza area, Edwards shows a 12-storey highrise with two wings adjoining at right angles to each other.

★ ★ ★

This hotel structure, sited well to the south of the property so as not to conceal the old buildings on Wharf, could utilize brick, wood and shake roofs to blend with the traditional fabric of Old Town, he suggests.

Edwards said all the hotel, residential and commercial components of Reid's proposed development could be accommodated in his concept without any sacrifice of density or return on investment.

Extending along the waterfront to the Johnson Street Bridge would be a system of alleyways, terraces and plazas, incorporating boutiques, townhouses and restaurants, similar to the attractive San Diego "Ports of Call" complex in California.

Repeating his earlier offer to city council, that he would be prepared to design that whole area of the Inner Harbor's redevelopment free of charge, Edwards said he did not think he was pursuing a hopeless cause.

Despite the fact that council had approved the Reid proposal, "I haven't given up because I feel this was an absolutely disastrous decision that was made.

"This is my home town, and I have a great affection for it, and it really hurts to see them make such a damn mess of it."

Edwards said he made enemies at city hall by writing to aldermen and expressing the opinion that they were not qualified to make decisions affecting the future of an area of such major importance to the city.

"They should have called in consultants, people who are authorities on this type of thing. It is not a decision that can be made by a council alone."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

'People Live in Houses'

MONTREAL (CP) — The guiding principle for governments planning facilities for the mentally retarded should be an obvious one that is often missed; that the retarded are people with the same rights and needs as other human beings, a Danish architect said Monday.

"The mentally retarded are people and people do not live in hospitals," Jens Malling Pedersen of Copenhagen told the International Congress on Mental Retardation. "People do not live in institutions or facilities.

"People live in houses."

Mr. Pedersen said the goal in his country, even as late as 1959, was that no institution should be larger than 800 residents. This has rapidly changed as medical researchers and educationists found that, with the right kind of help and the right kind of environment, mentally retarded persons could come close to leading so-called normal lives.

"Over the last years, we have planned nothing bigger than 200 to 250 residents," he said. "We are at the stage now where we appreciate that even this fairly limited number is to great to develop and cultivate a life for the mentally retarded.

Mr. Pedersen recommended that small homes for dormatory accommodation should be built around a centre where both residents and non-residents can go for treatment or therapy.

The centre should be a "working place," he said. There are advantages to the idea of the mentally retarded leaving their living place to go to a working place, just as there are for normal adults and children.

The present plan in Denmark, he said, calls for houses for 24 residents grouped around a treatment centre. These are divided into sections for six, so that a family-sized care centre is created.

When possible for both the minimally handicapped and the severely handicapped, the individual should have a private room, he said.

"Heavily handicapped people change considerably within weeks after their transfer to these houses. They slept better, their need for medicine and tranquillizers decreased considerably and their social relations . . . improved very much."

The planning of these homes has come to resemble more closely the normal home and costs can be reduced accordingly, he said. It was found, for example, the amount of plumbing could be reduced from the institution standards when this more home-like atmosphere was set up.

Mr. Pedersen said architects now are looking at other aspects of institutions that are carried over, without thought, into the homes. Such things as linoleum, considered easy to keep, might have other problems.

Text of Dr. Pedersen's remarks was available before delivery.

COMPLETING her month as a laborer helping to build the new sewage treatment plant at Penacook, N.H., is Mrs. Marsha Carlisle, 26. Asked about the Women's Liberation Movement, she replied, "I don't know anything about it. I'm just trying to raise two kids and make some money." Mrs. Carlisle is receiving wages of $4.20 per hour.

Many of our government departments are involved in interesting activities of which few of us have any idea. One of these is the design program within the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce.

A 12-page bilingual folder A Continuing Program For The Advancement of Canadian Design makes it clear that Canadian manufacturers need all possible assistance to compete successfully on the export market.

As an example the folder mentions the outstanding success of Canada's snowmobile industry. To achieve this, superior design practices were utilized at every stage from conception, to production and distribution.

To train competent Canadian designers, the department gives grants and scholarships for advanced study in various design disciplines. Financial assistance is also available for manufacturers to improve the design quality of their products. Also for manufacturers, the Office of Design keeps an up-to-date list of designers and design consultants who are experts in their field.

Interested readers may request this folder and further information from: Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce, Office of Design, Design Information Service, 112 Kent Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1A OH5.

A Glimpse of Autumn From Under the Fridge

It must be fall. Not only are my friends more relaxed because the kids are back in school but I find myself seized with my annual urge to clean under the refrigerator.

I know that it's all psychological. When I'm besieged on every side with the sight and smell of burning leaves and the sounds of muffled activity as robins pack to leave their nest in our chimney for their trek south, I suppose that it's only natural to feel guilty that the part of our nest that lies under the refrigerator hasn't been cleaned for a year.

The best cure that I've found for this fall-time attack of guilt is simply to lie down with my feet up and a cool cloth on my forehead and murmur, "This, too, shall pass." In addition, it helps to ask myself two pertinent questions:

Q: What exactly do you propose to do?

A: I propose to court a severe rupture by attempting to move a three-hundred-pound refrigerator in order to wipe up six ounces of ick that has accumulated underneath it. Unless I succeed regarding the rupture, I then propose to move the refrigerator back so that "it" can collect underneath it again.

Q: For whom do you propose to do this?

A: Obviously not for my family. My family is concerned only with what is in the refrigerator; I could store dead frogs underneath it for all they care. Even if I were to tell them about the hideous job I had cleaning it, and about the rupture and all, the only accolade I could expect from them would be a rather disinterested "UnHuh," if that.

By the time I have finished answering those two questions, I find that my pangs of conscience have vanished. Better to let another year or two of ick accumulate. By then we'll probably be moving, and the moving men can haul the refrigerator out while I stand poised with a damp cloth, ready to swoop up the refuse making little "Tsk, tsk, how did that get there?" noises. As if I didn't know.

Husband Only Turns On When TV Is Turned Off

DEAR ABBY: Ralph and I have been married for two years, and we are still very much in love, but here's our problem: Ralph is "scheduling" what used to be our most beautiful and romantic moments, and I don't like it. He says, "No romance until after Johnny Carson."

Abby, sometimes I don't want to stay up that late, because I have to be up at 6 a.m. sharp every day, but Ralph stays up to watch the whole show no matter who's on.

I think he's being selfish, and he thinks I'm being stubborn. I'd like your opinion. And in case you think this is a gag, I'm signing my full name, but please don't use it. Sign me — Sleepy Time Gal

DEAR GAL: If your husband isn't turned ON until Carson is turned off, you need more help than I can give you in a letter. I'm afraid the honeymoon is over when the boob beside you ignores you for the tube.

DEAR ABBY: As a supervisor in a typing pool, I have consistently informed my girls that there is no such word as "reoccur," and the word should be "recur." Now, to my horror, I find that you have used the word "reoccurring" in your column, and since you are an expert, I feel that there must be some basis for using the word, or you wouldn't have printed it in your column.

Please restore my faith in you, and inform your readers where we can find the word "reoccur." It does not appear in my copy of the American College Dictionary. Sincerely — Myrna.

DEAR MYRNA: You will find the word "reoccur" on page 1923 of The New Webster's Third International (unabridged) Dictionary. It's between "reoccupy" and "reoccurrence." I make my share of reoccurring errors, but this isn't one of them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HARRY IN DUXBURY: While the hereditary factor in baldness is of prime importance, I agree, proper hair care will help a man keep his hair longer. But let's not split hairs, Harry.

Archaic English: It's Alive Among the Kids

By SUSAN RUTTAN
Times Staff

Which do you say?

A. He snuck by when my back was turned.

B. He sneaked by when my back was turned.

University of Victoria linguists asked this question, and 103 questions like it, of Grade 9 students and their parents all across Canada in a survey completed this fall.

They found that 60 per cent of the students chose "snuck by", while only 30 per cent of their parents said "snuck by".

Where did Canadian children learn to use the word "snuck"?

They didn't invent it — the word has been used in parts of Britain for 400 years, according to Dr. Harry Scargill, head of the university's linguistics department and director of the survey. And most of them didn't learn it from their parents, because most of their parents don't say it.

"Youngsters seem to be preserving more English dialect forms than their parents," Dr. Scargill has concluded from the nation-wide survey. "They're preserving older forms of speech that their parents have forgotten."

The massive survey — soon to be published in Canada and the United States — showed many other examples of school children using archaic word forms.

More children than parents say "back of the house", an English dialect expression, instead of "behind the house", said Scargill. More children than parents say "He's to home" instead of "He's at home".

Disproves Theories

Children also used old English pronunciations more often than their parents, the survey showed.

Six per cent of children surveyed pronounced "home" as "hum", compared with five per cent of their parents. The pronunciation comes from 18th century England, said Scargill.

The discovery that children used more archaic forms of speech than their parents disproves many standard linguistic theories, said Scargill. Linguists had always thought that if you were looking for someone using old English expressions, you should find an old English-born farmer living in comparative isolation somewhere.

"We were quite surprised, as a matter of fact," Scargill said.

"The survey was designed to compare the speech of Grade 9ers all across the country with that of their parents," said Scargill. "What we wanted to know was, what's happening to Canadian English."

The survey, sponsored by the Canadian Council of Teachers of English and financed by a Canada Council grant, was organized by Scargill with the help of regional directors in each province. About 15,000 people replied to the questionnaire, which was distributed this spring. Results were analyzed by computer.

Scargill explains the discovery of children using more old word forms by saying these words are passed on by the oral tradition, just as ancient nursery rhymes and games are. Each generation of children passes the words along to the next.

"Then when they grow up and become adults, they begin to conform," he said. They drop word usages they learned as children because they are considered "bad grammar".

In their conclusion to the survey, Scargill and his colleagues said, "One might . . . suggest that young people, having a more primitive, a more natural connection with the culture than adults have, may also have a 'feeling' for the appropriateness of some of the older forms of the language."

The idea of comparing the speech of children and their parents is a new one to linguistics, said Scargill. Normally speech is compared between urban and rural people, or between different economic classes, he said.

Women Conservative

The survey showed that girls and women are more conservative in their speech, tending to prefer standard usage more often than men, said Scargill.

The linguistics department will continue to analyze the data from the survey to find out how a person's grammar, pronunciation and vocabulary are determined by what province they were born in.

Bureau Aims To Blow Cover Off Quackery

New York Times

NEW YORK — Eleanor Morello's right thigh was wrapped in a beige bandage. She was helping out at a news conference called by the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York to "blow the cover off" so-called fraudulent reducing devices.

It was the beginning of a new bureau campaign against "medical quackery," in which the American public is bilked out of between $2 billion and $10 billion a year, according to Woodrow Wirsig, bureau president.

"The nation is being swept with gadgets and pills and body wraps that claim to take inches off a person's body without the difficult regimen of diet and exercise," he said at the bureau's headquarters here.

"But since the claims for these products and techniques have never been proved," he added, "the Better Business Bureau considers them deceptive and their advertising misleading to the public."

Wirsig read his statement near a wall that was plas- such hings as inflaabl plastered with advertisements for plastic "Trim Jeans," sauna belts, pills, creams and body wraps, all of which promised miraculous weight and-or inch losses for their customers.

Wirsig said the bureau was especially annoyed by the body wrap — a system of wrapping bandages dipped in a chemical solution around those parts of the body that need reduction. So the slender, dark-haired Miss Morello, normally a bureau secretary, was pressed into service to show how the wraps are applied to various parts of the anatomy.

"Elastic bandages are used in the body wrap," Wirsig said in the angry tone he used throughout the news conference. "These bandages have also been called tapes, glamour cloths and mummy wraps, and they all claim or imply to have a secret formula in a solution that brings about girth reduction. Most of the time this secret formula is Epsom Salts."

Wirsig admitted that no tests had been made on humans to see whether the wraps actually would take inches off the body.

The medical consensus was that the only way a person could successfully lose weight and inches was by "not putting so much food in (the body), and putting more energy out."

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU of Metropolitan New York is trying to expose so-called fraudulent reducing devices that allegedly bilk consumers out of $2 billion to $10 billion a year. A body wrap is demonstrated on Eleanor Morelle at the BBB news conference.

David Ruff, executive director of the Better Business Bureau of Greater Newark, held up a bottle of something called Formula XR-6, which promises the purchaser that he will lose 61 pounds if he puts two capfuls of the product in his bath, and does the same thing for five successive baths.

After the laughter had subsided, Ruff commented: "There are 700 people out there who aren't laughing because they put money into it."

HE SOLD SHOES, WON HEARTS

The Washington Post

The man who as Buster Brown began promoting children's shoes more than 60 years ago, and won his way into the hearts of countless youngsters, is dead.

He was Edmond Ansley, of Hugo, Okla., a 4-foot-2-inch tall midget, who was once a trademark for the Brown Shoe Co. of St. Louis. He died in a Gainsville, Tex., hospital apparently from a heart attack last Tuesday. He was 84.

Ansley toured the U.S. for 27 years, from 1910 to 1937, publicizing Buster Brown children's shoes, and was a famous and popular figure all those years.

He was a picturesque, if somewhat grotesque, figure. He wore a blond wig, red suit and hat, blue tie, knickers and a white shirt with what became known as the "Buster Brown collar."

The collar was a tight and draping thing that he later confessed could "choke you to death." The wig was dutch cut, and many children demanded dutch cuts as well as the shoes.

He used to criss-cross the country, handing out candy and clowning with children to sell Buster Brown shoes. He travelled always with a Boston Terrior named "Tige."

But Tige was five dogs. Most of them lived only a few years, Ansley said, usually dying of distemper — sometimes within the 10 months of every year he spent on the road.

Buster was big stuff. Back in 1920, the late, famed and notorious Mayor James Curley of Boston gave him the key to the city. Standing beside Buster was one of the five Tiges, also strangely costumed.

"Tige and I worked practically every county seat in the nation and a lot of towns that weren't county seats," Ansley said in an interview two years ago.

The advertising people obviously thought a lot of Buster and his dog, for in one promotional advertisement showing Mayor Curley and Buster and Tige, they had this to say:

"We reproduce this picture to show the character and dignity of this form of advertising and to leave this thought with you — when called upon for a list of customers for Buster Brown receptions, do not forget that this is a high-grade attraction and that we cannot afford to send Buster to little burgs or to customers who are handling 'Dick, Tom and Harry's' children's shoes."

After his job with the shoe company ended, Ansley returned to his home town of Hugo. During the Second World War he was secretary-manager of the Choctaw Chamber of Commerce in Hugo, where Ansley Park was named in his honor.

Through all those years when Buster Brown was a going concern, children, and even adults, used to chant a litle ditty that went like this:

That's my dog, Tige,
I'm Buster Brown,
Look for me in there, too.
He lives in a shoe.

Airplane Firms Join in Europe

TORONTO (CP) — A British businessman predicted Monday that United States manufacturers of airplanes soon will face stiff competition from large, trans-European companies formed through mergers.

David Nicolson, chairman of the British Airways Group, told a British travel workshop here that the enlarged European Economic Community "will be much the same size and power as the United States."

Donors, Patients Meet At Transplant Conference

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — More than 500 transplant patients gathered here for the world's first international symposium on the "human aspects" of organ transplanation.

The meeting was conceived by Dr. Samuel L. Kountz, a transplant surgeon at the University of California Medical Centre. He felt the experiences of donors and patients would be of value to both doctors and the public.

One of the transplant patients was John Riteris, now a philosophy professor at the University of Indiana.

Fourteen years ago he was a college flunk-out who was ready to die.

Then doctors told him a kidney-transplant might save him.

"I decided I'd just as soon look at some attractive nurses as a lot of mourning relatives," Riteris, 36, said.

"For two years I'd known the game was over. After the transplant I had to readjust to the bloody fact that I'd have to live for a while longer."

The kidney, donated by Riteris' brother, was transplanted in Boston in 1959. Riteris is one of the longest-term survivors among the world's 4500 living transplants patients.

The shortages of donors and money are both acute.

"Not all the barriers to transplant are scientific," Riteris said.

Death Car Speeding Crash Witness Claims

A car which slammed into another at Fort and Oak Bay March 5, killing one man and injuring five others, was travelling at a high rate of speed, a witness testified Monday.

Wayne Trueman, 25, is charged with criminal negligence in the death of Ronald Morriss, 21, of 2720 Foul Bay Road.

His trial opened Monday before Mr. Justice Peter Donald Seaton and a jury of 10 men and two women in B.C. Supreme Court.

The witness, Brian Murphy, 2126-A Spring Road, said he saw the car coming "relatively rapidly" along Fort while the Datsun containing Morris and four others was stopped at the junction.

He estimated the speed of the moving car at 60 M.P.H. and said it appeared to be "neither braking nor accelerating at the time of the accident."

RAINING HARD

Murphy said it was raining hard and was dark at the time of the fatal collision.

Morriss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Morriss, died after brain surgery about 9 a.m. at Royal Jubilee Hospital, eight hours after the accident.

Hurt were Trueman; Morriss's brother Alan, 17; Mark McLeod, 18, of 2154 Windsor; David Anderson, 17, of 2671 Dufferin, and Timothy Soutiere, 19, of 1189 Roslyn.

Murphy said he was returning from a delivery for the pizza restaurant he works for and was stopped at the Pandora light at the multiple intersection.

PARTS OF CARS

Victoria Police Constable Douglas Richardson said the intersection was "almost entirely" covered with debris after the crash, including broken glass "and parts of the automobiles."

Richardson said ambulance attendants were treating Morriss at the scenne when he arrived about five minutes after the collision.

Another eyewitness said the collision was a double one.

Bert Zala, 933 Wilmer, was on his way home from a Victoria West orchestra engagement. He was stopped in the inside lane on Fort at the intersection, to the right and one car behind the Morris Datsun.

"I heard the roar of the motor . . . then the collision which drove the Datsun into the intersection," Zala testified.

"The bigger car hit the Datsun twice. The first time it drove it into the intersection, then the (second car) seemed to gather momentum and hit (the Datsun) into the curb."

The witness said the traffic light facing his car and the fatal car turned green after the collision. Under cross-examination by defence counsel Harold Turnham," however, Zala said he "wouldn't like to swear what color the lights were."

Zala also contradicted Murphy's weather evidence, testifying that driving conditions at the time of the accident were "nothing out of the ordinary."

The trial continued today.

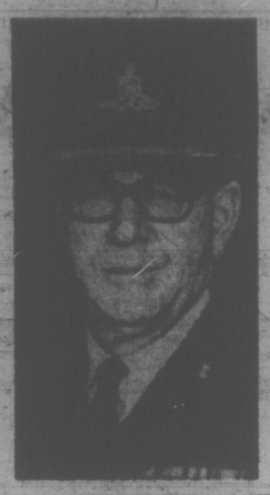
Ugandans Arrive In Bombay

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The first group of Indians expelled from Uganda arrived here by ship today.

Most were penniless and many told stories of torture by Ugandan soldiers.

The Indian government estimates about 4,500 Indian passport holders will return to India.

Among today's arrivals were two Asians holding British passports. India has agreed to a British proposal to grant transit facilities to persons in this category.



NEW DEPUTY commander of Militia Area Pacific at CFB Esquimalt is Col. J. P. Beer, 52, of Charlottetown, P.E.I. He replaces Lt.-Col. William Remple, who is retiring from the armed forces and will live in Victoria. Beer's last duty in British Columbia was in 1948, when he helped fight the Fraser River floods.

DISEASE YELLOWS PALMS

MIAMI (AP) — South Florida's stately coconut palms are being threatened with extinction by a mysterious plant disease which turns palm fronds to a jaundiced yellow "almost overnight."

The highly contagious disease, called "lethal yellowing" by plant experts, was first detected on Florida's mainland in September, 1971, when trees in Coral Gables began turning yellow.

"It has spread 20-fold since it was discovered last year," says Dr. Randy McCowy, agriculture scientist for the University of Florida.

NDP Will Keep 'Embassies'

Provincial "embassies" in London, San Francisco and Los Angeles will continue to operate under the new NDP government, but with an improved format, Travel Industry Minister Ernie Hall said Monday.

Hall said the government "likes the idea" of B.C. House in the three cities but "what we want to do is make them better."

"The dissemination of information about B.C. could be improved," he said, adding that he favors "things intangible rather than tangible."

Hall calls himself a "joint tenant" in the three B.C. House, along with Trade Minister Alex Macdonald. The staffs of the two ministers are invilved, he said, in a re-evaluation of the roles to be played by the provincial centres.

Included in the studies will be the location of film-making facilities, creative workshops and an effort to co-ordinate more closely the functions of the tourist industry in B.C.

"I am not interested in growth for growth's sake," Hall said, "although I suppose that is getting into another minister's domain."

He said the province will have to take a close look at how many tourists are to be let into the province, although he said it is not his intention to keep people away.

Socreds' Last Moves Investigated

Provincial Secretary Ernie Hall has his staff examining orders-in-council passed by the former Social Credit government in its last two weeks in office.

Hall told reporters Monday he is taking the action to ensure that everything passed by the Socred cabinet in the post-election days is legitimate government business.

"In the short time that I have been at my desk, I have realized that that last two weeks of the outgoing government need investigation," Hall said.

"I asked my staff to present me with all the orders-in-council passed . . . quite properly and quire correctly in terms of authority and the various orders under which we operate.

"I just want to know what was going on. If you had just bought a new house, wouldn't you like to know what the previous owner had done to it?" he said.

Hall said his action was not taken because of the request by former government members for orders-in-council appointing several of them to posts in the opposition party's offices, but that he had done it on his own as provincial secretary.

"Let's put it in normal business practice. I want to find out what the previous boss did."

FIRST SESSION OPEN TO PUBLIC

The public galleries of the legislature will be open as usual for visitor wishing to attend the opening ceremonies of the special session Oct. 17, Provincial Secretary Ernie Hall said Monday.

Hall said the seats will be available on a first-come first-served basis. Seats on the floor of the legislature will be limited to a few dignitaries.

"This is to be a special session to discuss specific items of business, and therefore ceremonies are being kept to a minimum," Hall said.

Few Sign Up for Course

Enrolment has been slow in a series of night classes specially designed for Saanich school district's 79 substitute elementary school teachers.

Adult education director Frank Baxter is hoping more part-timers will take advantage of the new updating course which costs $12 and starts at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Royal Oak School.

"We have enough people to start the course, but we'd certainly like to see more of the substitutes coming. Many of them have not received training for many years," he said.

A series of eight sessions has been devised, which covers the complete elementary curriculum and school and class management.

Remember the Fleetwood check list when you shop for Color TV.

There are only eight things worth looking for (and paying extra for) in Color TV. Most manufacturers put most of them in their high-priced models—and they put some of them in their low-priced models. But no-one has so many of them in models priced as low as ours. And that's something you can easily check for yourself.

PICTURE QUALITY FEATURES:

1.	A "Natural Color" Picture Tube.	(Some picture tubes produce very bright, overly dramatic colors. But Fleetwood's SuperColor and TruColor Picture Tubes are both designed to make colors softer, more natural. In the long run, you'll be much happier with color like that.)
2.	Automatic Picture Tuning.	(We call it Total Picture Lok. It's a simple push-bar that controls and balances Color, Tint, Contrast, Brightness and Fine Tuning—automatically finds the best picture your set is capable of receiving on each channel. If you buy a set with this very worthwhile feature, you won't need the next three features. They're already included.)
3.	Automatic Color Tuning.	(It combines the functions of Automatic Tint Control and Automatic Fine Tuning—which between them determine the quality of the Color you get on each channel. We call it Total Color Lok. And if it's on the set you choose, you won't need the next two features.)
4.	Automatic Tint Control.	(We call it Tint Lok. What it does is automatically adjust color values. So if a series of greenish faces suddenly appear on your screen, you can just switch to Automatic Tint Control instead of trying to make the adjustment manually).
5.	Automatic Fine Tuning.	(It works like a push-button radio. You tune each station just once and your TV set "remembers" for itself after that. We call our AFT control Color Lok.)

RELIABILITY FEATURES:

6.	A Solid State Chassis.	(That's usually taken to mean a chassis that's at least 90% solid state. Transistors replace old-fashioned vacuum tubes in a solid state chassis—and transistors run cooler and thus eliminate overheating problems.)
7.	Plug-in Transistors.	(Because they're easier, faster and cheaper to replace than the solder-in kind. Fleetwood is the only manufacturer to use plug-in transistors right throughout the circuitry).
8.	A Solid State Voltage Booster.	(It boosts house current up to the high voltages needed to operate Color TV. You'll still find bulky and relatively unreliable voltage "cages" in some sets. They take up a lot of space and give off a lot of heat. Avoid them.)

Council Visitors Decline Offer To Solve Knotty Lane Problem

Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis Monday night gave students from Reynolds Junior Secondary School a chance to be Solomons in solving a knotty problem involving their peers.

But not one took the challenge.

Aldermen for the second time since June faced a request to close a pedestrian lane giving access to Lansdowne Junior Secondary from Taylor Street, tossing the matter back and forth with a couple of residents who complained to council of vandalism, littering and bad language adjoining the lane.

Without reaching a decision aldermen paused a moment allowing the mayor to remark:

"By coincidence we have children here from another school" — more than a dozen from Reynolds attending to see how council conducts its business.

"I wonder if they have any suggestions?"

No one spoke, but from that point aldermen took a more positive approach and the first to uphold the lane was Ald. Leslie Passmore, who said it was "obviously a convenience — more than 200 pupils a day use it."

He suggested the matter be taken up with the school principal and students be advised of the problem they are causing.

Curtis offered to go with Passmore to appear before the student council, and Ald. Edith Gunning said if the matter can be solved by co-operation, "so much the better, but I'm not entirely convinced we can't move the lane."

"There would be chaos if we closed the lane now," said Ald. Alan Newberry. "There would be quadruple the trouble residents have now," and added:

"Children are sensitive and I suspect there has been some neighbor harassment across those fences and they have retaliated."

Council agreed to send Curtis and Passmore to meet the students and administrator is Lansdowne and report to council.

Complaint of the lane came originally from E. A. Kathol, 1766 Taylor, who was told last summer council felt the lane should remain.

Appearing before aldermen, Kathol said he found it hard to believe council failed to act on a police recommendation to close the lane.

He had told council in a letter he felt it was the duty of aldermen to help solve the problem and that council had disposed of the matter prematurely. Kathol also said he had expected to be told when the matter was coming before council to give him and others a chance to attend, and that aldermen should have visited the site.

"That is quite a belligerent letter, sir," Curtis told him, denying that council had disposed of the issue prematurely.

A former resident of a house on the other side of the lane, Hector McDonald, 1776 Taylor, told aldermen as many as 50 or 60 youngsters congregate in the lane before school in the mornings, smoking, littering and "hanging about."

Saanich Votes $40,000 For Royal Oak Gymnasium

The municipality's $40,000 share of a new gymnasium at Royal Oak Junior Secondary School was formally approved by Saanich council Monday.

First new undertaking of its kind for Saanich joint school-community recreation facilities, the details were worked out by municipal and School District 63 representatives and were approved earlier.

Council also approved a finance committee recommendation to contribute $4,150 as the Saanich share toward operating costs of Centennial Stadium at University of Victoria, a joint undertaking with Oak Bay and Victoria.

Aldermen approved renewal of the agreement for a further five years, with provision for 5 per cent year escalation of the Saanich contribution.

A grant of $100 to Saanich Oratorio Choir was passed as assistance to a group founded mainly of Saanich people which has had to borrow from a bank to meet expenses $350 more than budgeted.

A $1,000 grant recommended for Mt. Douglas Court Society, which will end the year $3,000 in deficit, also was approved, with Mayor Hugh Curtis opposed on grounds that it sets a precedent for other worthy groups.

Ald. Edith Gunning argued this situation stands alone because the municipality helped produce the problem by revising the philanthropic society's tax assessment after rents were set for the year.

It also is the only society of its kind in the municipality, drawn to Saanich by encouragement of council's lands and housing committee, which helped find a building site.

The society houses persons with incomes ranging up to about $5,000 a year but receives no government grants for the service.

Gordon Head Density Not Alarming--Curtis

Planned and existing apartment development in Gordon Head area is not yet cause for concern, Mayor Hugh Curtis said at Saanich council Monday.

He was commenting on a brief report by planner Tom Loney on Gordon Head apartment activity in which he showed in the area between Feltham, Shelbourne, Gordon Head and McKenzie four existing apartments, two areas where zoning will permit apartments not yet developed, and two areas where apartment zoning has been proposed.

"The situation is not alarming. I do not find this too heavy (in density)," Curtis said, considering the university campus adjoins.

"There are a lot of people who are alarmed," replied Ald. William Noel, who posed the question of Loney originally. "I think we should keep this area under strict control."

"Don't deliberately misunderstand me," the mayor came back. "I am not alarmed by the amount of development there of planned."

It was also drawn to council's attention that another adjoining area, bounded by Finnerty, Arbutus, Gordon Head and Sinclair — north of the university campus — is being studied for possible designation as a development area.

Loney said alternate uses are being considered for this area, which is a combination of undeveloped land and single family dwellings, except for an apartment, a school, a service station and a church.

Wilson Draws Cheers

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Former prime minister Harold Wilson warned today that public opinion will demand the withdrawal of British troops from Northern Ireland unless private armies are swiftly disarmed in the embattled province.

The Opposition Labor party leader said the Irish situation is worsening and once more there are real fears of civil war.

He urged new talks between all British and northern and southern Irish parties "to consider the implications of a move to a united Ireland."

Wilson roused the annual party convention with a call for unity to meet what he portrayed as Britain's mounting economic and political crisis.

This trouble can be cured only by an early general election, he said.

The 1,200 delegates gave him a standing ovation, suggesting his often-criticized leadership is not under immediate challenge even though some of his policies remain under fierce attack.

DUNCAN — The problem of overcrowded classrooms within the Cowichan School District may be alleviated by mid-October, chairman Dave Bradbury said after a meeting with Education Minister Eileen Dailly.

Bradbury said that after his meeting with Mrs. Dailly Monday morning in Victoria, he feels confident something will be done to overcome the crowded classrooms as well as improve the busing situation here.

Mrs. Dailly has asked Cowichan School District, as well as all other school districts in the province, to submit a report by Friday to the deputy education minister on classroom conditions.

Bradbury said he received his letter, dated Sept. 29, immediately prior to meeting the minister. She has promised that her department will study the reports so that staffing adjustments can be carried out by Oct. 15, Bradbury said.

He explained that the school district had to cut eight elementary and four secondary teachers this year in order to work within the 108 per cent budget.

"This has forced up class sizes along with the influx of additional students. This has created an overcrowded situation which leaves a learning situation far from ideal," Bradbury said.

The education minister asked Bradbury to have a brief on the school district's busing program for her to study. She will also study a report on the concern for children crossing the Trans-Canada Highway at the Koksilah School.

Bradbury said that he, along with secretary-treasurer Geoff Dyson, superintendent Harry McKirdy, maintenance supervisor George Routley, director of elementary education Bob Moss and transportation chairman Lorne Campbell, also asked the minister to have the gasoline tax taken off fuel used for buses.

"We feel that the educational tax dollar should be used for education and not taken from one pocket to another to end up in general revenue," Bradbury said.

The minister promised to discuss the matter with the ministers involved.

Girl Hurt In Mishap

MILL BAY — A 14-year-old Mill Bay student is in poor condition in Victoria General hospital after she was struck by a car Monday afternoon.

Shawnigan Lake RCMP said Brenda Smythe was hit while walking home from school along Cobble Hill Road, Mill Bay, at 3:20 p.m.

Driver of the car was Gail Loughbridge, 31, of Happy Valley Road, Victoria.

Saanich Couple Injured

An 89-year-old Saanich man, who had his first automobile accident in 68 years of driving Monday, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with his wife after their car was in a head-on collision with another vehicle.

Oak Bay police said Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dalzell, 5991 West Saanich, were travelling east on Burdick. They crossed the intersection of Dunlevy and collided with a northbound car on Dunlevy driven by Frederick Manson, 19, of 1871 Townley, at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Dalzell suffered broken ribs and a possible skull fracture while her husband suffered a broken collarbone and cuts to the scalp. Manson was slightly hurt, police said.

Hospital officials described Dalzell's condition as "fairly good" and his wife's as "fair."

Police said Dalzell's driver's licence, issued in 1904, is probably one of the oldest still being used.

COURSE OFFERED EMPLOYEES

DUNCAN — The Downtown Businessmen's Association here hopes to create a better quality of service in Duncan stores by having employees take an orientation course.

The course, which is sponsored by the association in conjunction with the Malaspina Regional College in Nanaimo, starts today and will continue for four consecutive Tuesdays at the Tzouhalem Hotel.

Downtown association president Dick McEwan said the course is filled.

"The purpose of the orientation course is to enable employees to have a better understanding of business and his role in the company," McEwan said.

Noise War On Model Planes

The recorded whine of model airplane engines echoed through Central Saanich council chambers Monday as a second battle started between residents and Victoria Radio Control Modellers' Club.

The club meets on a Puckle Road polo field east of Pat Bay Highway and 12 residents at nearby Turgoose Point, headed by Lannie Yee, 2660 Island View, have petitioned against the noise.

Council also received a letter from Ronald B. Worley, another nearby resident, who objected strongly to club activities, saying that members make no attempt to cooperate and appear arrogant.

Last fall Victoria Modellers used a polo field on East Saanich Road and after protests from neighbors were asked to move.

Club president Fred Pickard told council Monday that mufflers are used to cut down engine noise and that flying hours are carefully observed. The club attracts many young people, said Pickard, and hopes to become a permanent feature on the Victoria scene.

Yee, who made the recording of engines' noise, compared the annoyance to mosquitoes, and said, "Consideration for others makes the difference between civilized and uncivilized man."

Ald. Jean Butler told council she had visited the petitioners and discovered that with the exception of Yee and Worley there was no great objection to the noise. Mrs. Butler suggested that most people had signed the petition to satisfy a neighbor.

Fireworks Ban Called 'Protective Nonsense'

The federal government's edict that fireworks can only be used by licensed persons is "the biggest piece of protective nonsense I've hears in a long time," Ald. Brian Smith told Oak Bay council Monday.

Smith, who brought the matter before council, said the regulations will preveent him from holding a fireworks display for his children in his own backyard.

"This is the same government that seems to think that criminals in jail for serious crimes should be out on leave and parole and is not interested in protecting us in that area," Smith said.

"Now it is going to protect us in this area of innocent fireworks. This is a lot of paternalistic nonsense."

Smith predicted the price of fireworks, which will be sold only to people with certificates of competency, will double.

"The already cost three times what they are worth," he said.

Ald. John Goult agreed. "For the federal government to concern itself with such tripe — I find it quite pathetic."

HEARING OCT. 16 ON YACHT CLUB

A public hearing will be held by Oak Bay council at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 16 on bylaw regulations governing the property of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

On Ald. Douglas McLelland's recommendation Monday night, council agreed the club should be required to provide 60 per cent parking for all boat berths available. The council has set a maximum of 250 berths. This would require a total of 150 parking places. The new bylaw also requires that this could be increased to 66 per cent if it was found necessary.

Another bylaw that received the first three readings Monday increases the minimum size of lots in certain areas from 11,000 to 12,000 square feet.

Questioned after the meeting, Mayor Frances Elford said the areas affected would be in the vicinity of Newport and Island and the east side of Beach Drive south of the Victoria Golf Club.

McLelland was adamant Monday that developer W. Bentley be made to conform with zoning regulations in regard to an apartment house he is building at 1450 Beach.

In an in-camera session of the zoning committee Sept. 27, the committee was advised that the proposed elevator tower of the building would measure 16 foot six inches above the roof. The bylaw required a maximum of five feet above the roof.

McLelland said Monday, "In order to preserve the integrity of our bylaw Bentley should fully conform with the existing regulations just as we are asking other applicants to do."

Apple Co-op Formed

Vancouver Island apple growers have formed a co-operative to market and sell their apples.

The organization, known as the V.I. Tree Fruit Co-operative Association, has 15 members, mostly residing on the Saanich Peninsula and the Cowichan Valley.

"As an organized group we hope to get better prices for our apples," said Bob McMurtry, secretary. "Our apples are as good as those grown on the mainland."

He said this year's crop is not as heavy as last year due to frost and cold weather conditions during blossoming time last spring. The Island's average crop is about 20,000 boxes.

The association's president is Jack Harris of Duncan.

Tax Load Blamed on Baby Boom

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Federal Labor Minister Martin O'Connell said Monday night Canadians are shouldering a heavy tax burden because persons born just after the Second World War "are at the most expensive stage of education at the moment — secondary and post secondary."

"To be honest, I don't think Canadians can expect much relief until those young people are working," Mr. O'Connell told a meeting of about 100 persons.

The labor minister said the unemployment situation in Canada was caused partly by the "post-war baby boom" and by the increased numbers of women looking for work.

On the subject of American ownership of companies located in Canada, Mr. O'Connell said:

"We have to reverse the trend in foreign ownership. We have to diversify, try to develop and participate with the Americans in foreign markets.

"We will have to sell more manufactured and processed goods than in the past."

Freeways Bypass Need: Study

WINNIPEG (CP) — The freeway system of highways often skirts around the actual transportation needs of most of the people, a convention was told Monday.

Norman Worsley, a traffic consultant with a Victoria firm, said studies have shown that a high percentage of highway traffic is short-distance local travel.

"There is much less traffic going from one major centre to another than most people would judge."

But the emphasis on freeways, with towns passed by, meant that "most small communities are being short-changed."

Worsley, speaking to the Roads and Transportation Association of Canada, said many communities want tourists to come downtown.

He said freeways often generate traffic, with a result that businesses build up around the bypasses and the original purpose is thwarted.

Instead of freeways, which become clogged with people who go out of their way to use them, a grid system of arterial routes should be developed.

Worsley said in an interview the American freeway system is a poor model for Canada to follow, and has accelerated the depletion of small town population.

"The American interstate freeway system is based on the wrong premise. They have ripped the countryside apart."

TRADESMEN SEEK JOINT BARGAINING

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Representatives of B.C.'s 18 building trades unions have approved in principle joint bargaining with the Construction Labor Relations Association, representing 840 contractors in the province.

A three-day convention of the B.C.-Yukon Building Trades Council authorized the executive to prepare a report on the feasibility of joint bargaining.

Six of the larger unions entered joint negotiations towards the end of the three-month construction tie-up earlier this year. In the past, the unions had each negotiated separately.

Cy Stairs was elected secretary-treasurer of the council, replacing Ed Fay who had held the post for the past 4½ years.

Surgeons Get Light Touch With Laser-Beam 'Scalpel'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An invisible laser beam that cuts more sharply than any scalpel has been used successfully to remove dead skin from burn victims and repair damaged internal organs in animals, medical researchers report.

Dr. James Fidler, director of the University of Cincinnati, Medical Centre's laser laboratory, discussed his research team's new surgical laser at the opening of the College of Surgeons annual clinical congress here Monday.

Fidler said the technique uses an electric arc to excite molecules of carbon dioxide gas until they send out a beam of intense, highly focused, and coherent radiation.

When aimed at tissue through a microscope, this laser beam's bursts of invisible light produces a spot of heat less than a hundredth of an inch deep, enabling it to cut more precisely than any scalpel, Fidler said.

The laser has been used on four severely damaged burn patients to vaporize dead, unwanted skin instantly and without any bleeding, the study reported. The excised area was so clean that skin grafts took more quickly than after conventional surgery, Fidler said.

He said experiments on animals give hope the laser will be useful in surgery to repair vital organs such as the liver, which now frequently causes death after rupturing because they contain an extremely high number of blood vessels.

Bursts of radiation from the carbon dioxide beam were used to slice away damaged liver tissue in dogs, Fidler said. The laser neatly severed and sealed the end of each blood vessel, reducing bleeding by half.

The beam also completely vaporized the dead tissue, leaving no surgical debris at the site of the operation and thus greatly reducing the risk of infection, Fidler said.

Police Patrol Picket Line To Halt Rock Throwing

MACKENZIE (CP) — RCMP Monday began regular patrols of a picket line set up by striking Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada after reports that two cars crossing the picket line were stoned.

Carl Axelsen, an employee of H. A. Simons International Ltd., engineering consultants to strike-bound B.C. Forest Products Ltd., said pickets hammered on the roof of his car and threw rocks at it.

"There were two cars stopped in the road," he said. "I went around them and rocks were thrown at my car. Pebbles were thrown at the windshield, nicking it.

"They (pickets) hammered on the roof and trunk and dented the car when they threw a big rock."

P. V. Frith, works products manager for BCFP, said the canopty window on another man's truck was broken by a rock thrown when he drove through the picket line.

An RCMP spokesman said police had decided to make regular patrols of the line "to make sure there is no harassment."

About 300 members of the PPWC last week struck the BCFP stud mill and sawmill located in an industrial park. The walkout erupted over a contract dispute.

At one point, a total of about 600 men, including employees of other firms located in the industrial park, were off the job. But all but BCFP operations returned to normal by the end of the week after the other firms agreed that no materials would be supplied to the company.

About 350 members of the International Woodworkers of America employed at a Finlay Forest Industries sawmill in the park have not been affected by the dispute.

Meantime, all but about 25 of the 150 construction trade unionists building a new BCFP pulp mill at the site Monday ignored the BCFP picket line. Only a small number of construction workers actually had to cross the line to get to their jobs since most are housed within the industrial park.

NDP Drafts Views

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Representatives of seven New Democratic Party northern constituency associations met here Saturday to endorse more than 100 resolutions to be presented to the party's provincial convention in Vancouver late in November. Among the motions were resolutions calling for a provincial department of fisheries and the environment, lower royalties per acre for small timber operators and marketing borad improvements.

Heroin Haul

SURREY (CP) — Four persons were charged Monday with possession of heroin for the purpose of trafficking following the seizure of about two pounds of the drug with an estimated street value of $250,000. Ronald William Peppin, 39, of Surrey, Shirley Ann Johnson, 39, of Haney, Jean Ann Thomas, 28, of Surrey and John William Bowen, 26, of Vancouver, were charged.

Strike Vote Asked

PENTICTION (CP) — About 160 civic workers will be asked Thursday to authorize a strike vote in order to bring contract negotiations with the city to a head. The workers, members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, have been without a contract since Dec. 31.

Planning Bids Urged

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of British Columbia Hydro, suggested Monday that Vancouver should hold a world-wide competiton to come up with a master plan for development of the city. Dr. Shrum told the Vancouver Board of Trade that the city's dowtown core looks like a disaster area being rebuilt.

Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most important—this improvement was maintained in cases where clinical observations were continued over a period of many months. Furthermore, these tests and observations were made on patients with a wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. All this was accomplished with a healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a stated cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Barrett at 42 'Fighting Flesh'

"Two hundred pounds of fighting flesh" became 42 years old Monday.

That is another way of saying that B.C.'s rugby-playing premier, Dave Barrett, celebrated his 42nd birthday Monday.

The quotation comes from a press release handed to reporters Monday, announcing that Barrett will "participate" in an international rugby game this Saturday at Brockton Oval in Vancouver.

The occasion is a game between the Vancouver Old Stylers and the Wak Wak Rugby Club of Japan. Both teams will be composed of players 40 years and older.

The press release said Barrett — "200 pounds of fighting flesh" — will play fullback for the Old Stylers. Barrett's previous international experience in rugby, it said, was gained with Vancouver Ex-Brits and the St. Louis, Missouri, "Saints."

Barrett said he had no words of wisdom for the province on the occasion of his 42nd birthday, other than that he is "happy that I made it."

Asked if he plans to carry the ball much in Saturday's game against the Japanese, Barrett said, patting his ample stomach, "I'm carrying one already."

The premier said he has sent a letter of welcome to the Japanese ' 'and I put a postscript on the bottom saying I will be bringing them my personal greetings."

Original Member Of Group of 7 Has No Illusions

KLEINBURG, Ont. (CP) — A. Y. Jackson, only living member of the original Group of Seven, celebrates his 90th birthday Monday, frail but alert and looking forward to his 100th.

Sitting comfortably in a rocking chair an admirer gave him 50 years ago, his famous Georgian Bay hat atop his thinning white hair, Dr. Jackson said slowly: "I'm not going to live forever — I don't have any illusions about that."

"But I'd like to be 100," he said, the words slightly impaired by a stroke three years ago. "Every so often you hear about someone making it."

Governor-General Roland Michner, in a letter addressed to "My dear A.Y.," said: "To reach one's tenth decade is a very considerable achievement, and to do so in the full enjoyment of life is even better."

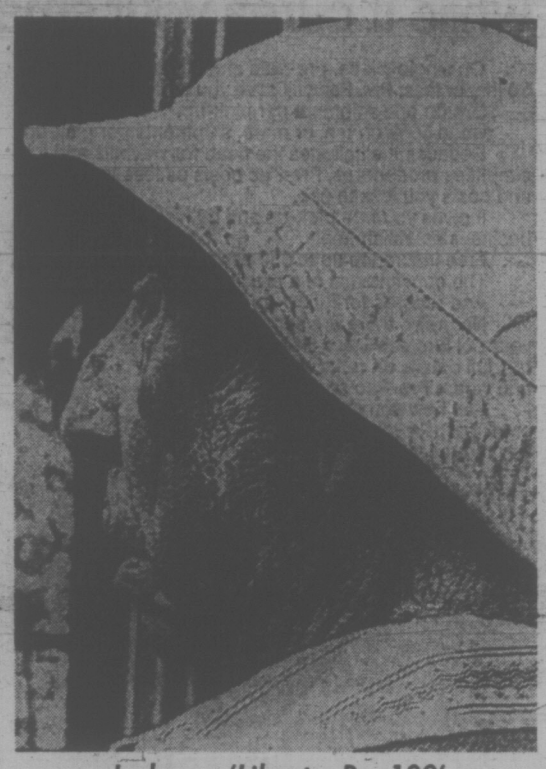
Michener, a long-time friend and admirer, applauded Dr. Jackson's "great contributions to Canadian painting and to its wider appreciation."

Prime Minister Trudeau sent his personal secretary to Toronto with a birthday message, and Jack McNie, Ontario's new colleges and universities minister, will be in Kleinburg to congratulate Dr. Jackson.

But because of his declining health in the past two months, requiring hospital treatment in Toronto and full-time nursing care since, Dr. Jackson will spend the day quietly in his studio apartment here.

An Ontario lake, to be called A. Y. Jackson Lake, will by officially named after the man who half a century ago was being damned by the public and critics alike for art they thought similar to "the innards of a drunkard's stomach."

The lake, in Killarney Township near Georgian Bay, is part of an area that Dr. Jackson loved then as now, as "my favorite place — I'd like to go back there now."



Jackson: 'Like to Be 100'

Expulsion Date Stands: Amin

KAMPALA (Reuter) — President Idi Amin has told Zaire's President Mobutu Sese Seko his three-month decline for the expulsion of non-citizen Asians from Uganda will not be changed.

Radio Uganda quoted Amin as saying: "The three months' deadline for the expulsion of the non-citizen Asians still stands, and the sooner they leave Uganda the better for Uganda and her citizens."

The radio said he was briefing the Zaire leader on Uganda's "economic war" to transfer the control of its economy into the hands of indigenous Africans.

"The Asians' stay in Uganda is no longer pleasant to the people of Uganda," it quoted Amin as saying. "The longer they stay, the more Uganda will suffer."

The Asians have been told to leave by Nov. 8. The radio said Amin later bestowed on President Mobutu the Order of the Source of the Nile, Uganda's highest honor, saying that he was "a true brother and friend of the people of Uganda."

In Mogadishu, Somalia, peace talks between Tanzania and Uganda due to start today were delayed for another 24 hours as the arrival of Ugandan Foreign Minister Wanume Kibedi was postponed.

Protesting Prisoner Caught on TV

SYDNEY, Australia — Police arrested an escaped convict in a television studio Monday night while he was appearing live on a national telecast to protest prison brutality.

Peter Wiggins, 18, said he escaped from the prison farm Sunday because other prisoners had beaten him while guards looked on.

Wiggins, serving four months for breaking and entering, said he decided to give himself up on television because he wanted a public inquiry into the prison system.

As the show came to an end, thousands of viewers saw police arrest him.

TORONTO — A lawyer representing Dr. Istvan Meszaros said Monday the Marxist scholar has refused the offer of a special permit allowing him to work in Canada for one year provided he withdraws his application for an immigrant visa.

Dr. Meszaros, who resigned from the faculty of the University of Sussex to accept a teaching job at York University, was told in London that he had been denied an immigration visa for security reasons.

He renewed his application for immigrant status after coming to Toronto two weeks ago on a tourist visa.

DES MOINES, Iowa — A young mother who could not afford to buy tombstones for the graves of her two infant children spent 100 hours carving and polishing concrete headstones.

When she had finished her work Mrs. Cynthia Frederick, 21, put the hand-made markers over the graves. Last weekend, the park board ordered workmen to remove them because they did not meet the city policy that all grave markers be made of bronze or granite.

Richard Delmege, chairman of the park board's cemetery committee, said Monday, however, that publicity about the case may force the board to make an exception to the city policy.

MOSCOW — Soviet civil rights activist Alexei Tumerman was released from a Moscow mental asylum Monday after a two-week detention, his friends reported today.

Last week he smuggled a statement out of the Moscow prison hospital saying a psychiatric commission has ruled last Tuesday he was sane and that there were no medical reasons to detain him.

HONOLULU — Doctors today called it "miraculous" that a Honolulu man survived a 22-floor fall into a pile of garbage.

Thomas Finney, 22, tumbled down a garbage chute at the Queen Emma Gardens but the garbage at the bottom cushioned his fall.

He told police he was "fooling around" when he plummeted down the chute. He was hospitalized with only cuts and bruises.

BUTCHART GARDENS. AUTUMN! Just about the most beautiful, most colorful time of the year in these famous gardens. Should it shower, don't worry, there's free use of umbrellas for everybody. Usually warmer out here, too! Open every day 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Plan now for one of your happiest outings!

BUTCHART GARDENS. Developed from an abandoned limestone quarry over half a century ago. Known throughout the world for their incredible beauty! Embracing over 30 acres, they're actually six gardens in one—fabulous Sunken Garden, Lake Garden featuring the majestic Ross Fountains, English Rose, quaint Japanese, stately Italian, and the Stage Show Garden.

BUTCHART GARDENS' ROMANTIC NIGHT LIGHTING. As darkness takes over, a thousand hidden lights combine with the moon and stars, the hills, trees and shrubs, lakes, lily ponds and fountains, to create a fairyland, softly scented by the flowers—a spectacle so unusual, so grand, it's indescribable! Featuring the Sunken Garden and the spectacular Ross Fountains in their majestic "Ballet to the Stars." Night illumination ceases for the season after Sunday, October 8.

BUTCHART GARDENS' FLORAL RESTAURANT. Open every day 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., serving delicious lunches, afternoon teas, and delightful dinners in the evening. Restaurant closes for the season after Sunday, October 8.

BUTCHART GARDENS. Snack and Coffee Bar is always open.

FRIENDS ARRIVING? Take them to see these lovely gardens. One of the nicest and most appreciated ways to entertain.

WIG AND DICKIE CABARET for the best in music, fun and laughter, most people are choosing the Wig and Dickie Cabaret in the Wilson Motor Inn. If you like an English Inn, you'll love the Wig and Dickie. George McDowall and The Lads from the Pig and Whistle Show, lead the singalong, dancing and provide hilarious entertainment from 8:30 p.m., Tues. through Sat., at 850 Blanshard Street. Reservations recommended. 385-6787. Air conditioned.

The Old Bailey Beefeater is THE PLACE for those who like to sink their teeth into a succulent thick slice of prime rib smothered in its own natural juices. The complete dinner is a delight including hors d'oeuvres, tossed salad, a small loaf of bread, garlic or regular butter, baked potato and a selection of taste tempting cheeses for dessert. And believe it or not the price is only $4.50 or just $3.75 if you order the English cut. Try this the next time you're going out for dinner. You'll love the English mood of the authentic Old Bailey Beefeater at The Wilson Motor Inn, Blanshard at Courtenay.

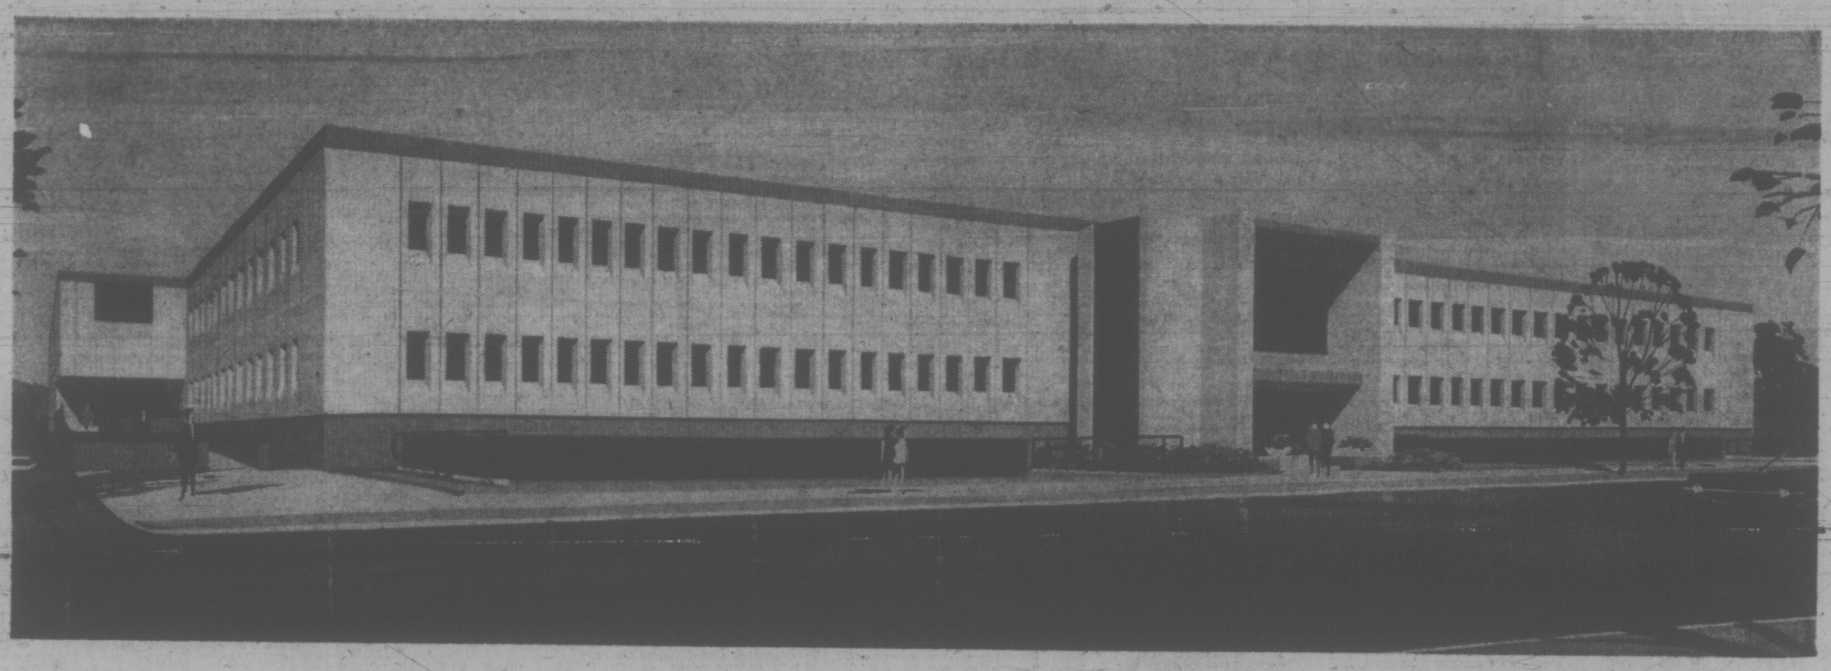
AN INVITATION... TO TOUR OUR NEW HOME



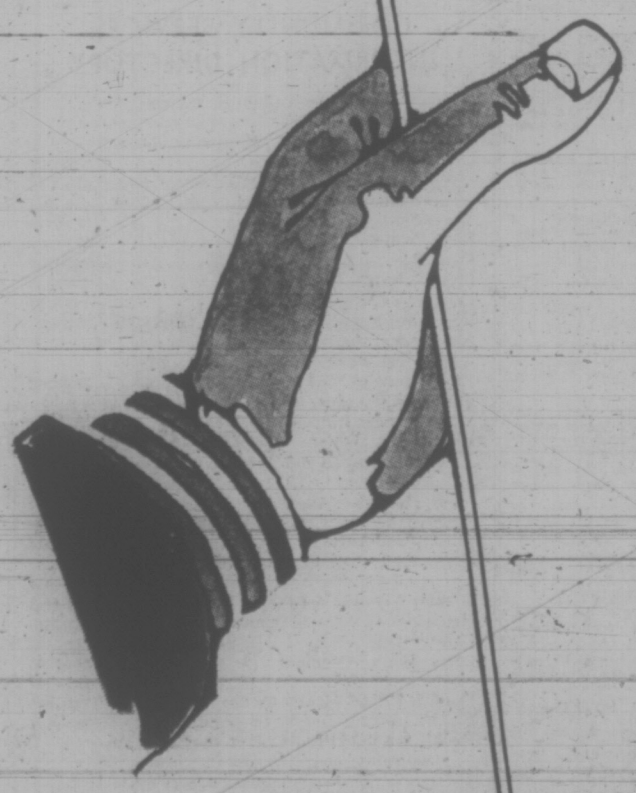
Several years of planning, and months of construction, have resulted in a fine new building for Victoria Press Ltd. which houses its two daily newspapers, and entire plant operation.

Rich in history, mirroring our community, building for the future, Victoria Press Ltd. parallels the growth of British Columbia's Capital City.

On the occasion of our move to new premises

MAY WE INVITE YOU TO VIEW OUR NEW HOME

Plant Tours are now being arranged for our readers, their families, and friends.



It is your opportunity to enjoy a conducted tour of this great operation; feel the excitement, sense the drama, see the mighty press and hear the hum of complicated machinery; smell the "Printers Ink", observe the quiet know-how—all of which combine to produce the newspaper which is delivered to your home each day.

This mobilization of activity brings to Victorians the news: from around the world, across the nation and here at home. It brings you advertising information, and the buy, trade, sell classified marketplace of lower Vancouver Island.

Tours are educational, informative, and for the curious. Guides are trained to answer all your questions.

Afternoon and evening tours, Mondays to Fridays, are limited to up to 80 people. Arrange now for your bridge club, church group, professional group or club. Individuals, and small groups are welcome. Please fill in the coupon supplying the necessary details. We will do the rest.

Plant tours will be conducted on weeks of

October 10 to 13, inclusive November 6 to 10, inclusive
October 17 to 20, inclusive November 13 to 17, inclusive

Please include me/us in your plant tour of

The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.
PSALM 23.

8 CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends and family for their acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy, beautiful floral offerings and donations to the Heart Fund in the sudden loss of our beloved wife, mother and grandmother, Dorothy M. YOUR HEALTH: Dr. Walter Alvarez

Incidence of VD on Increase

"I keep reading articles by health officers who are much concerned about the fact that next to the common cold, venereal disease is the most frequent communicable disease today. Many health officers speak of an epidemic of venereal diseases, and what is sad is that so many of the persons affected are high school and college youngsters.

The U.S. Public Health Service people estimate that in 1970, there were two million cases of gonorrhea and perhaps a half million cases of syphilis. With each passing year there is a tremendous increase in the number of infected persons.

What is sad is that so many people who get infected with a venereal disease do not realize that they have become infected. For example, around 1910 a divorcee of about 40 consulted me about a headache which I soon learned should be more correctly referred to as a "pain in th head." She said none of the several physicians who had seen her had been able to give her relief. She told me that some years before, she had divorced her husband because she discovered that he was an inverterate chaser of women. Following a hunch I made a Wassermann test, I found syphilis. After treatment she lost her headaches and was well.

A few years later, in came a man with his wife. The minute I saw him walking with two canes, looking at the floor in order to watch where he was placing his feet (because he had no sensation in the lower part of his body), I recognized a man with locomotor ataxia, which is a late stage of syphilis. Because the man had a very unusual name, and the same one as that of the woman with syphilitic headaches, I asked and soon found that he was the divorced ex-husband of my former patient.

And there was the sort of case we physicians see, in which a man who never knew he had picked up syphilis gave it to his wife who did not know that she had become infected with it.

For a number of years, syphilis, especially in its later stages, became rather rare, and we physicians were not so often called upon to treat it. But, with the present flare-up, and with the fact that often young people are afraid to go to a doctor for treatment of syphilis, or do not realize that they have the disease, we doctors may again be seeing patients with the final stages of "tertiary" syphilis. Often the "primary" symptom — the "chancre," or hard ulcer that is generally painless — goes away, making the person think he is well.

Remember — our policy is to sell you the best at the lowest price and do it the best of our ability. Browse around, row upon row of boats — all sizes and types, new and used — even dinghies. Certainly we sell cars, trailers — and brokerage is a dept. we're trying to improve. Our service dept. is second to none. We're not as perfect as we'd like to be but we try each and every day to be a bit better — and a bit better — and a bit better now is our business with you.

Float Plane Service Accepts City's Plan

City council is being urged to take out a commercial foreshore lease on an area of the Inner Harbor so that Victoria Flying Services Ltd. can continue using the float facilities for its operations.

The recommendation was framed by the housing and land development committee today, after aldermen were told that the firm would agree to sub-leasing the waterlot from the city if the commercial lease was taken out from the Ministry of Transport.

Ald. Alf Hood, the committee chairman, said he welcomed the "change of heart" by the firm, which had earlier declined to enter into a sub-lease arrangement.

But he said the city should be planning for the eventual phasing out of all commercial activities from the "inner basin" of the Inner Harbor — withing a line roughly stretching from the CPR facilities at the foot of Belleville to the Ocean Cement property across the water.

The committee agreed to Ald. Mike Young's suggestion that the lease should be renewed on an annual basis, to give the city leeway in negotiating an alternative Inner Harbor location for the flying operation.

If the city takes out a commercial lease from the federal transport authority the annual rental of $990 will be passed on to the firm, and VFS representatives were told they would also have to pay $1,980 rental owing for the past two years.

Last month, the committee recommended council to take out a non-commercial lease on the area for $100 a year, which would have banned its use by VFS.

Commenting on the action at that time, Mayor Peter Pollen said the firm had paid no rent for one and a half years, which was a "complete invasion of the public domain."

However, the matter was brought back to committee on Hood's recommendation, and he acted in the role of peacemaker today, giving assurances that the city wished to pick no quarrel with the company.

Lawyer D. S. Collins, representing the firm, said he considered the mayor's remarks "rather unkind," in their implication that VFS was a parasite on the community.

He said the company was willing to enter into any agreement with the city concerning the use of the harbor area.

Warden Meetings Resume

Fall weekly meetings have begun for Junior Forest Warden groups in Greater Victoria.

Meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays at MacKenzie and Cloverdale Schools and Thursdays at Uplands School.

Boys between 10 and 16 years old may attend. The program includes such subjects as tree identification, wood travel, wildlife, fire and pest control, as well as weekend hikes and campouts.

The wardens are supported in B.C. by the Canadian Forestry Association and the Canadian Institute of Forestry.

Biologist Leaves Gov't

Keith Mundy, assistant chief wildlife biologist with B.C. Fish and Wildlife, is leaving the branch at the end of the month to join P. W. Beak Consultants Ltd. in Vancouver.

The firm has been involved in the design of several pulp mills in Canada and the U.S. Mundy will be senior biologist with the company.

TIMMINS FOLKS THINKING BIG

TIMMINS (CP) — This town of 27,000 will become Ontario's—and perhaps North America's—biggest city in area on Jan. 1, 1973, voters decided Monday in a plebiscite.

On Jan. 1 it will become a city of 40,000 with an area of 1,200 square miles by swallowing up 34 geographical townships surrounding it. All will lose their names to become parts of wards of the city, each represented by aldermen. More than half the townships have no population.

Hawks Hit By Court

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge barred Julius Erving Monday from playing for any team other than the American Basketball Association's Virginia Squires.

Erving, who jumped to Atlanta of the rival National Basketball Association after his rookie season last year, has been playing with the Hawks in pre-season games.

And on Monday, NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy fined the Hawks another $25,000 for using him.

When Erving left the Squires last season, the ABA team filed suit to prevent him from playing anywhere else. In U.S. district court in Brooklyn, N.Y., Monday, Judge Edward R. Neaher ruled in the Squires' favor, issuing a preliminary injunction to bar Erving from playing with any team but Virginia.

CLAIMED BY BUCKS

The Erving case became even more complicated after he jumped to Atlanta when Milwaukee Bucks drafted him — one day before the Hawks signed him last April.

Kennedy ruled the 6-foot-6 star rightfully belonged to the Bucks and prohibited Atlanta from using him.

Kennedy's assessments against the Hawks were the largest since the NBA gave him power last November to levy fines up to $25,000 for conduct detrimental or prejudicial to the NBA without obtaining approval from the league's board of governors.

Crime No Game, Says City Grit

Fifty persons turned out to a coffee party at the George Pearkes Arena Monday night to hear Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal candidate Louis Lindholm talk about law and order in Canada.

Crime should not be treated as a game, the candidate said, and Canada should now allow its laws to be weighed in favor of the criminal.

Lindholm said a close watch should be kept on a study in progress in Great Britain which is considering whether accused persons should be allowed to remain silent under all circumstances, and whether the alibi of an accused should be given to the Crown for checking prior to a trial.

Commenting on NDP leader David Lewis's attack on "corporate welfare bums," Lindholm said the time for Lewis and his party to make their arguments heard was a year ago during debate on the Tax Reform Bill.

"Surely that was the time for him to raise his arguments — when they could have been scrutinized and debated."

Waiting until an election, Lindholm said, makes his arguments suspect.

Liquor Plebiscite Requested

Central Saanich council may hold a plebiscite in December to determine residents' reaction to a beer parlor.

A 344-name petition organized by Brentwood Motel, 7215 West Saanich Road, has requested the plebiscite. It would be the municipality's first pub.

Mayor A. M. Galbraith said Monday that without taking sides on the issue, in view of planning now in process, "this is the time to ask people what they want."

Ald. Ted Clayards said the Liquor Control Board is also considering Central Saanich for a liquor store location and suggested the board be made aware of the municipality's plans for the future.

Last week Mayor Galbraith announced that council had asked Capital Regional Board planners to design a "village" complex in Saanichton and Brentwood.

Abortion Protests To Ottawa—VGH

The senior administrator at Victoria General Hospital suggested today that abortions protests should be directed to Ottawa.

John Murray, the hospital acting executive director, was asked to comment on the hour-long silent vigil in front of the hospital Sunday afternoon by an estimated 200 people.

They were part of a nationwide demonstration in front of hospitals protesting therapeutic abortions. Dr. Heather Morris, president of the Alliance for Life Association, said in Toronto the vigils were designed to reawaken in Canadians the value and dignity of life.

"No healthy baby is unwanted," she said. "There are thousands of couples who want to adopt babies."

Those keeping the vigil in front of Victoria General Sunday carried signs: Give Life a Chance, Abortion Is the Ultimate Violence, and Abortion: a Return to Human Sacrifice.

A petition passed around asks that amendments to the Criminal Code which have liberalized abortion be repealed.

Therapeutic abortions are scheduled to start at the former St. Joseph's Hospital later this month. A soaring number have been conducted at Royal Jubilee for several years.

One of those taking part said today the vigil was held at Victoria General because the hospital frontage lent itself more readily than did the frontage at Jubilee. One hospital was chosen in each community.

Murray had said earlier that the Victoria General Hospital board had decided to allow abortions because the directors believed they did not have the moral right to refuse the use of the public hospital for any legitimate medical procedure performed by a qualified physician.

Under the Catholic Sisters of St. Ann, who founded St. Joseph's Hospital, abortions were not performed because the church is opposed to them.

Leos Release Two Players

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions of the Western Football Conference have released two players who had completed five-day trials with the club.

Released were import defensive-back Jim Massey and non-import linebacker Jorma Kuisma. Massey came to Lions from Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League and Kuisma from Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT FISHERIES SERVICE QUINSAM RIVER HATCHERY

It is proposed to advertise for tenders for the supply and construction of the Quinsam River Hatchery near Campbell River, B.C., in January, 1973.

The items of work include: an access road, bridge, parking lot, hatchery building, pumphouse, aeration tower, carport, clarifiers, fifteen reinforced concrete rearing ponds (17'x75'x4' deep), three reinforced concrete holding ponds (17'x73'x5' 6" deep), fish diversion fence, attraction channel, water supply intake structures and pipelines and associated pumps, piping, valves and other ancillary equipment and landscaping.

It is planned to have a pre-bid site inspection on October 13 and 15, 1972 at which time representative of the Department of the Environment, Fisheries Service, will be available to guide prospective tenderers around the site of the proposed works.

Prospective tenderers interested in the pre-bid site inspection are requested to call Mr. Nielsen (666-3482) or Mr. Tully (666-3802) at the Vancouver regional headquarters.

Vikings One of Forty In Collegiate Affair

University of Victoria Vikings are one of the 40 teams who have accepted invitations to participate in Hockey Canada's 1972 intercollegiate tournament.

The large entry list means there will be nine regional tournaments the weekend of Nov. 3-5. The nine winners go to the final Dec. 16-18 in Hamilton.

Last year's tournament involved 24 universities.

Hockey Canada said it had arranged with Big Brothers of Canada to help organize and promote the regional and final tournaments and all proceeds will go to the social service organization.

Vikings will enter the regional playoffs in Vancouver Nov. 3-5 along with teams from British Columbia, Alberta, Calgary and Lakehead universities.

American Team Wins Warmup For Bucharest

PARIS (AP) — Stan Smith and Erick Van Dillen beat Patrick Proisy and Patrice Dominguez 6-3, 6-2 in the final doubles match Sunday, completing a 12-3 victory of the United States Davis Cup team over the French Davis Cup team in a two-day exhibition series.

Smith and Van Dillen may hold the key to U.S. chances in the Davis Cup final against Romania Oct. 13-15.

The American team goes to Bucharest Wednesday for final training before the matches against Roman's Ilie Nastase and Ion Tiriac.

Saints Drop Nine

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota Fighting Saints of the World Hockey Association have cut nine rookies from their training camp roster. Dropped were defencemen Ron Nagurski, Barry Graham and Bud Harvey, and forwards Mike Randolph, Peter Fichuck, John Gibbs, Jimmy Keon, Cliff Purpur and Bruce Werre.

Car Course Cancelled

Cutting Car Costs a consumer education course scheduled to begin tonight at Lansdowne Junior Secondary School has been cancelled due to lack of interest.

Only one person enrolled in the course, said Camosun College. The course was sponsored by the Victoria branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers and the college's community services division. The college spokesman said a minimum enrollment of 15 was required for the series of five weekly sessions.

FIREBALL CHAMPION

WRIGHTSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Jorg Diesch of West Germany has captured the world fireball sailing championship, winning three times in a six-race series.

COUTURE PATTERN

By LOIS HOLMES

Complete versatility in this eye-catching pattern lends itself to either a high-style coat or an equally attractive tunic pantsuit.

The A-line coat has matching decorative pocket tabs which may be partly or completely omitted as desired. A slight variation of the stitch pattern is made with the addition of a popcorn in the coat instead of the eyelet in the pantsuit. Side slits in the tunic and pants hit a new high note of interest.

This is truly quick-quick crochet and an extremely easy pattern for beginners since everything is made of four-ply yarn in double crochet and chains. Sizes small, medium and large for both costumes are all included in the pattern.

To order, CROCHET 782, TUNIC PANTSUIT AND COAT, send $1.50 plus 15 cents in U.S. funds for mailing for each pattern (25 cents for air mail) in currency, check or money order to Lois Holmes of Calif. Victoria Times, Box 1005, Gardena, Calif. 90249.

Please print your name, address and pattern number plainly.

The Eagle Has a Problem

VANCOUVER (CP) — What do you do when you're facing a team that has outscored you 81-14 in two games?

That's the problem facing Eagle Keys and British Columbia Lions as they prepare to meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers tonight in a Western Football Conference game.

The Bombers whipped the Lions 39-7 in the first meeting between the two teams here, then turned on even more scoring power in thumping the Lions 42-7 at Winnipeg.

The Lions have had their problems with every team in the WFC this season, but the Bombers have humiliated them, while the other three western clubs have been content to administer simple defeats. So Keys and the rest of his pride would like nothing better than to put a crimp in the Bombers' hopes for a first-place finish.

Winnipeg is 8-2 on the season, the exact reverse of the B.C. record, and holds down top spot in the WFC over Edmonton Eskimos, who are 7-3.

GARDENING

Encouragement Starts Children's Green Thumbs

The ability of children around ten and 12 to accomplish any form of plant growing depends more on encouragement from parents than on environment.

The parents may have other skills and interests than gardening but perhaps because of them they believe the youngsters need the opportunity to develop their own interests when the urge strikes.

I have seen patches of soil on the edge of salt water turned into summer production of vegetables; and 18-inch square pockets between hilly rock outcroppings bearing crops of bush beans and tomatoes.

These mini gardens were prepared, sown, planted and tended by 10 and 12-year-olds just because parents knew it worth while to encourage the projects.

★ ★ ★

Both of these gardens were short-term from necessity. The one on a bank just above shore line is liberally sprayed with salt water from late fall until spring, but during summer is quite a warm spot.

The ten-year-old tending the patch of three potato sets, a three-foot row each of carrots and beets and one tomato plant has learned about putting seaweed into the soil to hold moisture in summer. And he now knows too that the salt spray on the soil in winter does no harm if he scatters half rotted compost over it fromm his Dad's heap.

Whether the gardening interest will be maintained steadily through the years is anyone's guess, but I'm willing to back the idea that sometime in his future it will again become active.

The 12-year-old had a different problem. She wanted a garden plot; but the home property was composed of rocky outcroppings with most of the larger soil pockets already planted with permanent shrubs.

★ ★ ★

Only by the chance of a gale removing an old oak was there suddenly a small surface area of space available for the coveted vegetable garden.

Again, compost was hauled to the rescue. No great depth was possible, though here and there were spots free of below ground roots. Beans, tomatoes and pumpkins were chosen, resulting in sufficient experience for the observant young gardener to make plans for another year.

Both these youngsters were obviously encouraged by parents who showed interest in the projects and pride in the results.

Considering the sites available, I doubt whether an older person would have had the courage to tackle either of the propositions, but with the courage of youth, all things are possible. Especially so if parents say "go ahead, try it and find out."

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

The Bridge Expert

By FRED KARPIN

On occasion, bridge players do the most ridiculous things (especially one's partner). In today's deal, the East defender made a play that had absolutely no rhyme or reason. Possibly the only explanation of his play is that he thought it would "make no difference." How wrong he was!

And if the bidding appears "peculiar," it should be stated that the deal was played in 1934, just seven years after contract bridge came into being; and systems of bidding were still in an embryonic stage.

North - South vulnerable. North deals.

NORTH
◇ A Q J 10 6
♣ A 5

WEST
♠ J 9 8
♡ Q J
◇ K 9 8 5

EAST
♠ Q 10 4 2
♡ 8 3 2
◇ 7 4
♣ K 6 4 2

SOUTH
♠ K 7 6 5 3
♡ K 7 4
◇ 3 2
♣ Q J 10

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ◇	Pass	4 ♡	Pass
4 NT	Pass	6 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣.

The five of clubs was played from dummy on the opening lead of the club three, and East captured the trick with his king. East returned a club to dummy's ace.

The contract appeared hopeless to South (and so it was). His best chances of restricting his losses was to attack the diamond suit. So he led the five of hearts to his own king, in order to take the diamond finesse. For some reason which will never be known (nor was it ever known to East), East followed suit with the eight of hearts (instead of the normal deuce). West followed suit with the jack.

A diamond was then led, and dummy's queen was finessed successfully. Next came the ace of hearts, felling West's queen. The ace of spades was now cashed, after which South re-entered his own hand via the seven of hearts. The king of spades was then taken, the diamond six being discarded from dummy. On the high queen of clubs, dummy's ten of diamonds was discarded.

South's remaining diamond was played next, and the board's jack was finessed. All of dummy's cards were now winners. Declarer's only loser was at trick one, to East's king of clubs.

It is apparent that if East had followed suit with the deuce of hearts on the initial heart lead off dummy, declarer would have gone down. In this case, declarer could not have utilized his seven of hearts as an entry to the South hand for the taking of the second diamond finesse. He would then have had to lose a trick to West's diamond king.

Plan Rejected

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla (AP) — A developer's plans to build the "world's largest golf ball" have been ruled out of bounds by the Palm Beach County zoning board of adjustment. Developers of Villa Delray appealed to the board to allow construction of the 76-foot-high, three dimensional golf ball to promote a 6,000-home project. But, acting on complaints by area residents, the board refused to allow construction of the plexiglas and steel ball.

Arm-Chair Detectives Give Clues to Unsolved Slaying

CALGARY (CP) — A television special into an unsolved slaying produced more than 100 calls Monday night from people offering information.

CFAC broadcast an hour-long program into the July 6 slaying of David Edward Lee, a 15-year-old grocery store clerk.

Chief Inspector Art Roberts of city police said extra detectives were brought in to handle the 35 telephone calls received at headquarters.

Producer Brian Lightburn said the station handled 73 calls, mostly anonymous, and told callers willing to leave their name to call the police.

All information was passed to police, including the address supplied by a taxi driver who the night of the slaying drove a man carrying a 9mm pistol.

The youth was killed about 4 a.m. by a 9mm bullet, apparently a war souvenir, as he worked his last night at the store. He was switching jobs because he did not like the late hours alone.

Inspector Roberts said some of the calls provided only general information that could not be followed up but some included names and addresses that would be checked out.

He said he was impressed with the response and "very gratified to know that people are that interested."

"We are going to do a series on unsolved crimes interspersed with ones we have solved."

The show included police interviews, a re-enactment of their investigation and a simulation of the crime from the slayer's viewpoint.

The program was patterned after similar ones in Europe such as Case Unsolved which has helped in about 200 West German cases.

The idea behind the shows is that information obtained from the public often provides the clue to solve the crime.

There had been little information about the Calgary murder, which seemed to occur during a robbery, and rewards totalling $10,000 have been offered.

The next program in the series is about a bank robbery.

Nuclear Freeze Signed

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Nixon and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today placed into force accords to check the superpower nuclear arms race. They joined in a call for continued efforts to remove the danger of war.

The ceremony in the White House East Room included the final steps on a treaty limiting defensive missiles and an executive agreement freezing for five years most of the two countries' long-range nuclear arsenals.

In comments to 200 cabinet officers, congressional and government leaders, Nixon and Gromyko looked ahead to negotiations to broaden what Nixon called a first step in limiting the burden of nuclear arms and a first step in reducing the danger of war.

The president said the accords are "the beginning of a great historical process" in which the two nations found they can make progress in checking the arms race.

He voiced hope that future talks will lead to a "world that is much safer" and a world that is "possibly free from the danger of nuclear disaster."

Skating Bird Paid Off

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A roller skating cockatoo rates as the most unusual victim yet in the continuing battle against Newcastle disease that has claimed five million southern California fowl.

But before the special federal-state group assigned to wipe out the respiratory disease paid for the cockatoo, an inspector asked to see it perform.

After the bird skated around, its owner, who runs a Los Angeles area pet shop, was paid $2,000 in the compensation campaign that is expected to cost at least $20 million.

Favoritism 'Spoils Grits'

Nepotism and political favortism have spoiled potentially good programs in the Trudeau government and led young people into political cynicism, Progressive Conservative candidate Allan McKinnon told a coffee party Monday.

Speaking to a gathering of 20 party supporters, the Victoria federal candidate cited two examples of political patronage in the Trudeau regime.

The purchase by the Canada Development Corporation of 35 per cent of the shares of Venturetek International Ltd., he said, is morally wrong and "lowers the respect of Canadians for their government in no small way."

Venturetek's president is Jeremy Kendall, son of Douglas Kendall, a director of the CDC.

The other example, he said, was the selection of a co-ordinator for the Ontario Opportunity for Youth program. Robert Andras, son of Corporate Affairs Minister Robert Andras, is the director of the $7.5 million program.

BEFORE THE JUDGE

A man who beat his wife twice on the same day was sentenced to a total of 45 days in prison by Judge E. D. Jorre de St. Jorre in provincial court Monday.

Ernest Perry, 44, of 2573 Blanshard, pleaded guilty to a charge of breach of probation and two counts of common assault.

Police were called to Perry's home Oct. 1 after his wife complained that he had thrown her on the living room floor and kicked her.

They were called again later the same day and found Perry had punched the woman in the car and choked her until she blacked out.

Perry was convicted of common assault on March 13 of this year when he was given a suspended sentence and placed on one year's probation.

After pleading guilty to the two counts of common assault Monday, Perry pleaded guilty to the breach of probation charge.

St. Jorre sentenced him to 30 days each on the common assault charges, to be served concurrently, and gave him a further 15-day sentence for breach of probation, to be served consecutively.

Perry said he was drunk at the time of the offences and couldn't remember anything.

"There's little justification for the way your wife was treated," said St. Jorre.

TEAM CANADA SHAMES PENFIELD

MONTREAL (UPI) — In a letter published today by a Montreal newspaper, noted Montreal neurosurgeon Dr. Wilder Penfield said he was so "shamed" by the behavior of Team Canada in Moscow last week he had cancelled a trip to the Soviet Union.

Dr. Penfield was to have attended the Soviet Academy of Science's jubilee session in November, but said he would be "embarrassed" to do so now.

After praising the fast skating and teamwork of Team Canada and Paul Henderson's winning goal in the dying moments of the third period, Dr. Penfield continued:

"But I was saddened and shamed by the behavior of our team on the ice in the first and last games, when the players were defeated and when they won. Some of them were childish, unsportsmanlike and unmannerly. They have done a good deal of harm to the image of Canada throughout the world."

CANADIANS PAY—AMERICANS CONTROL

Lewis Blasts North Pipeline

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed natural gas pipeline from Canada's North would cost Canadian taxpayers more than $1 billion but leave the project in control of a United States-dominated consortium of 16 companies, David Lewis, national New Democratic Party leader, said Monday night.

Mr. Lewis said he was opening the second phase of his campaign for the Oct. 30 federal election by concentrating on foreign control of the economy. Previously he dealt with Canada's tax system.

Mr. Lewis, speaking at a nomination meeting, said the Mackenzie River pipeline project, to bring natural gas from Canada's North, is a "mammoth plan to exploit Canada's resources on a scale that boggles the mind."

"It involves our economic and political independence, the ecology of our fragile North and Canada's entire future," he said.

Mr. Lewis said the pipeline project is made up of the Gas Arctic-Northwest Project Study Group, which consists almost entirely of leading oil and gas businessmen and financiers.

He said the chairman of the group is Vernon L. Horte, who is president of TransCanada PipeLines Ltd., a company that he said had net earnings of $368 million between 1966 and 1971 and did not pay any income taxes.

START DATE 1975

Mr. Lewis said he has documents in his possession from the project group and government officers which show a proposed construction starting time for the pipeline of 1975.

Donald Macdonald, federal energy minister, said today it is not inevitable the pipeline would be under foreign financial control.

He promised the government would set up a study group that would establish guidelines assuring Canadian control over half the equity in the project.

He said Mr. Lewis was being "gloomy" over Canadian ability to obtain financial control of the project.

The NDP leader, on a three-day visit to Toronto, said the project is so huge that "even mobilizing the entire capacity of the North American money markets would not provide the necessary capital."

He predicted the Canadian government soon will be asked to find more than $1 billion for the consortium, which he said is made up of 16 corporations, 12 of which are American-controlled.

"And since the Canadian companies are like pygmies compared to these giants, the project will be almost completely in the hands of American multi-national corporations," Mr. Lewis said.

"In addition to giving control of our precious natural gas reserves to outside interests, we now are preparing to build the pipeline so it can be pumped out of the country," he said.

Mr. Lewis said any claims that the project will create jobs is "hogwash." He said there would be several thousand jobs during the four or five years of construction, but then only 400 people will run the whole operation.

"Even worse, most of the will be manufactured in Japan and once again Canadians will be deprived of jobs and the benefits of their own resources," he said.

He demanded that negotiations to build the pipeline be stopped immediately, suggesting Canada does not need it now and there should be five to 10 years spent studying the implications of the project.

As a partial solution to foreign control of the economy, Mr. Lewis said Canada must end direct grants to foreign corporations and introduce an effective screening agency to end foreign take-overs.

Danes Join ECM

Times News Service

COPENHAGEN — The Danish people voted nearly two to one Monday to join the European Economic Community — the Common Market — and set off a boom on the Copenhagen stock market. But Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag coupled a victory speech in parliament with his resignation.

The favorable vote came just a week after neighboring Norwegians voted to stay out of the market.

The move by Krag was a surprise. He said his minority Social Democratic government would remain in power and that his resignation as prime minister was "a personal decision."

Authorities followed up the decision early today by lowering the bank discount rate to seven from eight per cent to provide easier credit and stimulate industrial activity in anticipation of market entry in January.

The rate had been boosted eight per cent on June 28 to ease speculative pressure on the Danish kroner after the British pound was floated.

Final results of the referendum were announced even as youthful opponents of market membership roamed the streets of Copenhagen, burned Danish flags on the steps of parliament and hurled rocks and bottles through the windows.

Hordes of chanting young people displayed their chagrin through the night. Described by police as disappointed leftists, they shouted commands in a mock German, pretend-

Dock Emergency 'Is Lack of Jobs'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Longshoremen demonstrated outside the British Columbia maritime employers association hiring hall Monday and said the only national emergency on the Vancouver waterfront is a lack of jobs.

"The only reason Trudeau ordered us back to work was to pick up a few votes on the Prairies," a demonstrator said. "Go in and look at the board yourself. It will tell you how much an emergency there is."

The hiring board read: "Grain. 5 p.m. Nil."

Longshoremen say this has been the case for most of the past month, ever since they were legislated back to work by Parliament, which was re-called by Prime Minister Trudeau after the dock workers went on strike in August.

They say there is no work for casual workers and only a day or two a week for union members who are being hired at the hall.

Gov't Cable TV In Sask.

REGINA (CP) — The provincial government will install a cable television system to be operated as a public utility through Sask Tel, Government Services Minister John Brockelbank said today.

While details of its operation still are to be worked out, the system will take advantage of facilities owned by Sask Tel, the provincially-owned tele-communications system.

Initially, the service wil be provided in Regina and Saskatoon and should be operative in a "couple of years," Mr. Brockelband said.

The reason for the province's entry into the cable television field, he said, is to ensure the service is not confined only to larger centres.

"Privatey owned cable operators would have taken excessive profits in Regina and Saskatoon and would not have extended cable television services or systems to the smaller centres."

The system will cost "millions of dollars" but an exact figure won't be known until possibly the end of this year.

"Cabling has been going on in Regina for the last while in anticipation of a cable television system," Mr. Brockelbank said.

"It should be completed in two years but actual programmingcou ld start before that."

The decision by the government effectively rules out any possibility of private operators moving into the field and using Sask Tel facilities.

It will be up to non-profit community organizations to apply for the service. They must obtain a licence from the Canadian Radio and Television Commission.

Mr. Brockelbank said he sees no reason why the CRTC would refuse a licence if the applicants meet regulations, because the CRTC "has indicated in the past it is in favor of this sort of service run by non-profit groups."

The community organization could provide a number of different channels carrying, say, the two Canadian television networks, American networks and possibly a separate community channel.

UIC Deficit Tops $500M —Mackasey

Times News Services

MONTREAL — Bryce Mackasey, federal manpower minister, said Monday the Unemployment Insurance Commission's defict stands at about $544 million but he intends to defend the government's handling of the program to the hilt in the election campaign.

"I'm going to defend it because I think it is a tragedy to have it become part of the election campaign," he said in an interview.

He called the deficit a "drop in the bucket" from national revenues and attributed it to increased benefits now being offered by the UIC.

He also released a report from the Unemployment Insurance Commission which showed steps are being taken to tighten the checks on illegitimate claims.

There were 742,000 claims disallowed in the 12 months ended July this year compared with 392,000 in the previous 12 months.

The number of claims rose to nearly 1.98 million from under 1.93 million in the earlier period.

The commission is also adding 80 more claims investigators to bring its investigation staff to 307 by mid-November.

Mackasey criticized people who stress abuses of the insurance scheme. These people "create awful consequences," he said.

The people who get unemployment insurance have a right to it, because they have worked and contributed to it.

This isn't a welfare plan. It's insurance against loss of income by being out of work."

The number who abuse the plan is minute, the minister said.

The minister said he has put a "bit of a ban" on officials of his department talking about the issue "because reporters won't take an objective look at the whole question of unemployment insurance."

He said he did not know the amount of deficit to "the exact dollar" but offered a file headed "costs to date" which indicated the plan paid out $1,164 million for the first seven months this year — $544 million more than the same period last year.

In another interview, Mackasey said the government will announce Wednesday a year-round, $80-million local initiative program and he hinted it will place greater emphasis on taking people off unemployment insurance.

The $100-million LIP plan was first introduced last winter to combat high seasonal unemployment. It expired in May but was prolonged until September 30 with another $30 million.

NEWS BRIEFS

Meany Restrained

DENVER (AP) — A federal judge has issued a preliminary injunction preventing AFL-CIO President George Meany from taking over control of the Colorado Labor Council. The injunction was sought by CLC President Herrick Roth when Meany announced he was suspending the charter of the state organization and its officers for refusing to withdraw its endorsement of Senator George McGovern in the 1972 presidential race.

Fighting Stops

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hostilities between North and South Yemen came to an end today when the latter's forces withdrew from a border town they had captured, a North Yemen military spokesman said.

Red Plane Crashes

MOSCOW (Reuter) — A Soviet Ilyushin-18 airliner has crashed on an internal flight from Sochi to Moscow, killing everyone on board.

TOURISTS SKIRMISH

VANDERHOOF (CP) — Canadians and American tourists clashed on the main street of this town early Saturday, apparently after some Canadians taunted the Americans.

RCMP in the town 60 miles west of Prince George said 40 to 50 persons were involved in the clash.

Police moved in before there was serious injury or damage.

One Vanderhoof man was taken to hospital with leg injuries and several others received minor cuts and bruises. Police are preparing charges in the incident, the first of its kind here where many Americans own land.

Police said the clash developed after two groups came out of a cabaret at 2:30 a.m.

Nixon Gov't 'Corrupt'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator George McGovern is escalating allegations of White House corruption, saying government scandals of the past were "child's play compared to what's going on in this administration."

The Democratic presidential nominee evidently has decided to make that a major theme in what he said will be an all-out campaign against President Nixon during the five weeks until election day, Nov. 7.

McGovern asserted that, while the president talks of law and order, "I submit the permissiveness toward a breakdown of high moral standards in this country begins right with Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew."

McGovern pressed that as his issue Monday in Washington, Lyndhurst, N.J., and at a $500-a-plate fund-raising dinner at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"The Nixon administration is the most morally bankrupt administration in the entire history of our country," he told the fund-raising-dinner crowd estimated at more than 1,000 Monday night. He also said it is the worst administration.

"At no time in the history of our land has corruption been so deep, so pervasive as it is today. . . .

"The influence of big money is corrupting the integrity of government on a scale never seen before."

The chief components of McGovern's corruption charges are those he has been raising for weeks—the justice department settlement of the International Telephone and Telegraph anti-trust case; "This smelly wheat deal" with the Soviet Union, and campaign contributions to Nixon from anonymous donors, which the Democratic candidate said may total $20 million.

BORDER DEAL 'RUBBISH'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Official sources today described as "rubbish" a newspaper report abroad that the Soviet Union and China had reached a border settlement.

According to the report in a weekly London newspaper, the Sino-Soviet border negotiations which have been deadlocked at Peking for about three years are to be concluded shortly with a far-reaching agreement.

Barrett Reveals $70M Surplus

Premier Barrett revealed Monday that his government will have a cash surplus of about $70 million at the end of the 1972-73 fiscal year.

The surplus, which doesn't include the $25 million the government intends to spend on increased benefits to old age pensioners, is the result of a 12 per cent increase in revenues over last year and will exist despite the fact that the Social Credit government overspent its estimates by $65 million.

In estimating $25 million as the cost for implementing the increased benefits to the elderly, Barrett said he is counting on getting the first cheques out by December.

He added that about 100,000 will have their incomes increased to $200 a month, a promise made by the NDP during the election campaign.

Barrett said overspending by the Social Credit government in the amount of about $65 million must be deducted from this increased revenue, about $35 million of it by the department of highways alone.

The premier said the Social Credit government was "notorious" for spending large amounts of money on highways during an election year.

"This is commonly known in the political profession as yellow fever on the highways," he said. "They get out every truck and every bulldozer and every black-topper they can.

"They put paving on top of paving."

Bryson named other areas of overspending as: Hospital insurance — about $6 million; attorney-general's department — $1 or $2 million; rehabilitation department — as much as $15 million; elderly citizens' renters grants, not figured into the 1972-73 budget — $2.5 million; advances to various harbors boards — $1.5 million; and special warrants for other overexpenditures — about $5 million.

Barrett, who had Bryson answering reporters' questions over a conference telephone in his office, said the NDP government "will not make a run on the treasury" to spend the $70 million surplus.

"We are going to be prudent, as I said during the election campaign. We are going to meet the most pressing priorities as we go along."

Revenue is expected to be in the area of $1.61 billion and

Chediak-Higashi: And Poor Chimo May Be Defenceless

By PAT DUFOUR
Times Staff

An international team of experts carried out a medical examination at the Oak Bay Marina today that may prove the white killer whale, Chimo, is a victim of a little-known hereditary disease.

Here for the regular medical of Chimo and her male companion, Haida, were Dr. George Padgett of Moscow, Idaho, and Dr. Keith Farrell of Pullman, Wash.

Padgett is an authority on the disease — the chediak-higashi syndrome — which he explains is one of inherited susceptibility that makes those who have it defenceless against other diseases.

Padgett says that there are 300 children in the world suffering from this disease, which leaves them stripped of the defence mechanisms that other people have.

Chimo is suspected to have it because of her partial pigment. Albinos with a certain amount of pigment are highly susceptible to it.

Padgett says that most children with the disease die before they are 14.

"The only ones who have reached the age of 25 are four who were under the care of the National Institute of Health in Washintgon, D.C.," he reports.

Padgett says if Chimo has the disease, she will be one of five species found to be suffering from it.

He is also studying a herd of cattle that have it, sapphire mink and mice.

Their life expectancies — cattle, about 12 to 14 months; mink, just over a year, and mice, about eight months.

Today's blood and tissue samples taken from the two whales will be studied by Padgett. If Chimo is found to have the chediak-higashi syndrome she will provide scientists with the first experiment of fighting the disease in a marine mammal.

Farrell, who is also here for the probing tests, lectures at Washington State and is internationally known for his technique of freeze branding dolphins.

Among those to meet him at the medical examinations today was Michel Biggs of the Pacific Biological Station in Nanaimo.

Biggs, who has been in charge of the last two annual whale-counts carried out in Canadian waters, is hoping that Farrell's technique can be used on whales.

"This would help us plot their migration patterns," he says, "the freezing technique leaves a white patch on the dorsal fin that could be easily spotted in future counts."

Farrell is now working on a laser branding technique that could mean another scientific breakthrough.

Sealand president Bob Wright explains, "It would mean that instead of handling them we could pick them up on a grid and, within seconds, brand pods as they moved."

Wright was anxious today as he watched his veterinarian Dr. Alan Hoey and the others take the samples that could confirm Chimo to be the first known killer whale with the hereditary disease.

As the needles jabbed and the collection of filled phials grew, the least concerned in the watery laboratory were the whales themselves.

They proved passive patients, giving no hint of the tension around them.

Burning Boat Turns on Pair

By KIT COLLINS
Times Staff

No boat would ever do that to its captain.

That's what Mr. and Mrs. Jack Egeland thought when they set off on a month's fishing trip and found themselves adrift in a liferaft off the Oregon coast.

But there it was. Their own 79-foot schooner ablaze and when abandoned, it headed straight for them after the engine somehow started itself.

"I've never paddled so hard in my life," recalled Mrs. Egeland when she returned Monday.

Luckily the engine died about five minutes after it started and old MCM stopped in its tracks.

★ ★ ★

Egeland said he had switched off the controls and he and his wife had jumped clear of the boat after the windows in the cabin blew out.

He had noticed the smoke, he said, about noon Sunday.

"I went down to the engine room and it was just a wall of fire. I knew I couldn't stop her so I radioed the coast guard and they got a helicopter on its way.

★ ★ ★

The couple, alone on the boat, gathered a few belongings, a half-knit sweater, two suitcases and a radio without batteries, and boarded the raft.

"The heat of the fire must have melted the controls and the wires joined together and the boat started," the 34-year-old fisherman, who's been fishing since he was 14, said.

He said the sky was clear when the boat — priced at about $110,000 — caught fire but fog moved in and they stranded in the life raft for about one hour before the Astoria Coast Guard helicopter spotted them, 65 miles off the coast.

THE EGELANDS . . . 'never paddled so hard'

"They couldn't see us through the fog though, but they smelled the smoke and then spotted us."

The Egelands were taken to Astoria and flew home.

A coast guard spokesman said the burning vessel was reached by coast guard boats later in the afternoon but sank when they tried to tow it to Newport Sunday night.

"All we've got left now," says Egeland, "is the raft. And we couldn't take it with us in the helicopter so its somewhere adrift in the ocean."

Esquimalt Will Spend If Amalgamation Due

Amalgamation of Victoria's four core municpalities in the near future would "be great for everybody but us," according to Esquimalt's mayor Art Young.

If imminent amalgamtion as suggested by Premier David Barrett is a possibility, Young said Monday night, Esquimalt should start spending money.

Barrett said earlier Monday he is considering amalgamation of the capital region's four principal municpalities as an early priority.

After the Esquimalt council meeting Mayor Young said he wasn't suggesting a wild spending spree but in the event of amalgamation, "we lose."

"If we amalgamate, the fact we have no debt means we lose," he said.

If the province seemed to be about to seek amalgamation, Young said, he would urge a public referendum for financing of civic facilities the other three municipalities now have that Esquimalt does not enjoy.

"It's the only way we're going to get them," he told aldermen during the meeting.

Amalgamation of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt would presumably mean a pooling of their combined municipal debts — and Esquimalt would certainly be the loser.

It was the only one of the four which didn't register an increase in the tax rate in 1972, and it's the only one of the four which is in a position to put deferred public works projects for 1972 into the 1972 program.

Evidence — municipal treasurer Peter Cairns reported that certain projects, presented at budget time and deleted by council pending alternate financing, can be proceeded with, through savings in other departments.

Drainage projects worth $43,300; and sewer extension and upgrading to $34,000 can be undertaken, Cairns reported, because.

"In reviewing the 1972 budget I am pleased to report that the following appropriations will reflect a savings."

Those savings were: social assistance — $34,300; bank interest $8,000; and reduction of provision for uncollected taxes — $35,000.

"In view of this (the balance sheet) — would recommend that the projects detailed above be proceeded with," Cairns concluded his report.

Aldermen were so confident in the budget they authorized Cairns to prepare a bylaw for the borrowing of $80,000 on a short-term basis to pay for reconstruction of the Craigflower-Tillicum intersection.

Cairns told council the loan as calculated by his department was on the basis of 6½ per cent per annum.

Municipal Affairs Minister James Lorimer said today he is not aware of any specific government policy on amalgamation of the Four Greater Victoria core Municipalities.

But Lorimer said he would favor such an amalgamation only if it kept one municipality from "sponging" on another one.

Lorimer said it should be up to the people of each separate municipality to decide for themselves whether they want to amalgamate with their neighbors.

"I don't think it should be done if municipalities are able to support themselves with their own parks and recreation areas," he said.

"But if one area is sponging on another one, then something has to be done. Either the boundaries have to be extended or something like that."

The minister said he does not believe this is the case with the four Greater Victoria municipalities — Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt. But he said there might be problems with such areas as Colwood, Langford and View Royal.

"I don't think there is any magic in bigness and I don't think it is that much cheaper," Lorimer said.

"It could be that individual municipalities are able to operate a tighter ship than if they were one," he said. "Amalgamation is not necessarily a beneficial thing."

Youth Will Gain From Windfall

By AB KENT
Times Staff

Skipper King's $5,000 windfall will be plowed back into the ground.

Children with an interest in nature are the beneficiaries in perpetuity because Skipper wants it that way.

Two weeks ago the 81-year-old naturalist was honored with a surprise birthday party at which he was given $5,000 subscirbed by friends who insisted the money was his without strings attached, a reward for unpaid service to parks and wildlife.

In effect, he has given it back. Every last penny.

"It's for the use of the children who work at Francis Park," Skipper said today, trying to hide the glee in his voice and betrayed by the glitter in his eye.

"It's in the bank, a special fund, and I still control it," he said.

But the only way any part of it will be spent is if the junior naturalists need something for the park or its nature house and laboratory.

So much for misguided people who thought Skipper and his wife deserved a trip around the world after a life of unstinting concern for youngsters and nature.

But don't think the Kings are unappreciative; both were moved by the gesture of their many friends in thinking they deserved some tangible recognition for their life's labor.

"I was floored. For a minute they had me," Skipper recalled. "I want to thank all the people who had made that memorial evening for me. I'll never forget it."

The $5,000 is earning interest and the interest will be avaiable for Francis Park projects, with Skipper making the decisions. Failing that, his wife or executor will control its use.

"My wife is 100 per cent behind it," Skipper declared. "we've been operating on a shoestring, mainly from donations" over the 11 years since a nature house was commenced in the park.

Between 500 and 600 children have been involved in nature study in the park through the junior section of Victoria Natural History Society, in which Skipper is closely involved.

What makes him especially pleased is the number who have chosen biology or zoology for a career.

"Some are married with families; some have their masters and PhDs, some are teachers or engineers. They're scattered all over the world."

Thanks to Skipper.

BOYS MISSING IN SAANICH

Two 11-year-old Saanich boys are missing since they got out of school Monday afternoon, police said today.

The pair, who are friends, are Michael Wowchuk of 1936 Newton and Robert Munro of 2909 Richmond. They attend Richmond elementary school.

Police said the Wowchuk boy is tall and thin, is wearing brown jacket, pants and sweater and riding a red bicycle. The Munro boy is wearing a blue jacket and green pants, white running shoes and is riding a gold bike.

An officer said a pair matching the description was seen on the Saanich Peninsula Monday night.

Sandringham Talks Set

Labor Minister William King said today the first meeting with Sandringham Private Hospital owner R. J. Shepherd of Vancouver to resolve the two-year-old hospital strike will be held in Victoria in about two weeks.

"I am pleased we are at last going to at least begin to resolve this problem," King said.

Twenty-eight women, mostly nurses aides, have been on strike seeking a first contract at the hospital.

On Monday Shepherd said he was too busy to come to Victoria and if the labor minister wished to see him King should come to Vancouver.

However, the labor minister telephoned Shepherd Monday afternoon and the two resolved to begin discussions in Victoria in about two weeks.

"We came to an understanding to at least begin to seek a solution," King said.

On Friday, King mailed a letter to Shepherd summoning him to Victoria this week to begin discussions on the strike stalemate.

King had told Shepherd in the letter he was unhappy that no progress had been made over two years in the dispute.

The 28 employees, seeking a first contract as members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, are seeking wages of $1.50 to $2 per hour, job security and fringe benefits.

Here's How It Should Look, Says Edwards

Rebuffed Designer Keeps Trying

Reid Project 'Mess' Hurts Edwards

Design consultant Allan Edwards believes it's never too late to change one's mind — and he is trying to persuade city council to do just that about the Reid Centre on Wharf Street.

Undeterred by earlier curt rebuffs from city hall, Edwards has submitted a sketch showing his ideas on how that part of the Inner Harbor could be developed.

★ ★ ★

His whole aim, Edwards said Monday, is to illustrate how the "beautiful old buildings" on the west side of Wharf could be complemented and enhanced by a structure that is not overpowering or out of keeping with the general character of the area.

Edwards, who is engaged on several major developments both in this country and in Europe, said he submitted the rendering to Mayor Peter Pollen three weeks ago but to date has received no acknowledgement.

"I'm not saying that this is the only solution, just that it's one alternative worth considering," he said. "No one I have spoken to so far seems to like what he (vancouver developer J. A. Reid) wants to build there."

★ ★ ★

In Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal or other big cities the Reid project would be very compatible, but not in Victoria's harbor area with its "delightful European feeling."

In place of Reid's two curved towers separated by a circular plaza area, Edwards shows a 12-storey highrise with two wings adjoining at right angles to each other.

★ ★ ★

This hotel structure, sited well to the south of the property so as not to conceal the old buildings on Wharf, could utilize brick, wood and shake roofs to blend with the traditional fabric of Old Town, he suggests.

Edwards said all the hotel, residential and commercial components of Reid's proposed development could be accommodated in his concept without any sacrifice of density or return on investment.

Extending along the waterfront to the Johnson Street Bridge would be a system of alleyways, terraces and plazas, incorporating boutiques, townhouses and restaurants, similar to the attractive San Diego "Ports of Call" complex in California.

★ ★ ★

Repeating his earlier offer to city council, that he would be prepared to design that whole area of the Inner Harbor's redevelopment free of charge, Edwards said he did not think he was pursuing a hopeless cause.

Despite the fact that council had approved the Reid proposal, "I haven't given up because I feel this was an absolutely disastrous decision that was made.

★ ★ ★

"This is my home town, and I have a great affection for it, and it really hurts to see them make such a damn mess of it."

Edwards said he made enemies at city hall by wrting to aldermen and expressing the opinion that they were not qualified to make decisions affecting the future of an area of such major importance to the city.

"They should have called in consultants, people who are authorities on this type of thing. It is not a decision that can be made by a council alone."

YOUR HEALTH: Dr. Walter Alvarez

Incedence of VD on Increase

I keep reading articles by health officers who are much concerned about the fact that next to the common cold, venereal disease is the most frequent communicable disease today. Many health officers speak of an epidemic of venereal diseases, and what is sad is that so many of the persons affected are high school and college youngsters.

The U.S. Public Health Service people estimate that in 1970, there were two million cases of gonorrhea and perhaps a half million cases of syphilis. With each passing year there is a tremendous increase in the number of infected persons.

What is sad is that so many people who get infected with a venereal disease do not realize that they have become infected. For example, around 1910 a divorcee of about 40 consulted me about a headache which I soon learned should be more correctly referred to as a "pain in th head." She said none of the several physicians who had seen her had been able to give her relief. She told me that some years before, she had divorced her husband because she discovered that he was an inverterate chaser of women. Following a hunch I made a Wassermann test. I found syphilis. After treatment she lost her headaches and was well.

A few years later, in came a man with his wife. The minute I saw him walking with two canes, looking at the floor in order to watch where he was placing his feet (because he had no sensation in the lower part of his body), I recognized a man with locomotor ataxia, which is a late stage of syphilis. Because the man had a very unusual name, and the same one as that of the woman with syphilitic headaches, I asked and soon found that he was the divorced ex-husband of my former patient.

And there was the sort of case we physicians see, in which a man who never knew he had picked up syphilis gave it to his wife who did not know that she had become infected with it.

For a number of years, syphilis, especially in its later stages, became rather rare, and we physicians were not so often called upon to treat it. But, with the present flare-up, and with the fact that often young people are afraid to go to a doctor for treatment of syphilis, or do not realize that they have the disease, we doctors may again be seeing patients with the final stages of "tertiary" syphilis. Often the "primary" symptom — the "chancre," or hard ulcer that is generally painless — goes away, making the person think he is well.

TEAM CANADA SHAMES PENFIELD

MONTREAL (UPI) — In a letter published today by a Montreal newspaper, noted Montreal neurosurgeon Dr. Wilder Penfield said he was so "shamed" by the behavior of Team Canada in Moscow last week he had cancelled a trip to the Soviet Union.

Dr. Penfield was to have attended the Soviet Academy of Science's jubilee session in November, but said he would be "embarrassed" to do so now.

After praising the fast skating and teamwork of Team Canada and Paul Henderson's winning goal in the dying moments of the third period, Dr. Penfield continued:

PENFIELD

"But I was saddened and shamed by the behavior of our team on the ice in the first and last games, when the players were defeated and when they won. Some of them were childish, unsportsmanlike and unmannerly. They have done a good deal of harm to the image of Canada throughout the world."

CANADIANS PAY—AMERICANS CONTROL

Lewis Blasts North Pipeline

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed natural gas pipeline from Canada's North would cost Canadian taxpayers more than $1 billion but leave the project in control of a United States-dominated consortium of 16 companies, David Lewis, national New Democratic Party leader, said Monday night.

Mr. Lewis said he was opening the second phase of his campaign for the Oct. 30 federal election by concentrating on foreign control of the economy. Previously he dealt with Canada's tax system.

Mr. Lewis, speaking at a nomination meeting, said the Mackenzie River pipeline project, to bring natural gas from Canada's North, is a "mammoth plan to exploit Canada's resources on a scale that boggles the mind."

"It involves our economic and political independence, the ecology of our fragile North and Canada's entire future," he said.

Mr. Lewis said the pipeline project is made up of the Gas Arctic-Northwest Project Study Group, which consists almost entirely of leading oil and gas businessmen and financiers.

He said the chairman of the group is Vernon L. Horte, who is president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., a company that he said had net earnings of $368 million between 1966 and 1971 and did not pay any income taxes.

START DATE 1975

Mr. Lewis said he has documents in his possession from the project group and government officers which show a proposed construction starting time for the pipeline of 1975.

Donald Macdonald, federal energy minister, said today it is not inevitable the pipeline would be under foreign financial control.

He promised the government would set up a study group that would establish guidelines assuring Canadian control over half the equity in the project.

He said Mr. Lewis was being "gloomy" over Canadian ability to obtain financial control of the project.

The NDP leader, on a three-day visit to Toronto, said the project is so huge that "even mobilizing the entire capacity of the North American money markets would not provide the necessary capital."

He predicted the Canadian government soon will be asked to find more than $1 billion for the consortium, which he said is made up of 16 corporations, 12 of which are American-controlled.

"And since the Canadian companies are like pygmies compared to these giants, the project will be almost completely in the hands of American multi-national corporations," Mr. Lewis said.

"In addition to giving control of our precious natural gas reserves to outside interests, we now are preparing to build the pipeline so it can be pumped out of the country," he said.

Mr. Lewis said any claims that the project will create jobs is "hogwash." He said there would be several thousand jobs during the four or five years of construction, but then only 400 people will run the whole operation.

"Even worse, most of the pipe will be manufactured in Japan and once again Canadians will be deprived of jobs and the benefits of their own resources," he said.

He demanded that negotiations to build the pipeline be stopped immediately, suggesting Canada does not need it now and there should be five to 10 years spent studying the implications of the project.

As a partial solution to foreign control of the economy, Mr. Lewis said Canada must end direct grants to foreign corporations and introduce an effective screening agency to end foreign take-overs.

Danes Join ECM

Times News Services

COPENHAGEN — The Danish people voted nearly two to one Monday to join the European Economic Community — the Common Market — and set off a boom on the Copenhagen stock market. But Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag coupled a victory speech in parliament with his resignation.

The favorable vote came just a week after neighboring Norwegians voted to stay out of the market.

The move by Krag was a surprise. He said his minority Social Democratic government would remain in power and that his resignation as prime minister was "a personal decision."

Authorities followed up the decision early today by lowering the bank discount rate to seven from eight per cent to provide easier credit and stimulate industrial activity in anticipation of market entry in January.

The rate had been boosted eight per cent on June 28 to ease speculative pressure on the Danish kroner after the British pound was floated.

Final results of the referendum were announced even as youthful opponents of market membership roamed the streets of Copenhagen, burned Danish flags on the steps of parliament and hurled rocks and bottles through the windows.

Hordes of chanting young people displayed their chagrin through the night. Described by police as disappointed leftists, they shouted commands in a mock German, pretend-

Dock Emergency 'Is Lack of Jobs'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Longshoremen demonstrated outside the British Columbia maritime employers association hiring hall Monday and said the only national emergency on the Vancouver waterfront is a lack of jobs.

"The only reason Trudeau ordered us back to work was to pick up a few votes on the Prairies," a demonstrator said. "Go in and look at the board yourself. It will tell you how much an emergency there is."

The hiring board read: "Grain. 5 p.m. Nil."

Longshoremen say this has been the case for most of the past month, ever since they were legislated back to work by Parliament, which was re-called by Prime Minister Trudeau after the dock workers went on strike in August.

They say there is no work for casual workers and only a day or two a week for union members who are being hired at the hall.

When the longshoremen started their protest they put up a large sign outside the hiring hall that read: "National emergency centre. Longshoremen fuddle duddled."

NEWS BRIEFS

Meany Restrained

DENVER (AP) — A federal judge has issued a preliminary injunction preventing AFL-CIO President George Meany from taking over control of the Colorado Labor Council. The injunction was sought by CLC President Herrick Roth when Meany announced he was suspending the charter of the state organization and its officers for refusing to withdraw its endorsement of Senator George McGovern in the 1972 presidential race.

Fighting Stops

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hostilities between North and South Yemen came to an end today when the latter's forces withdrew from a border town they had captured, a North Yemen military spokesman said.

Red Plane Crashes

MOSCOW (Reuter) — A Soviet Ilyushin-18 airliner has crashed on an internal flight from Sochi to Moscow, killing everyone on board.

TOURISTS SKIRMISH

VANDERHOOF (CP) — Canadians and American tourists clashed on the main street of this town early Saturday, apparently after some Canadians taunted the Americans.

RCMP in the town 60 miles west of Prince George said 40 to 50 persons were involved in the clash.

Police moved in before there was serious injury or damage.

One Vanderhoof man was taken to hospital with leg injuries and several others received minor cuts and bruises. Police are preparing charges in the incident, the first of its kind here where many Americans own land.

Police said the clash developed after two groups came out of a cabaret at 2:30 a.m.

Nixon Gov't 'Corrupt'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator George McGovern is escalating allegations of White House corruption, saying government scandals of the past were "child's play compared to what's going on in this administration."

The Democratic presidential nominee evidently has decided to make that a major theme in what he said will be an all-out campaign against President Nixon during the five weeks until election day, Nov. 7.

McGovern asserted that, while the president talks of law and order, "I submit the permissiveness toward a breakdown of high moral standards in this country begins right with Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew."

McGovern pressed that as his issue Monday in Washington, Lyndhurst, N.J., and at a $500-a-plate fund-raising dinner at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"The Nixon administration is the most morally bankrupt administration in the entire history of our country," he told the fund-raising-dinner crowd estimated at more than 1,000 Monday night. He also said it is the worst administration.

"At no time in the history of our land has corruption been so deep, so pervasive as it is today. . . .

"The influence of big money is corrupting the integrity of government on a scale never seen before."

The chief components of McGovern's corruption charges are those he has been raising for weeks—the justice department settlement of the International Telephone and Telegraph anti-trust case; "This smelly wheat deal" with the Soviet Union, and campaign contributions to Nixon from anonymous donors, which the Democratic candidate said may total $20 million.

UIC Deficit Tops $500M: Mackasey

Times News Services

MONTREAL — Bryce Mackasey, federal manpower minister, said Monday the Unemployment Insurance Commission's defict stands at about $544 million but he intends to defend the government's handling of the program to the hilt in the election campaign.

"I'm going to defend it because I think it is a tragedy to have it become part of the election campaign," he said in an interview.

He called the deficit a "drop in the bucket" from national revenues and attributed it to increased benefits now being offered by the UIC.

He also released a report from the Unemployment Insurance Commission which showed steps are being taken to tighten the checks on illegitimate claims.

There were 742,000 claims disallowed in the 12 months ended July this year compared with 392,000 in the previous 12 months.

The number of claims rose to nearly 1.98 million from under 1.93 million in the earlier period.

The commission is also adding 80 more claims investigators to bring its investigation staff to 307 by mid-November.

Mackasey criticized people who stress abuses of the insurance scheme. These people "create awful consequences," he said.

The people who get unemployment insurance have a right to it, because they have worked and contributed to it.

This isn't a welfare plan. It's insurance against loss of income by being out of work."

The number who abuse the plan is minute, the minister said.

The minister said he has put a "bit of a ban" on officials of his department talking about the issue "because reporters won't take an objective look at the whole question of unemployment insurance."

He said he did not know the amount of deficit to "the exact dollar" but offered a file headed "costs to date" which indicated the plan paid out $1,164 million for the first seven months this year — $544 million more than the same period last year.

In another interview, Mackasey said the government will announce Wednesday a year-round, $80-million local initiative program and he hinted it will place greater emphasis on taking people off unemployment insurance.

The $100-million LIP plan was first introduced last winter to combat high seasonal unemployment. It expired in May but was prolonged until September 30 with another $30 million.

PUBLIC CABLE TV PLANNED IN SASK.

REGINA (CP) — The provincial government will install a cable television system to be operated as a public utility through Sask Tel, Government Services Minister John Brockelbank said today.

While details of its operation still are to be worked out, the system will take advantage of facilities owned by Sask Tel, the provincially-owned tele-communications system.

Initially, the service will be provided in Regina and Saskatoon and should be operative in a "couple of years," Mr. Brockelband said.

The reason for the province's entry into the cable television field, he said, is to ensure the service is not confined only to larger centres.

"Privately owned cable operators would have taken excessive profits in Regina and Saskatoon and would not have extended cable television services or systems to the smaller centres."

The system will cost "millions of dollars" but an exact figure won't be known until possibly the end of this year.

"Cabling has been going on in Regina for the last while in anticipation of a cable television system," Mr. Brockelbank said.

"It should be completed in two years but actual programming could start before that."

Mr. Brockelbank said he sees no reason why the CRTC would refuse a licence if the applicants meet regulations, because the CRTC "has indicated in the past it is in favor of this sort of service run by non-profit groups."

Barrett Reveals $70M Surplus

Premier Barrett revealed Monday that his government will have a cash surplus of about $70 million at the end of the 1972-73 fiscal year.

The surplus, which doesn't include the $25 million the government intends to spend on increased benefits to old age pensioners, is the result of a 12 per cent increase in revenues over last year and will exist despite the fact that the Social Credit government overspent its estimates by $65 million.

In estimating $25 million as the cost for implementing the increased benefits to the elderly, Barrett said he is counting on getting the first cheques out by December.

He added that about 100,000 will have their incomes increased to $200 a month, a promise made by the NDP during the election campaign.

Barrett said overspending by the Social Credit government in the amount of about $65 million must be deducted from this increased revenue, about $35 million of it by the department of highways alone.

The premier said the Social Credit government was "notorious" for spending large amounts of money on highways during an election year.

"This is commonly known in the political profession as yellow fever on the highways," he said. "They get out every truck and every bulldozer and every black-topper they can.

"They put paving on top of paving."

Deputy Finance Minister Bryson named other areas of overspending as: Hospital insurance — about $6 million; attorney-general's department — $1 or $2 million; rehabilitation department — as much as $15 million; elderly citizens' renters grants, not figured into the 1972-73 budget — $2.5 million; advances to various harbors boards — $1.5 million; and special warrants for other overexpenditures — about $5 million.

Barrett, who had Bryson answering reporters' questions over a conference telephone in his office, said the NDP government "will not make a run on the treasury" to spend the $70 million surplus.

"We are going to be prudent, as I said during the election campaign. We are going to meet the most pressing priorities as we go along."

Revenue is expected to be in the area of $1.61 billion and

'BORDER DEAL 'RUBBISH'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Official sources today described as "rubbish" a newspaper report abroad that the Soviet Union and China had reached a border settlement.

According to the report in a weekly London newspaper, the Sino-Soviet border negotiations which have been deadlocked at Peking for about three years are to be concluded shortly with a far-reaching agreement.

TEAM CANADA SHAMES PENFIELD

MONTREAL (UPI) — In a letter published today by a Montreal newspaper, noted Montreal neurosurgeon Dr. Wilder Penfield said he was so "shamed" by the behavior of Team Canada in Moscow last week he had cancelled a trip to the Soviet Union.

Dr. Penfield was to have attended the Soviet Academy of Science's jubilee session in November, but said he would be "embarrassed" to do so now.

After praising the fast skating and teamwork of Team Canada and Paul Henderson's winning goal in the dying moments of the third period, Dr. Penfield continued:

"But I was saddened and shamed by the behavior of our team on the ice in the first and last games, when the players were defeated and when they won. Some of them were childish, unsportsmanlike and unmannerly. They have done a good deal of harm to the image of Canada throughout the world."

CANADIANS PAY—AMERICANS CONTROL

Lewis Blasts North Pipeline

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed natural gas pipeline from Canada's North would cost Canadian taxpayers more than $1 billion but leave the project in control of a United States-dominated consortium of 16 companies, David Lewis, national New Democratic Party leader, said Monday night.

Mr. Lewis said he was opening the second phase of his campaign for the Oct. 30 federal election by concentrating on foreign control of the economy. Previously he dealt with Canada's tax system.

Mr. Lewis, speaking at a nomination meeting, said the Mackenzie River pipeline project, to bring natural gas from Canada's North, is a "mammoth plan to exploit Canada's resources on a scale that boggles the mind."

"It involves our economic and political independence, the ecology of our fragile North and Canada's entire future," he said.

Mr. Lewis said the pipeline project is made up of the Gas Arctic-Northwest Project Study Group, which consists almost entirely of leading oil and gas businessmen and financiers.

He said the chairman of the group is Vernon L. Horte, who is president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., a company that he said had net earnings of $368 million between 1966 and 1971 and did not pay any income taxes.

START DATE 1975

Mr. Lewis said he has documents in his possession from the project group and government officers which show a proposed construction starting time for the pipeline of 1975.

Donald Macdonald, federal energy minister, said today it is not inevitable the pipeline would be under foreign financial control.

He promised the government would set up a study group that would establish guidelines assuring Canadian control over half the equity in the project.

He said Mr. Lewis was being "gloomy" over Canadian ability to obtain financial control of the project.

The NDP leader, on a three-day visit to Toronto, said the project is so huge that "even mobilizing the entire capacity of the North American money markets would not provide the necessary capital."

He predicted the Canadian government soon will be asked to find more than $1 billion for the consortium, which he said is made up of 16 corporations, 12 of which are American-controlled.

"And since the Canadian companies are like pygmies compared to these giants, the project will be almost completely in the hands of American multi-national corporations," Mr. Lewis said.

"In addition to giving control of our precious natural gas reserves to outside interests, we now are preparing to build the pipeline so it can be pumped out of the country," he said.

Mr. Lewis said any claims that the project will create jobs is "hogwash." He said there would be several thousand jobs during the four or five years of construction, but then only 400 people will run the whole operation.

"Even worse, most of the pipe will be manufactured in Japan and once again Canadians will be deprived of jobs and the benefits of their own resources," he said.

He demanded that negotiations to build the pipeline be stopped immediately, suggesting Canada does not need it now and there should be five to 10 years spent studying the implications of the project.

As a partial solution to foreign control of the economy, Mr. Lewis said Canada must end direct grants to foreign corporations and introduce an effective screening agency to end foreign take-overs.

Danes Join ECM

Times News Services

COPENHAGEN — The Danish people voted nearly two to one Monday to join the European Economic Community — the Common Market — and set off a boom on the Copenhagen stock market. But Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag coupled a victory speech in parliament with his resignation.

The favorable vote came just a week after neighboring Norwegians voted to stay out of the market.

The move by Krag was a surprise. He said his minority Social Democratic government would remain in power and that his resignation as prime minister was "a personal decision."

Authorities followed up the decision early today by lowering the bank discount rate to seven from eight per cent to provide easier credit and stimulate industrial activity in anticipation of market entry in January.

The rate had been boosted eight per cent on June 28 to ease speculative pressure on the Danish kroner after the British pound was floated.

Final results of the referendum were announced even as youthful opponents of market membership roamed the streets of Copenhagen, burned Danish flags on the steps of parliament and hurled rocks and bottles through the windows.

Hordes of chanting young people displayed their chagrin through the night. Described by police as disappointed leftists, they shouted commands in a mock German, pretend-

Dock Emergency 'Is Lack of Jobs'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Longshoremen demonstrated outside the British Columbia maritime employers association hiring hall Monday and said the only national emergency on the Vancouver waterfront is a lack of jobs.

"The only reason Trudeau ordered us back to work was to pick up a few votes on the Prairies," a demonstrator said. "Go in and look at the board yourself. It will tell you how much an emergency there is."

The hiring board read: "Grain. 5 p.m. Nil."

Longshoremen say this has been the case for most of the past month, ever since they were legislated back to work by Parliament, which was re-called by Prime Minister Trudeau after the dock workers went on strike in August.

They say there is no work for casual workers and only a day or two a week for union members who are being hired at the hall.

When the longshoremen started their protest they put up a large sign outside the hiring hall that read: "National emergency centre. Longshoremen fuddle duddled."
